Local Matters.

Sunday Morning, December 11, 1859.

FALSE ALARM.—There was a false alarm of fire about nine o'clock last evening.

THANKS.—We are again obliged to our friend Bentley, of the Adams Express, for late papers.

☞ The union prayer meeting will be held at three o'clock this afternoon in the first Baptist church.

SPIRITUALISM.—Dr. L. K. Crossley, trance speaker, will lecture at Old Fellows' Hall to-day, at 11 A. M. SOUTH P. M.

ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY.—We are indebted to Mr. B. Bryan, the popular agent of the Adams express company, for Cincinnati, Louisville and New York papers.

☞ Elder Jacob Creath, of Missouri, will preach in the Christian church this (Sunday) morning at ten o'a hal' o'clock, and Elder Wilson, of Kentucky, in night at seven o'clock

☞ It will be seen that Messrs. Beard & Seay, real estate brokers, have removed their place of business from No. 12 Madison street to No. 313 Union street, up stairs.

COMMITTED.—A man named John Coleman was arraigned before Esq. Horne yesterday, on the charge of stealing a pair of shoes from a boarder at Mr. Chambers'. In default of bail, the accused was committed for trial trial.

☞ Among the celebrities in the city at present are Keats, Deane and Chambers, both of whom are widely and favorably known as showmen. They are seeking for some attractive wheretwithal to amuse the public during the approaching season.

☞ We still have a Bourbon among us in the person of our friend McGibben, the great dispenser of pure Bourbon whisky. He will receive orders for a few days to come, and those who would use the unadulterated article would do well to consult him.

INSUANCE.—We invite the particular attention of those interested to the change in the insurance card of Messrs Chalwick & Wells, the well-known responsible agents. This firm is the local agent of many of the most prompt and substantial insurance companies in this country.

ACCEPTABLE GIFTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—Nothing forms a more appropriate holiday gift for a relative or friend than one's portrait, and it is high time such amenities were being prepared. Messrs. Clark & Remington, at the corner of Main and Madison streets, take pictures which are acknowledged as great triumphs of art.

RESULT OF DOMESTIC CRUELTY.—We have given the particulars heretofore of the savage committed upon his wife by Patrick Leonard. The accused was brought before Squire Hartie yesterday, and subjected to an examination. In default of bail, Mr. Leonard is at the hospital undergoing treatment for her injuries.

NEW MILITARY COMPANY TO BE ORGANIZED.—A meeting of our fruit fellow-citizens will be held at the engine house of the Washington fire company, on Tuesday evening next. The object of the meeting is to effect an organization of a new fruit military company in this city, and a full attendance is desired.

ACCIDENT TO A FIRE ENGINE.—As the members of Independent Fire Company No. 1, with their apparatus, were responding to the alarm of fire last evening, the structure which supported the sidewalk in front of Mr. McGinney's establishment, on Main street, gave way, and the hose and other fixtures passed through the pavement. The engine was not injured, but the sidewalk was much damaged.

RHODES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE.—Mr. Rhodes calls our attention to an error of the types in a notice of his standard manure, in our edition of yesterday, using the word "sulphuric" acid for "phosphoric" acid, and "phosphate" and for "phosphoric" acid. We take pleasure in making the corrections, as it is important for planters to have the correct story at all times—certainly on the manure question.

MAYOR BAUGH AND DOCTOR DICKINSON.—We called yesterday, in company with Doctor Roberts, to see Doctor Dickinson, and were pleased to find his wound doing well, and not at all of a serious nature. We are particularly gratified to be able to state that the difficulty between Mayor Baugh and Doctor Dickinson has by the intervention of mutual friends, been honorably and amicably adjusted to both parties.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.—Clark and Remington have just received a large assortment of the pearl, velvet and gilt cases, especially intended to supply the demand for their pictures as Christmas appendages. Parties will be found to sell who wish good and durable pictures—ivotypes, photographs, ambrotypes in oil, embrotypes, etc. Look in and examine specimens, corner of Main and Madison streets. 3ed1 5w

WANGELIN'S PREMIUM FLOUR.—Our friend A. H. Rice, on Gayoso street, is the agent for Wangelin's premium double extra flour, which received the diploma at the late St. Louis fair, and he is regularly receiving consignments from St. Louis. Those who wish to purchase this celebrated flour can only obtain it from Mr. Rice, who is the sole wholesale agent in this city. See this and other advertisements of Mr. Rice in this morning's paper.

NEW FIRM.—We call the attention of the reader to the business firm of Champagne & Cartwright—Gen. R. Champagne, successor to Pope & Champagne, and J. T. Cartwright, successor to J. T. Cartwright & Co., both well-known business firms in this city, and both gentlemen of excellent business habits and character. They also advertise several fine offices or sleeping rooms for rent, and several packages butter for G. W. Ward, which will be sold by cage charges unless called for soon. Their place of business is No. 35 Front Row.

FRANKLIN FESTIVAL.—The printers of this city, under the auspices of the Typographical Union, celebrate the natal day of the mechanic, philosopher and patriot, printer of the revolution, Benjamin Franklin, by a supper, enlivened by wine and sentiment. We predict an occasion of rare enjoyment, and if the committee of arrangements are successful in procuring the attendance of the gentlemen to whom they propose to extend invitations, there will be an intellectual feast of no common merit.

IMPORTANT SUIT DECISION.—The suit of E. M. Apperson & Co., against W. H. Fort, was decided at Helena, Ark., on Saturday, by the Hon. Chas. Ferrelle, in favor of the defendant W. G. Fort, Esq. This was a case of much importance, involving a large amount of property, and was elaborately argued by some of the ablest lawyers in the Mississippi Valley. Judge Ferrelle, a distinguished jurist and a gentleman of rare attainments, was appointed by Gov. Conway as special judge in this case.

CRIMINAL COURT.—In this tribunal yesterday a noble prose cut was entered in the case of James Wood and John Finance, charged with larceny.

The motion for a new trial in the case of Andrew Jones, convicted in the preceding term of three years, on the charge of larceny, was overruled by the court. The accused then took an appeal to the Supreme Court.

The case of A. Cotton, charged with stealing, and that of Reuben, slave of Dr Laird, charged with larceny, were continued to the next term.

The case of John D. Tompkins, charged with larceny, will be taken up to-morrow.

AT 335 MAIN STREET.—At this store Messrs. Dearing & Weatherill have opened with a large and carefully selected stock of drugs, upon which the public may depend as being genuine and of the first quality. Physicians' prescriptions are put up by an experienced and skillful practitioner. The attention of the ladies is called to a new and splendid collection of toilet articles and perfumery. This portion of the stock is very superior; the toilet implements are of the most elegant and recherche character; the perfumes include the latest improvements and the most fashionable scents.

SOUTHERN MADE.—Among the articles of Southern manufacture, to which we can call attention with pride and pleasure, are the railroad box cars of Messrs. D. S. H. Rieker, of Charleston, S. C. They are of excellent workmanship and elegant finish, and have proved in use good durable, useful cars. The enterprise and spirit of Messrs. Rieker have demonstrated the fact that a southern shop can turn out as good work as can be found, and that we have no occasion to go north or east for these articles—we can independently supply ourselves. We have been led to make these remarks in consequence of the house in question having recently delivered here a number of their cars made for the Memphis and Charleston railroad. Col. Tate says of them, that he regards them as letter as good as any, if not the best, freight cars on the road. They are giving entire satisfaction. This is high praise.

MISS DAVENPORT.—Our community has had an opportunity, during the past stormy and wintry week, to witness the personations of this queen of tragedy. During the last two nights she has appeared in a play, translated from the French expressly for her, the Mob-siliaire. Like all French plays, it abounds in intrigue, yet the denouement is sublime, because it portrays, in a graphic picture, and in the most striking manner, the triumph of Virtue. A maiden, in the humble vocation of life, marries a wealthy nobleman, whose brother and wife embrace their liegemity in betraying her into crime or the appearance of crime. They succeed, for a time, in doing a great deal of mischief, and entrap the innocent into their false and selfish designs, by deceiving him. He is, however, undeceived, and reclaims his wife from her false position. Then then endeavor to rule the humbled by adding insult to injury. From these injuries he is rescued by the vigilance and ingenuity of faithful friends of the persecuted wife who triumphs over them. In all the stages of these interesting plots and counter-plots, Miss Davenport, as the accused and persecuted wife, acts naturally and smoothly, carries along with her the sympathies of the audience and vindicates the virtue of woman by the supremacy of her genius. The play is devoid of startling or strong sentiments, excepting so far as they are developed in the plot. It therefore requires great genius, in acting, to set it off and bear along the feelings of the spectators. In this Miss Davenport has succeeded admirably. Her expressive countenance mirrors every emotion of the wronged and true wife, while her elocution is natural and truthful, without exaggeration, powerfully affecting every hearer, and gradually increasing in intensity until it swells into an applause that cannot be suppressed. Monday evening is to be signalized by the production, from Miss Davenport's varied and novel repertoire, of another new play, entitled Mons. Jean, or Paul, Life Misfortune, Adversary, Camille, Charlotte Corday, etc., we believe; or in of French origin, and from the success that has attended its performance in other cities, doubtless affords a favorable occasion, in its high character, "Theme for Lovers," of exhibiting the transcendent abilities of Miss Davenport.

THE BUCKLEY'S ONE WEEK MORE.—The immense audiences which the entertainments of the Buckley troupe, for the past three evenings, have drawn to Odd Fellows' Hall, indeed the company, by their darkening testimonies of appreciation, to remain in the city for a "few days," or probably a week longer, to favor us with a greater variety of their inimitable minstrelsy entertainments and their inimitable operatic burlesques. The ballads, concerted pieces, plantation delineations and burlesque "Bonnombula," last evening, were received with many expressions of mirth and delight. The violin playing of Fred Buckley enraptured the audience, and the comicalities of Bishop, together with Swalze's unexpressed music on the banjo, lead not a little to the occasion. The smooth and flowing soprano voice of Miss Gould and the rich, mellow baritone of Mr. Rampin, render the burlesque operas so entrancing as when produced in the original by the most celebrated artistes. There is scarcely a family voice in the company, and certainly no one to be heard in their fine choruses. To-morrow evening, (Monday) the musical farce entitled "The Two Pompeys," arranged by Fred Buckley, will succeed the minstrelsy and Ethiopian comicality parts. The laughable celebrated Lilliputian pet stepdance, danced by his wife and tamer, Bishop Buckley, will again bring down the house in shouts of laughter.

☞ An industrious man can receive a trade allowing which pays fine profits. Call on second floor 279 Main street, Memphis.

The river was rising rapidly yesterday, having risen fully one foot during the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock last evening. The weather was clear and cool, with a respectable amount of sand under foot. Notwithstanding the muddy drawback, there was unusual activity at the landing.

The pressure of ice in the Mississippi between St. Louis and Hannibal has greatly retarded navigation in that stream. The J. H. Dickey was detained at Cairo on her way up, owing to the obstruction the ice offered. A "broad up" had taken place, however, and boats are now meeting with but little delay.

The Nashville Gazette, of Thursday, contains the particulars of the flood in Ne Cumberland. It says this since its last report, the river at Nashville has been rising rapidly. Tuesday night it rose about thirteen feet, and during Wednesday it rose about six or seven feet more, making about twenty feet for the twenty-four hours.

The rise at Nashville up to dark Wednesday was noted to forty-six feet. At low water mark it is one hundred and ten feet from the water to the wire bridge, and according to measurement Wednesday evening it was only sixty-four feet. We now report about fifty feet on the shoals, and still rising. How much more the rise will be is not yet known, but it is generally believed that we have yet to be visited by a similar overflow from the head of navigation, and if such is the case we will possibly have to record another 1847 freshet. A number of steamers were at the upper wharf Discharging freight, with but little prospect of getting under the bridge at present. The Rio dropped down to the lower wharf Wednesday. Her chimneys were within one foot of the bridge.

The receipts of cotton by river during the week ending last evening aggregated 921 bales.

The shipments of cotton during the same period embraced 17,790 bales, of which 14,016 bales were taken for New Orleans, and 3,774 bales for the Ohio river. There were no shipments made for St. Louis during the past week.

The receipts of cotton yesterday aggregated 165 bales, 100 of which were brought by the Woodford and 5 by the Red Lewis.

The Southerner and Ben. Lewis were the only regular local packets that arrived yesterday. They were both well-freighted down, and had good passenger lists. They both returned, however, last evening with rather light trips.

The Daniel Boone, for Vicksburg, and Imperial, for New Orleans, departed last evening. The Boone had one of the best trips taken to Vicksburg during the season, including a class of passengers. The Imperial, also, had a fine trip, an item of her freight being 2,546 bales of cotton.

The Anglo-Saxon for Pittsburg, the Messenger for Cincinnati, and the Henrietta for New Orleans, a trio of irregular boats which have been awaiting cargoes of cotton here for several days, were all to leave last evening. The Anglo-Saxon took 1,227 bales cotton, the Messenger 800 bales, and the Henrietta 300 bales.

Since our last report there have been several transient boats at the landing, including the City of Memphis, J. W. Cheeseman and Judge Torrence, from N. Orleans for St. Louis; the Wm. M. Morrison, Crescent City and J. C. Swon, from St. Louis for New Orleans; the Woodford from New Orleans for Louisville, and the Chancellor from Louisville for New Orleans. The J. C. Swon brought merchandise to, no less than forty-eight consignees, embracing 1,300 packages for our merchants.

The steamer Victoria has been thoroughly repaired at New Orleans, and is on her way to this port. She will be here to-morrow, and will leave again for Vicksburg on Thursday next—her regular day.

The Jennie Kirk, the new boat built to run in the Upper Ouachita, to connect with the Liazee Steamers, will arrive from Louisville this morning.

The telegraph last night reported the river rising at Cincinnati, with thirty-nine feet water in the channel.

At Louisville the river was rising, with over twelve feet water on the falls.

The fine steamer Atlantic will arrive from New Orleans to-day.

The Goody Friends left Cincinnati on Friday for this port.

The Orb passed Cincinnati on Thursday for Pittsburg with 1,100 bales of cotton, and the Silver Moon left Cincinnati for this port the same day, full of freight and people. The Bella, for Arkansas river, and the Martin Wade, for Upper Red river, were in Cincinnati on Friday.

The largest wharf-boat on the Ohio river is located at Paducah, and is owned by Given, Haynes & Co.

The Kate May has gone into the Cincinnati and Nashville trade, to take the place of the Acacia Cottage.

Mr. J. Banks Kunz, one of the clerks of the splendid steamer Skylark, arrived here yesterday by railroad in advance of the boat. The Skylark has entered regularly into the Fort Smith route, Louis trade, and will make Memphis an important connection. Freights will be received by Messrs J. D. Morton & Co., at the upper wharf-boat.

The Wheelbirds arrived from New Orleans last night at 11 o'clock. We are indebted to Mr. Baldwin, the accomplished clerk, for favors.

The Lady Walton will leave for the Arkansas river on Tuesday next.

FOR NASHVILLE.—The fine steamer St. Francis No. 3, Capt. Hugh Dunbar, will leave for Cairo, Paducah and Nashville, at 10 o'clock this morning. She has excellent accommodations for passengers, and attentive officers, Mr. James Petty having charge of the office.

FOR NAPOLEON.—The popular little steamer J. G. Cline, Capt. Norman, having gone permanently into the trade, will leave for Helena and Napoleon, at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. She is in fine condition, and is admirably adapted to the trade. Our old friend, Mr. George W. Nelson, presides in the clerk's office.

FOR ST. LOUIS.—The popular steamer J. H. Dickey, Capt. Marshall, will leave for all points in Illinois, St. Louis, at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. She has every convenience for passengers, and attentive officers. Mr. M. R. McDonald is the clerk.
