Daily Appeal.

German Strike and American Notions.

The following, which gives a lively idea of the manner in which—even in comparatively liberal Prussia—the wishes of the people are interfered with and thwarted by the Government, is from the Bremen correspondent of the St. Louis Republican:

Yesterday Germany was jubilant. The Fatherland was honoring the day upon which a hundred years ago her beloved Schiller first saw the light of his native Marbach. The Teutonic heart all over the world beat for once in unison, for not only in the Fatherland of Schiller, but wherever the German tongue is spoken, it was spoken that day in honor of the poet dearest to the popular mind. Even in despotic Austria, the policeman of Europe, the people were permitted to celebrate the day after their own hearts, without hindrance from the ever-watchfully authorities—a liberality which would do honor to the country in question, were it not for the circumstance that the hope of bringing itself into advantageous contrast with Prussia, and of filching by a show of generosity the sympathies of the rest of Germany, were the causes that induced it. In consequence of the hostility of the aristocratic party of Prussia to the liberal policy of the present government—no bitter, indeed, that a plan was formed to create a disturbance at the funeral of the late Alexander Humboldt, and to throw mud upon the coffin as it passed—for Humboldt's political views were liberal to the extreme—it was judged expedient to permit no demonstrations which might occasion a recurrence of scenes of this kind, and the request to allow a torchlight procession to be formed at the Schiller celebration was firmly refused, on the alleged ground of the King's illness.

This was, however, a lame excuse, from the fact that the king was at Sans Souci, twelve miles distant from the city where the proposed celebration was to take place. No sooner is this step known in Vienna than with an excess of liberality, which must have startled the people into suspicion, and which will probably have to last them the rest of their lives, the gates of the city were thrown open to the people, and preparations for the fête at once commenced. This species of sharp practice might reflect some credit upon a New York ward politician, but seems to be generally regarded, by the German press, as a bait not skillfully enough put on to conceal the hook. Austria is in the unpleasant predicament of being always suspected of knavery, and can never win from the public the reward of merit, any more than that distinguished female of Babylon could pass for a vestal virgin. This little commercial republic shut up shop for a day, and devoted itself in earnest to the celebration of the occasion, making up, like most little things, in bustle what was wanting in grandeur. Besides numberless statues of the poet, and silver tankards, sometimes accompanied under the gaslight by the sparkling effort of blue hair and red eyes, we are delicately reminded of him in Schiller hats, sears, etc. A man somewhat shaved with Schiller soap, adorned by a raised bust of the poet, which will answer for Goethe when his turn comes, and should be surprised to be regaled to-morrow on a Schiller sausage. This custom is of course well known to us, but I mention it to show the enormous strides Germany is taking toward equalities and the institutions of our peculiar people. American humbug is a well-worn cry in Europe, but the skill of American workmen seems, in spite of that, not altogether ignored.

CANCERS, FISTULAS AND PILES

Cured Without an Operation,

DRS. J. O. & W. H. JANUARY,

Trenton, Gibson Co., Tenn.

DR. J. O. JANUARY is the only person living who is in possession of the great secret, as proved by his father, Dr. S. W. January, of Murfreesboro, who died with it, the cure of any disease is well known throughout the whole country.

We have been engaged constantly in the treatment for the last eight years, part of the time under the immediate supervision of his father.

We make no charge for medical or surgical treatment, as we have arrangements by which all our treatment is FREE.

The application of the medicines gives rise to no pain in the most of cases, but rather ease pain, by blasting the morbid tissue, so that no knife need be applied.

OUR MOTTO IS—NO CURE, NO PAY!

The charges will be as moderate as could be expected, under the circumstances.

We too to refer to the following gentlemen, all of whom have been cured by us: Rev. Jno. Cooper, of W. Rose, Richard Bethea, and others, all of Gibson county.

Trenton is now accessible from all points by railroad.

For further information, we refer to the citizens of Trenton, Gibson County, Tennessee.

Chancery Sale of Valuable Real Estate.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Supreme Court of Tennessee at Jackson, rendered at the April Term, 1859, in the case of Sarah A. Price vs. John P. Carrithers et al., I will sell on the 20th, 21st, 22d and 23d days of the sale of John P. Lanier, in the south side of Court Square, in the city of Memphis, Shelby county, Tennessee, to wit:

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 18, 1860, AT 11 O'CLOCK A. M.

One undivided half of the following described property, lying and situate in the county of Shelby, State of Tennessee to the 1st. surveyor's district, range 8 section 2, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a maple marked X, ninety-nine corner of William Lawrence's 300 acre survey on John Rice's north boundary line, thence north with said Lawrence's eastern boundary line, to a white oak marked "G," thence east thirty chains to a stake, thence south, at 40 chains, at Williams and Lawrence's line, thence south with said Williams' eastern boundary line, to a white oak marked "G," thence west thirty chains to the beginning, containing 119 acres, more or less, at Oppenheimer's, Williams and Lawrence's line, thence south with said Williams' eastern boundary line, to their south-east corner (said Rice's three north eighth-dee degrees west with his line to the beginning.

A. J. DUNCAN, Solicitor.

A CARD.

HAVING associated with me, in my old business, that of Carriage and Wagon Making, I am now prepared, and on private account, to do Blacksmithing, Wheelwrighting, Painting, Trimming, etc., in the best manner, and on as reasonable terms as any other shop in the city. Our machinery is of the best kind, and we have men before them who are competent to do all work in our line. Our buildings are located on Adams street, next door east of my old stand. They are spacious, combining convenience and comfort, and constitute an establishment of the kind in the State, and equal to any that I have ever frequented.

I respectfully solicit for our new firm from my old friends and customers and the public, the patronage which I have heretofore received, and which will probably have to last them the rest of their lives, the gates of the city were thrown open to the people, and preparations for the fête at once commenced. This species of sharp practice might reflect some credit upon a New York ward politician, but seems to be generally regarded, by the German press, as a bait not skillfully enough put on to conceal the hook. PERUVIAN SYRUP,

Or Protected Solution of Protoxide of Iron Combined.

THIS well known remedy has been used very extensively with efficient success for the cure of

DYSPEPSIA,

Or Impaired and Imperfect Digestion,

AND THE CONSEQUENT

DETERIORATION OF THE BLOOD.

And for the cure of the following FORMS OF DISEASE, Most of which originate in

DYSPEPSIA:

Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Neuralgia and Nervous Affections, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Languor and Depression of Spirits Costiveness and Bolls, Piles, Scurvy, Affections of the Skin, Consumptive Tendencies, Bronchitis, Diseases Peculiar to Females, and all Complaints accompanied by General Debility, and requiring a Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

NOTE.—The failure of Iron as a remedy for Dyspepsia, has made it of the least, and the numerous diseases caused thereby, has arisen from the want of such a preparation as this, which combines the medicinal properties of iron in a form which the stomach can digest, and assimilate at once with the blood. This want the PERUVIAN SYRUP supplies, and it may be relied on as the only iron in the only form in which it is possible for it to enter the circulation. But this reason the Peruvian Syrup is recommended to the afflicted as a safe and sure remedy for Dyspepsia and all those diseases which have found to be of such. For more particulars see pamphlets, which may be obtained of the agent.
