Local Matters.

Friday Morning, 11th December 2, 1859.

PERSONAL.—General J. D. C. Atkins is in the city.

☞ There were seven additions to the chain gang from the recorder's court yesterday.

FALSE ALARM.—There was a false alarm of fire about six o'clock last evening.

☞ Attention is called to the advertisement headed "A Situation Wanted" in this morning's paper.

THANKS.—We tender our thanks to our friend M. S. Sumner, of Sweden, for a club of eleven new subscribers to the WEEKLY APPEAL.

FUGITIVE SLAVE.—John, a slave of Thomas Booth, was committed to jail Wednesday night, as a fugitive.

☞ All the causes set for trial in the common law and chancery court yesterday were disposed of, but nothing of general interest transpired in that tribunal.

LADY'S BRACELET FOUND.—A lady's chain bracelet was found on Main street, near Court, on Monday last, and is now at the Postal office, subject to the order of the owner.

THE CITY PRISON.—There are one hundred and thirteen persons in the city prison and workhouse at present, sixty-seven of whom are confined on charges of felony, thirty-eight are attached to the chain-gang, and eight are fugitive slaves.

A WOMAN IN THE CASE.—Dr. J. S. White was examined before Esq. Pickens, yesterday morning, for Mrs. Sarah Gillis. In the absence of material testimony, the investigation of the case was postponed until Tuesday next.

☞ The ladies yesterday turned out in large numbers to attend the great claim sale now going on at Monsarrat, Pepper & Co.'s. Before at 164 Gayoso they will again have an opportunity to secure some of the most beautiful French china, and Bohemian glass, and military ware brought to this market. The sale will be continued to-night.

COAL COMING.—We have assurances of an immediate and plentiful supply of excellent Pittsburg coal at an early day. A large fleet of coal boats for the South passed through the canal at Louisville Monday, a portion of which was for this city. The universal fear, therefore, that the Ohio would close with low water so as to cut off our supply of winter coal, has altogether unfounded.

THE NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—This property for years of amusement was visited by a large audience last evening, who witnessed with pleasure the alterations and improvements made by Mr. Farrow and his daughter in "St. Mark's Eve" or "Guilt to the Hilt," and "An Object of Interest." The programme for this evening embraces "The Bankrupt's Wife," "A Devilish Good Joke," and "The Rights of Women."

AFFRAY ON THE RIVER.—An affray occurred at the wharfboat at Island 37, Wednesday night, between the second clerk of the steamer Planet, and an overseer named Gibson, which grew out of a dispute in reference to the measurement of a load of wood. The clerk was stabbed by his antagonist, receiving three pretty serious wounds. Although pretty badly hurt, he will recover. Gibson received no injury.

SHOOTING IN THE CORPORATION.—The custom of firing pistols in the city limits has become altogether too prevalent, and unknown people, in the very heart of the city, are startled from their sleep in the night by the report of pistols. If gentlemen have a taste for the smell of gunpowder, and an ear for the music of explosive fire-arms, we suggest that Capt. Travis' public school is favorable location for the indulgence of this weakness.

CRIMINAL COURT.—In the case of R. B. Dollins, charged with stealing a horse, a verdict of guilty of horse were obtained and another panel ordered.

J. H. Greenwood was convicted of the charge of obtaining a horse and buggy under false pretences, and his punishment assessed at two years in the penitentiary.

Several indictments were returned by the grand jury against parties who are not under arrest.

AN ICE SPECULATION.—The St. Anthony (Minnesota) Express says that a firm in Minneapolis is engaged in building eight large ice boats, which they intend to load with ice at the foot of Lake Pepin during the winter, and run in the spring to Memphis, New-Orleans, and other southern markets. The boats are one hundred and twenty-five feet long, twenty-four wide, and six feet deep; they will hold, in the aggregate, about 1500 tons.

NEW AUCTION AND COMMISSION HOUSE.—We take pleasure in calling attention to this new auction and commission house of Messrs. R. Walpole & Co., No. 348 Main street, opposite the Commercial Hotel. The members of the firm are gentlemen of people in one and enlarged business capacity and experience, and will add to the wealth and prosperity of the city. Mr. Walpole is well and favorably known throughout Tennessee and Arkansas, but throughout the West, and Mr. J. T. Gilbert, the junior member of the firm, is a gentleman of excellent business qualifications.

ARREST OF AN ALLEGED THIEF.—Officer Appleton yesterday arrested a man named Bill Sinclair, who is charged with stealing a valuable gold watch and a quantity of jewelry from Dr. Elliott. English is an old offender, and has been sentenced from five to five, with various other offenses of a similar character. He resides somewhere in North Memphis, but had secreted the stolen property in an old craft on the river, at the foot of Beale street. The larceny is supposed to have been committed in South the among of English's daughter, a little girl about ten or eleven years of age.

A PLEASING ANNOUNCEMENT.—We are sure that nothing of the kind could be more gratifying news, musical amateurs than the announcement of a grand concert by our fellow citizen, Prof. Barbiere, which we are assured will be given at Odd-Fellow's Hall during the coming week. Prof. B. is one of the most accomplished composers and performers of the age, and his productions are played and admired wherever art is fostered or taste has an existence. The entertainment, we repeat is sure to be a rich one, and we feel confident that the Prof. (as Professor) and we will provide that he last takes in public, like the final efforts of the swan, will be his greatest. Our music of the entertainment will be announced.

A GOOD NOTICE.—We are often asked for "a good notice," and on the present occasion we should like to give one, but cannot. We can say that Mr. Fowlkes grocery store of Crews & Harrock, on Madison street, opposite the Gayoso Hotel. They have a first class style, and the hoosiers can find there everything she needs—flour, hardware, tinware, boots and shoes, dried apples, peaches, etc., sugar—lump and molasses—hard, barrel, cracked, ice, coffee, all kinds of pickles, all kinds of preserves in cans, tobacco, cigars, etc. In fact they have a wide variety and great assortment of everything else, etc., of the first quality. They have also cat and other oysters, lobsters, fresh salmon, and almost every necessary and luxury the housekeeper wants—to cut forget Crews & Harrock when you want something good, for all their store you are bound to find it.

INHUMAN ASSAULT.—Mrs. Lonergan, who, with her brilliant, restless of Anna street, beyond the bayou, appeared before the recorder yesterday to make complaint that her husband, Patrick Lonergan, had assaulted her the night previous, and claimed the protection of the law against him. There was little proof of complaint, for the poor woman's whole face evidenced of the brutal assault to which she had been subjected. It appeared that the infuriate husband had attacked his wife with a knife, with which he inflicted several wounds upon her, the most serious taking effect on the neck, which will undoubtedly leave a scar. Lonergan, together with her two children, were sent to the hospital, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Lonergan.

A SPLENDID ESTABLISHMENT.—The establishment of Messrs. Pumbers & Co., No. 299 Main street, exceeds by far in extent and magnificence any house of the kind in the south-west. The remark applies not only to their stock of fancy goods, but also to children's fancy goods, for also to their arrangements for the transaction of business. It is pleasing to note the fact that the public understand and appreciate the efforts of this enterprising firm, and keep a trade in their line in this city, for their sale items are disposed daily, not only by those who are attracted by their extraordinary display of goods, but by actual customers. Mr. J. J. Wurm, the active business manager at the Memphis establishment, is a thoroughly business man, and when it is a pleasure to have interrupts, and the attaches of the house are of a like character.

☞ Turkeys and other Fowls at J. T. Mooney & Bro.'s, No. 36 Madison street. 4-6-11

Southern Pacific Railroad Meeting at Louisville.

There was an enthusiastic and [illegible] meeting of stockholders, which, on completing its business, adjourned yesterday, after two days' session. A year ago, when a similar convention assembled in our city, there was a feeling of gloom and despondency to which the cheering indications of yesterday were a gratifying contrast. Then stockholders advanced a loan and surrendered half their investments in the last hope to save something from the general wreck as it appeared; now when a call was made upon them for funds to comply with the conditions upon which J. Edgar Thompson agrees to accept the Presidency, $50,000 were subscribed on the spot, and three times that the least doubt, in our opinion, that $100,000 will be added to that sum by our citizens to-day, and this $150,000, with the $100,000 raised in Texas, makes up the quarter million for which Mr. Thompson stipulated. Thus, then, all three of the conditions are fulfilled; the debts of the company are all liquidated; the State of Texas has withdrawn all litigation affecting the preservation of the charter, and $250,000 have been raised for a commencement of working capital. Mr. Thompson will therefore soon assume the position of President of the company, and he will bring to the discharge of his duties great experience in railroad matters, a character for execution of which few capitalists know the full value, and an enthusiastic ambition to carry to completion the greatest railroad enterprise which was ever undertaken. We know from the private correspondence of Mr. Thompson with Dr. Fowlkes that he feels perfectly confident of being able to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by a railroad communication in ten years, and he will make the attempt to do it in eight. He is sanguine of success. He desired only to have the company free from debt and litigation, but the cash subscription of $250,000 was suggested by Dr. Fowlkes and accepted by Mr. Thompson. The sagacity of Dr. F. is strongly exemplified in this.

We sincerely congratulate the stockholders, the country, and the entire civilized world upon the auspicious turn of affairs of this week. We have never responded to the others were faint-hearted. We had carefully studied the reports of scientific men and the surveys of competent engineers, and we came to the conclusion that the Southern Pacific railroad was a necessity of the age, and that the characteristic enterprise, energy and public spirit of the United States would not allow us to leave to posterity the glory of carrying out a work which the present generation had conceived. Our expectations have been realized, and we can now say to friends, who have invested their means, that Dr. Fowlkes, as the pioneer Columbus, has found the new path to the Indies, developed a continent to the world; and that J. Edgar Thompson, Samuel Tate, and others, will now push forward civilization, civilization, and the beneficent profession of our laws and constitution over the mighty region from Texas to California. The project is vast and magnificent, and its realization, will, we sincerely believe, give a mine of wealth to all who have embarked in it.

If there was the least swell in the Mississippi opposite this point yesterday it was not perceptible. The weather yesterday was windy and threatened rain, which commenced falling about eight o'clock last evening. There was not much general activity at the landing.

White river is now but a foot in many places, but was falling when the Admiral left.

There have been heavy rains in the latitude of Camden, on the Ouachita river. The river at that point had risen six feet up to Monday, with the prospect of an eight or ten-foot rise.

The Cumberland river was steadily rising Tuesday, with four feet six inches water on the shoals.

The Wabash river is at a fair navigable stage, and Wabash packets have commenced making regular trips.

The receipts of cotton by river yesterday embraced 285 bales.

The shipments of cotton yesterday included 2,607 bales, all of which was taken for New-Orleans.

The regular packet arrivals yesterday embraced the Southerner from Louisville, the Ben Lewis from St. Louis, and the Admiral and Mary Patterson from White river. The Southerner brought but few passengers and a light freight, and departed in like manner. The Ben Lewis had considerable freight, including 46 bales cotton. The Admiral brought 147 bales cotton, and the Mary Patterson 45 bales.

The new steamer Atlantic passed down Wednesday night, and we were not permitted to view her fair proportions. She had been posted to remain over until ten o'clock yesterday, but she had so many passengers and so much freight as she could carry, and Capt. Medill did not choose to wait for anything more.

The Mary arrived from New Orleans yesterday, and will take a load of cotton for Cincinnati.

The Hartford City did not get away yesterday. She has about 600 bales cotton engaged for Cincinnati, the greater portion of which is on board.

The Hartford City arrived yesterday with a heavy low of coal for this port.

We learned by telegraph last night that the river at Louisville was falling, with six feet water in the canal.

Capt. Jno. Atkins, president of the St. Louis and Memphis packet company, was a passenger for St. Louis last evening by the steamer Ben Lewis.

Capt. Hamilton, of the steamer Switzerland, arrived from New Orleans yesterday, expecting to meet his boat here. The Switzerland left Cincinnati on Thursday, the 24th ult., with an excellent trip for New Orleans, but encountered the heavy weather below Louisville, which so damaged her as to compel her to return to Cincinnati, which rendered it necessary to send back to Louisville for a floating dry dock, with which to repair. Capt. H. will leave for Cairo by rail to-day.

The Stephen Decatur left for New Orleans last evening with a good trip of passengers and freight, including the mails of the steamer Ben Lewis.

The Choctaw for New Orleans, and the St. Francis No. 2 for St. Francis river, departed last evening. The Choctaw took 2,879 bales cotton. She awaited the arrival of the Ben Lewis from Louisville.

There was an affray between the freight clerk of the steamer Planet and a man named Gibson, near Island 37, Wednesday night, in which the clerk was badly stabbed in three places. The dispute arose in reference to the measurement of some wood.

The Admiral, another Louisville and New Orleans packet, will be out about Christmas. The Louisville Courier says she will be in charge of Capt. Harry Brown, and commanded by Capt. W. C. Greer as the clerk's office. She has an easy, sharp model, and will be supplied by the machinery of the once famous Southern [illegible], the finest and fastest boat of her day, and the new Admiral will be hard to beat.

The rates of freights to Cincinnati at present are nominal. There are low or three boats in port anxious to take shipments of cotton at $1 per bale.

The Aldis has been condemned at Evansville.

The New Orleans.—The boats steamer H. B. W. Hill, Capt. Newell, will leave for New Orleans at 5 o'clock this afternoon. She has unsurpassed accommodations and convenient and efficient officers.

The fine, Quitman, Capt. Clements, new boat, was to have left Louisville for New Orleans Thursday.

The Moses McLellan had just left the ways at Mound City when the Southerner passed down Wednesday. She will arrive Saturday, and leave this port for New-Orleans the same evening.

The Thos. E. Tutt, in place of the Platte Valley, will be due from St. Louis to-night, and will be the regular mail boat for St. Louis to-morrow evening.

We have received an ode to the Water, of the steamer Southerner, for late spicker papers.

The H. Pinkard, for Arkansas river, is on her way from Cincinnati. The crew of the R. H. Pinkford passed here at Louisville Monday, and delayed her departure for the South. She left on Wednesday.

The Gen. Pike will arrive to-day, and leave for White river at the usual hour to-morrow.

The Glendale will arrive from Cincinnati on the first day of the season of Easter.

FOR LOUISVILLE.—The fine steamer Interchange, Capt. Gilchrist, is receiving for Cairo and Louisville, and will leave at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Messrs. J. D. Mallory & Co. are the agents.

FOR CINCINNATI.—The elegant steamer Mary, Capt. Frank Riley, will leave as above at 12 o'clock to-day. Travelers will find the best accommodations on board, and attentive officers. Capt. Harmstead is the agent.

THE GLOBE:
THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF CONGRESS.
PUBLISH now my annual Prospectus of the DAILY GLOBE and the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX, in refined authorities, and I flatter myself in many desire trustworthy, that Congress will meet on the third Monday of next December, when I shall commence publishing the above-named papers. They have been published in long, full and impartial reports of the character, and therefore I deem it needless to give a minute account of the kind of matter they will contain.
The DAILY GLOBE will contain a report of the debates in both branches of Congress as taken down by reporters equal at least, to any corps of short-hand writers in this, or in any other other country. A majority of them will be able to report from one hundred ten thousand words an hour, while the average number of words spoken by fluent speakers rarely exceeds seven hundred. It is another thing to report, while the speaker of a day do not make more than forty-five columns of the DAILY GLOBE, which is delivered at the next morning, which will contain, also, the news of the day, together with such editorial articles as may be suggested by passing events.
The CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX will contain a record of all the debates in Congress, revised by the speakers, the messages of the President of the United States, the annual reports of the heads of the Executive Department, the laws passed during the session, and such miscellaneous matter as may be deemed of a double royal sheet, in book form, royal quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The whole will make, in its bulkiest form, about one hundred and forty large quarto pages, or about one hundred and forty pages, taking for data the average number of words of the long sessions since the year 1830. The average number of pages is 2297, consequently the average number of words in a long session is 1,000,000. It is a fact, that the aggregate number of words for six dollars, it follows that they have sold for $6 per 1,000 words, and that for every 100,000 words I have furnished them, while I have paid my reporters $6 25 for every 2297 words of that word in manuscript.
The coming session will, without a doubt, be an unusually interesting one, because the nominations of the respective parties for President and Vice-President of the United States will be nominated before it closes, and therefore the debates will be mostly on such political questions as, it may be thought, will tend to influence public opinion in regard to the persons to be supported for those offices. In the session of 1859-60 it has been for many years past, the only session from which the full debates of Congress can be obtained.
The CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX now published are the same in form and size as the Globe of the United States will be nominated before it closes, and therefore the debates will be mostly on such political questions as, it may be thought, will tend to influence public opinion in regard to the persons to be supported for those offices. In the session of 1859-60 it has been for many years past, the only source from which the full debates of Congress can be obtained.
