Public Speaking.

At a meeting of the Democratic Association at their rooms last evening, Mr. John Park presided, and Mr. G. C. White was appointed Secretary. The Special Committee of the Association reported that they had made arrangements with eminent speakers to address the citizens of Memphis at the new market house, on Beal street, on Monday evening, August 1st, at early candle lighting; on Tuesday night, August 2d, at Exchange Building, and on Wednesday night, August 3rd, on the vacat lot opposite the Post Office, on which latter occasion it was announced that the Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar, Hon. James L. Autery and other distinguished speakers would be present and address the people.

☞ Genl. Wilson, of the Pittsburg Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, is in the city and stopping at the Worsham house.

A RARE CHANCE.—The lease and fixtures for sale of a splendid business house on Main street. Enquire at No. 348 Main street. jy30-3t.

ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY.—We are indebted to Mr. Borden, of the Adams Express Company, for Cincinnati papers of Friday, in advance of the mails.

☞ There were but four cases before the Recorder yesterday, and they were of but little importance. Fines to the amount of $20 were assessed, of which $15 were paid. Two additions were made to the chain-gang.

HOUSE MOVERS.—Attention is called to the card of Messrs. Brady & Nichols, house movers. They are capable, faithful and reliable men, and as such we commend them to the public confidence.

☞ While some laborers were engaged digging for sand, at the foot of Beale street, last evening, the bank fell in upon them, by which accident three persons were badly injured. A negro named Conelly, more unfortunate than the others, is not expected to recover.

MESSRS. STEWART & KING.—This popular firm are in the field again for the ensuing business campaign. They are well known to the business public, and are reliable in every department of trade. As cotton-dealers, they are not excelled in point of experience, as they are among our oldest and most successful factors.

☞ Messrs. Chas. A. Morton & Co., on Jefferson street, have, among a choice assortment of groceries, an excellent article of brandy which they are serving to their customers. It should not be forgotten that Capt. Wellon, late of the Victoria, is a member of this new and popular firm.

MORE VILLAINY.—A gentleman named Henry Trellas, was dragged in one of the sinks of pollution on Adams street, yesterday, and while in a state of unconsciousness was robbed of a gold watch and chain of the value of $200. He did not choose to remain and prosecute his victimizers, and left for his home in Mississippi on the steamer Daniel Boone last evening.

THE CALIFORNIA MAILS.—We are indebted to the agent of the Overland Mail Company for San Francisco papers of the 8th inst., twenty-two days from the Pacific. Under the new arrangement the Overland mail will be transported hereafter over the Memphis and Vicksburg Rock railroad from this city to Madison, Ark., beyond which point the old route will be followed until the new arrangement will have taken effect.

EVIDENCE OF JAS. WHITE'S IDENTITY.—We have given the particulars heretofore of the murder of Jas. White and the discovery of his body in the vicinity of the city. Esquire Horne received a letter yesterday from Mr. Andrew Fisher, of Greensburgh, Decatur county, Ind., which contained unmistakable information as to the identity of the murdered man, and now there is no doubt of the fact that the body discovered was that of James White, of New York.

SUNDAY APPEAL.—Our edition this morning is designed to commend itself to the general reader, political articles having been for the most part excluded from our columns. It regularly contains the list of uncalled for letters which is published exclusively in the APPEAL, in accordance with the law of Congress which requires the Post Master to insert the list in the paper having the largest bona fide circulation within the delivery of the Post Office at which the letters remain.

INFANTICIDE.—A newly made grave was discovered in the Winchester Cemetery yesterday morning, under circumstances which led to the inference that the body had been clandestinely buried. An examination was made which disclosed the fact that the grave contained the body of an infant that had come to its death from unnatural causes, as the head was crushed. Esquire Horne held an inquest on the body, and the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased had come to its death by violence at the hands of persons unknown to the jury.

THE SALE OF SUNDAY PAPERS INTERDICTED.—We are informed that Marshal Underwood yesterday issued an order directing Capt. McMurray, of the day police, to cause the arrest of all boys who engaged in the sale of newspapers in the streets on the Christian Sabbath. It is said that the presence of the newsboys in the vicinity of the Post Office on Sunday morning has become a source of annoyance, and that the public peace requires that the custom of selling papers on the Sab'bath shall be abated. As the Sunday APPEAL is an absolute necessity with the reading public of Memphis, we have determined to keep our counting-room open until ten o'clock this morning, until which time copies may be obtained of the clerk.

HANDSOME TESTIMONIAL.—It is very generally known to the friends of Henry Coffin, Esq., that he has resigned the position of Superintendent of the Memphis and Ohio Railroad. Mr. Coffin was held in very high esteem by his superiors, as well as those under him, and they could not permit a pleasant connection to be rendered without an appropriate expression of admiration and confidence. Accordingly, the employes of the company caused a magnificent silver pitcher and goblets to match, to be prepared, with which Mr. Coffin was presented yesterday. The following correspondence, however, will convey an idea of the compliment paid Mr. Coffin by his friends and former associates:

CORRESPONDENCE.

MEMPHIS, July 30, 1859.

HENRY COFFIN—Dear Sir: Having been advised that the relation you have hitherto sustained toward us as Superintendent of the Memphis and Ohio Railroad, which office you have filled with equal credit to yourself and pleasure to us as employes and attaches of the same, is dissolved, we avail ourselves of this method of expressing our unfeigned regret of the circumstances that have conspired to induce you to take the step that you have in resigning your position as our superior officer, and conveying to you assurances of our high regard both as an officer and high toned gentleman.

As a token of the sentiments herein expressed, we beg you to accept the accompanying testimonial, and with our most earnest wishes for your future happiness, subscribe ourselves, yours truly and respectfully,

W. L. Nelson, W. S. Tarwater, John Moore, F. H. Talley, J. B. Meriwether, D. H. Branch, H. M. Pittman, J. H. Claiborne, C. Spencer, S. R. Wood, A. C. Allen, L. B. Leonard, S. B. Jones, J. T. Flynn, R. Brewster, Jesse Long, Geo. Flack, Jack Scott, John Hall, Wm. Z. Ticher, Frank Taft, Wm. Rockhoff, Wm. Bramhall, O. Beardsley, J. Underhill.

MEMPHIS, July 30, 1859.

DEAR SIRS: Your very kind letter of this date, accompanying the elegant testimonial, which you have deemed proper to present to me as a token of your regard and esteem, is received.

In replying to this very unexpected and flattering expression of your feelings, I am at a loss to find words which will enable me to tell you all that I feel in return. I can only say that I thank you sincerely for your kindness, and accept the beautiful memento with many thanks.

It is also due to you for me to say that during my connection with the Memphis and Ohio Railroad and my association with you, amid all the trials and embarrassments which I have had with you to contend, and all the irregularities which have occurred from time to time, your promptness and willingness at all times to aid me in the performance of my duties, have enabled me to bear the responsibilities cheerfully, and have encouraged me, causing me to persevere and not back up.

To you I am indebted for the success and reputation which, in your opinion, I have obtained as a superintendent, and in leaving the position now, I do so with many regrets.

Hoping that you may meet with the reward that your merits entitle you to, I remain

Very respectfully, you friend and ob't serv't,

HENRY COFFIN.

To W. W. Tarwater, W. L. Nelson, John Moore, F. H. Talley, and others.

STOP THE SCAMP.—A man named Mr. Henry Hays, who has a wife and two children in Henry country, Tenn., another wife in Illinois and a third in Saline county, Ark., is at large, and is supposed to be in this city at the present time. He is five feet eight or nine inches high, weighs about one hundred and forty pounds, has blue eyes, a pale complexion, a Roman nose, short neck, square shoulders, he and is inclined to one side when walking. He is a brick-maker and wagon-maker, and a strict member of the church. A reward of fifty dollars has been offered by Mr. Lewis J. Newman, his more recent father-in-law, for his apprehension.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE.—Dr. P. M. Dickinson has some desirable cotton plantations for sale in Arkansas, Mississippi and the adjoining States. We invite attention to his advertisement in another column.

EDITOR APPEAL: In your local column of this morning there is an article, unintentionally I have no doubt, on your part, calculated to do myself and Mr. James Davis, great injustice, if suffered to pass unnoticed. It states that I had been arrested on the charge of swindling Messrs. Priest & Co., out of $280, and that Mr. Davis, through whom the swindling is alleged to have been effected, had made his escape. In the first place neither I nor Mr. Davis ever had any dealings with Messrs. Priest & Co. At certain Mr. Bonta (an alleged agent of Messrs. Priest & Co.) and myself bought a fract of land lying near the city, from Mr. Davis. I here assert that the charge of swindling, so far as Mr. Davis or myself are concerned, is malicious and unfounded. I have even been anxious and willing for, and now challenge investigation into the matter. As to the assertion that Mr. Davis has escaped, I will merely add that Mr. Bonta knows well enough the cause of Mr. Davis' absence from the city. He has gone to Missouri for the purpose of getting up evidence to expose what he believes to be a gross fraud attempted to be practiced by Mr. Bonta on the honest mechanics of Memphis. Mr. Bonta will hear from Mr. Davis in due time.

A Romance in Real Life—Fiction this chapter in a romance of the day, which possesses some features not set down in the Sickles farcicatragies. It says:

A most extraordinary case is about to occupy the attention of Judge Culver, involving circumstances nearer akin to romance than plain naked truth, as developed by the affidavits which, as we are informed, are now in progress of being submitted for legal adjudication. The following are the principal facts as set forth in the document alluded to: About five years ago there came to reside in Brooklyn a lady of remarkably prepossessing appearance, who represented herself to be a widow from the vicinity of Mobile, Alabama, and who evidently had means sufficiently ample to enable her to occupy a respectable social position. She was accompanied by a little boy of seemingly mulatto or negro parentage, then about three years old, which she invariably spoke of as being her only surviving child of a favorite servant of her deceased husband. In the course of time she (being yet young and attractive) was wooed and won by a gentleman who formerly was engaged in mercantile pursuits in New York, but who (becoming unfortunate in business) is at present in the employ as a bookkeeper, of an extensive firm across the river. The fruits of this marriage are two fatriarchal children, and up to the period last mentioned the parents have lived harmoniously and affectionately together.

And might has, however, overtaken their 14th anniversary? On the morning of the 4th somewhat fashionably dressed gentleman and elegantly attired lady presented themselves at the counter—but of a party alluded to, accompanied by one of the York lawyers, and demanded the pot. New of the apparently negro by, alleging himself to be the father of the presented child, and declaring that the female custodian was its mother and his divorced wife! So startling a declaration has, of course, created the utmost consternation and alarm among the friends of those who are most deeply interested in unravelling the truth of this "strange event in history"—the lady, adhering to the most emphatic manner, that the statements of her accuser are infamously false, and originated in a spirit to destroy her peace. On the other hand, the alleged husband and father of the boy has sworn to the truth of his averment, and wayside witnesses will be produced from St. Louis, Mo., which is said to be known as a trader and property owner, to sustain the proceedings which he has (only since far partially) instituted. The lady is of German extraction, and the person who claims to have once been her "liege lord" is either of Creole or semi-Indian breed. He states that the separation between them was caused by detected infidelity on her part, and that until within a short period past, he was led to believe that she was in Europe.

Able counsel are employed on both sides. The sequel will be decidedly rich for the gratification of scandal lovers.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The great and continued influx of revenue from customs surpasses all expectation. The receipts for Saturday last, for instance, was nearly four hundred thousand dollars. It was supposed by many that June and July would show a falling off, but still the goods come in—perhaps many of them on foreign account. That they can be absorbed by consumption in the fall is now the more probable inasmuch as the crops generally are very fair. Gold goes out, meanwhile, in large amounts to pay for goods; but it is argued that the drain is not so considerable as to be prejudicial to the business interests of the country. If we export much gold we also produce much. The fact of its exchange for other commodities is a proof that it is not wanted at home for currency or other uses.

Both of the governments of Mexico are in the market for loans, based upon the pledge of the property and revenues of the church. The Mexican governments solicite a loan in Europe of forty millions upon this security. The Juarez government has sent an agent, in the person of its accredited minister of finance, Sen. Lerdo de Tejeda, to negotiate a loan in this country upon the same security. Between the two parties the church is likely to lose its revenues and secular power.

The report of Judge Rose, late United States consul at Guaymas, confirming the condition of affairs in Sonora, has revived the hope of the speedy establishment of a stable government by any party, without powerful interference from abroad.

In a few days the government will be in possession of advices from Mr. McLane respecting his negotiations with the Juarez government. It is probable that they have come to some definite results. The report that he had failed in his effort to make a treaty is not to be credited. Iox

THE KANSAS CONSTITUTION CONVENTION—MORE AGITATION.—From the proceedings thus far of the Kansas Constitutional Convention, in which the Republicans have an overwhelming majority, there is reason to fear that the abolition leaders and managers of that majority will contrive to make such an unconstitutional constitution as to render its acceptance by Congress an absolute impossibility. For example, it is provided in the bill of rights, as reported by the committee, that "no indenture of any persons, made and executed out of the bounds of the State, shall be valid within the State, if inconsistent with the laws thereof," so much for the bill of rights. Further declares that there shall be no slavery, etc., in the State, we see here a sweeping arrangement for the confiscation of the Fugitive Slave law. Of course the abolition framers of this State constitution, knowing that it must be rejected by Congress if in violation of the supreme law of the land, introduce other mottoes in this work than the admission of Kansas into the Union. Their object is the rejection of their constitution and another agitation of "bleeding Kansas," the "outrages of the slave Democracy" and the despotism of "the slave power." Very well. We shall await the update of this Wyandott Convention with comparative indifference—for, while with a decent constitution the State will be admitted, she will be excluded if the application for admission shall depend upon the satisfaction of the constitution of the United States, and the American people will say amen! And so let these abolition constitution tinkers in Kansas look well to what they are doing.—New York Herald.

DEPARTURES YESTERDAY.

E. H. Fairchild. Louisville. [Gladiator. New Orleans.
Moses McLellan. Louisville. [Daniel Boone. Vicksburg.
J. H. Dickey.....St. Louis.

The river at this point is falling a ratio of 2 inches in twenty-four hours. The weather yesterday was clear and pleasant.

The shipments of cotton during the month of July, have been very meagre, embracing 1,760 bales, of which 1,414 bales were taken for the Ohio river, 199 bales for New Orleans, and 149 bales for St. Louis. The shipments of cotton during the past week included 850 bales and it is somewhat remarkable that it was all taken for the Ohio river.

The Moses McLellan departed for Louisville yesterday morning about 10 o'clock with a very light trip. Capt. Erwin awaited the arrival of the E. H. Fairchild, from New Orleans, and expected to get her Ohio river passengers at Paducah, as the Fairchild will be unable to get up. The Fairchild was full of passengers, about sixty of whom disembarked at this point.

The steamer Gladiator arrived from St. Louis last evening with a good freight, including one hundred and eighteen mules, that were shipped at Columbus for the South.

We announced a few days since that the fine low-water steamer Portsmouth, Capt. Ledwick, had been chartered by our fellow-townsman, Capt. L. A. Welton, to run between Louisville and Memphis during the low water season. We were assured by telegraph yesterday that she would arrive to-day and depart for Louisville at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon in place of the Kentucky. The Portsmouth is a fine summer packet and we commend her with confidence to the traveling public.

The steamer Capitol, Rapides and Messenger will leave this port during the present week in the Memphis and New Orleans packet line—the Capitol to-morrow, the Rapides on Wednesday, and the Messenger on Friday. The Messenger was detained beyond the usual time by breaking her machinery.

The Gen. Pike did not get away last evening, but will leave for Louisville most positively at 10 o'clock this morning. She is the lightest boat of all the low-water fleet, and has first class accommodations. She is commanded by an old favorite, Capt. Riley Jones, who is ably assisted by Capt. Eugene Bowers, in the clerk's office.

The steamer Capital, Capt. Clarke, will arrive from New Orleans to-day, and depart at 4 o'clock to-morrow. The Capital is a splendid passenger packet, having efficient and accommodating officers. Capt. M. M. Temple is the clerk.

The steamer Hickman left Cincinnatti for this port Thursday, with a barge in tow, and will be due to-morrow.

The Cincinnati and Memphis packet Henry Fitzhugh has laid up at Cincinnati for repairs.

The new Mary Patterson being received her cabin at Cincinnati, was soliciting consignments there on Friday for the Arkansas and White rivers.

The Fremont, bound up, is aground at Scuffletown.

The Daniel Boone departed last evening for Vicksburg, full of freight and passengers. Capt. Hicks received a dispatch from Grand Junction, requesting him to await the arrival of the extra train over the Memphis and Charleston road last evening, but he had as many passengers as he could accommodate with comfort, and left in advance of the arrival of the train. The Gladiator remained here until the cars came in, and got fifteen or twenty passengers.

FOR ST. LOUIS.—The splendid mail and passenger packet Philadelphia, Capt. Marshall, will leave as above at the usual hour to-morrow afternoon. The Philadelphia is a great favorite with the traveling public. Our young friend Tschoff has charge of the clerk's office, which is a sufficient assurance that passengers will have every attention.
