Local Matters.

Saturday Morning, February 18, 1860.

$10 Reward.

We will pay the above reward for the apprehension, and conviction before the Appeal from the desk of this office, of the person who stole the Appeal from the desk of this office yesterday morning. MCLANAHAN, TROUSDALE & DILL. February 7, 1860.

PERSONAL.—Capt. C. C. Gray, Miss Gibson and W. Burton, of Memphis, were in Louisville Thursday.

Mr. Ewbank Booth—The eminent tragedian will commence his engagement at the Louisville theatre Monday evening.

THANKS.—To our polite and accommodating friends, Messrs. Borden and O'Brien of Adams Express, we again tender our thanks for late exchanges.

☞ Pianos at auction at 11 o'clock to-day at Monsarrat, Dupree & Co.'s; two beautiful rosewood pianos at auction on a credit of ninety days.

DEPARTED.—Gen. John Ross, of the Cherokees nation, accompanied by several members of his tribe, left by railroad last evening for Washington.

EDITORIAL.—We had the pleasure yesterday of a visit from Enos S. Reed, Esq., one of the editors of the Cincinnati Times. Mr. Reed was on his way to New Orleans.

RECAPTURED.—Wm. Wilson, alias Guilford, who escaped from the chain-gang a few days ago, has been re-arrested, and was returned to the chain-gang by the recorder yesterday for a period of one hundred and three days.

THE SUNDAY APPEAL.—Our Sunday edition to-morrow will be of unusual interest to the general reader, as it will contain, in addition to the letter list, a vast amount of matter prepared expressly for Sunday reading.

CRIMINAL COURT.—A large number of misdemeanor cases were disposed of yesterday in this tribunal. The misdemeanor docket will be exhausted to-day, and it is thought the criminal docket will be taken up Monday.

LAW AT HAND.—Lest it may—what and other Joe Bob can be had fresh daily from Pancoast, next door to Specht's saloon on Madison street; he has also Baltimore oysters, chickens, birds, eggs, varied teams and other good things.

INDICTMENTS.—The grand jury of the Criminal Court yesterday returned three indictments against persons charged with larceny—one against Patrick Hardigan, one against Ann Kelly, and another against Michael Flannery.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATRE.—The pieces for this evening's entertainment at this popular place of amusement, will be a new fairy burlesque entitled Fortunio and his Seven Gifted Servants, and Paul Jones, the Pilot of the German Ocean.

A TYPE FOUNDRY IN MEMPHIS.—The Oxford Mercury suggests that a southern type foundry should be established, and that the location should be at Memphis. The Hosaing (Miss.) Patriot gives its hearty approval to the proposition.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—The cash drawer in the office of the new Planter's House, at the corner of Second and Poplar streets, was broken open Thursday evening, but fortunately no thing was nothing valuable in it at the time, and the skill of the thief was not rewarded.

POSTPONED.—The city school exhibition which had been announced to take place at Odd Fellows' Hall last evening, was postponed on account of the exceedingly inclement weather. The entertainment will be given on evening next week, of which event formal announcement will be made.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—There was a collision between two freight trains, at the Junction, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, yesterday, by which considerable damage was done to both trains. No one, however, was injured. By the accident, the passenger train due here at three o'clock yesterday afternoon did not arrive until two o'clock this morning.

MARRIED ON THE WING.—A son and daughter of Erin, for whom reason unknown to us, were married on Madison street yesterday, under peculiar circumstances. Judge Hill was riding a mule when applied to to solemnize the rites, and, without so much as dismounting, approached the door of the carriage which the loving couple occupied, and performed the ceremony in the presence of one or two persons who chanced to be passing.

THE PEOPLE'S STREET RAILROAD COMPANY.—We understand that this company has secured a suitable room for their office in the Webster block, on Main street, between Adams and Washington streets. In a few days the books for stock subscription will be opened, when our citizens will have an opportunity afforded them of making what is believed to be a good investment, while at the same time a most important and useful work may be aided by their liberality.

City Financial Policy.

In the start of a young city there is nothing, perhaps, that has more influence upon its future, which has so strong a bearing on the decision whether it shall be the flourishing center of a vast region, or the sweet resting-place of a court house of the county, than the manner in which the local finances are managed. If the expenditure be niggardly, roads remain unimproved, railways choose a more generous location, and business men congregate where there is more public spirit. If the public money, on the other hand, be expended too lavishly, the public burdens become so onerous, rents and taxes so high, that persons seeking new homes choose a settlement in spots where more prudence has been exhibited. Whether the expenditure of money by a small town ambitious to rise should be large or small, depends upon its situation with respect principally to commerce. If the naturally advantageous position of the spot are great, money may be freely invested in making those advantages available. Any expenditure, in short, may be made with confidence, when the object to be accomplished will bring in more wealth than was expended. For instance, our own contribution to the Memphis and Charleston railroad was a wise one, for the road has brought more wealth to the city than the city expended. It is not, therefore, a great or a small expenditure that improves or injures the interests of a city; the true question is, are expenditures proportioned to its position. In other words, the capital of a city, like that of a merchant, must be expended on objects that will bring a profitable return. And here it may be observed that the intelligent merchant does not confine his money to mere objects of merchandise, a handsome store and a well fitted up counting room may enter into his arrangements, just as a noble city hall, or beautifully adorned squares may be created and laid out by a city.

Large sums have been expended here, and the prosperity of the city proves that the expenditure has been wise and profitable. It is true our taxes are high, and our rents great, but "it pays," and our merchants and manufacturers are making fortunes. Expenditures outside the city having brought business into the city, internal improvements are required to meet the contingency thus created. If our streets are to be crowded with heavily laden drays, burdened with merchandise from all parts of the world, the streets must be put in a condition suitable for traffic. To fail in making such improvements in the city as are required by the influx of the business we have invited, would be acting like a farmer who should enlarge his field and increase widely the area planted and showed, and yet neglect to build the barns required for the harvest that will be the fruits of his enterprise. What is true of the street, applies equally to all other subjects affected by the increase of business and the growth of population.

It is to be observed in this connection that much of the benefits arising from our outlay and labor will be reaped, not by ourselves, but by those who will come after us. It is not unjust, therefore, that our successors should have a proportion of the debt that may now be contracted. While the city is young many improvements may be made and arrangements secured at a moderate outlay, which, though not of very great importance to us may be of infinite moment to the future inhabitants of the place. As an instance of this kind we may mention the opening of streets—means of ready access from one part of the city to another, are indispensable to a large place doing a vast business, while the ward of them may scarcely be perceptible in a small one having but a contracted commerce. If, therefore, a city while yet small, expend money in making convenient opening of streets, the full advantages of the act are felt in the future only. From these and similar considerations it is evidently not unjust, under certain circumstances, for one generation to contract debts to be paid by another.

In the present position of Memphis these considerations are not without their weight. This city has a splendid future before it, and if most not be its fault if a spirited and enterprising course on will obtain all that skill and labor can secure. We are for the expenditure for going wholesale into debt, but recommend that one up one of our resources which is a just medium between unwise parsimony and improvident extravagance.

Advances.

CASH advances made on account of Cotton, Tobacco, Wheat, etc., etc., to our friends in New Orleans and New York. TENNYSON & CO. Front Row.

INFANTICIDE.—Inquire Horne was called upon yesterday to hold an inquest upon the body of an infant found secreted in the trunk of a servant girl named Mary Murphy, in the family of Mr. Alexander, at the corner of State and Vance streets. There had been evidence of the servant girl's indisposition for several days, and on Thursday, at a time when the girl was absent from the house on some errand, after she had been confined to her room for some time, search was instituted, and the body of a newly-born infant, quite dead, was found concealed in her trunk. A post-mortem examination was held by two physicians, who ascertained that the infant had lived after its birth, and expressed the opinion that it had died of neglect. After being arrested the girl confessed that she had given birth to the child, and that she had been ruined by a young man in St. Louis. Mary is about eighteen years of age, and possesses unusual personal beauty. She came to this city from St. Louis about a month since. She is now in jail awaiting examination.

THE PANORAMA.—Beale's great painting of an Arctic voyage will be exhibited at Odd-Fellows' Hall at two o'clock this afternoon and at the usual hour this evening. It is one of the finest productions of the kind ever exhibited, and should be seen by all who feel an interest in that comparatively unknown region.

MENTZER'S BAND.—This celebrated troupe of musicians were passengers yesterday for New Orleans by the steamer Tennessee. They have an engagement to sit in New Orleans at an early day, and we are pleased to learn that they will upon their return to their homes in Cincinnati, give at least one concert in this city.

DEATH OF A WELL KNOWN PRINTER.—Mr. Charles S. Cooper, well known in this city and throughout the South and West, died of consumption in Cincinnati, on Monday. He was an accomplished printer, and a gentleman of many noble qualities, which endeared him to his acquaintances.

☞ Mr. E. B. Reed, one of the local editors of the Cincinnati Times, passed through the City yesterday en route for New Orleans.

☞ Tickner, Robbins & Co. clothing store on Jefferson street next door to the Planters Bank, is now closed for repairs and enlargement, but will reopen about the 23d inst., with a larger and better stock of goods than ever.

DEPARTURES LEAVING MEMPHIS.

VICKSBURG, 4th Hecla.....Vicksburg
Cincinnati, Pike, Cairo, Jones.....White River.
W. H. Langley, Capt. Williams.....St. Francis River
Ben Lewis, Capt. Allen.....St. Louis
Imperial, Capt. Wilson.....N. Orleans
Southerner, Capt. Goodall.....Louisville
Ben Franklin, Capt. Scott.....N. Orleans
Admiral, Capt. Bates.....White River

THE RIVER commenced rising again yesterday, and received about 8 inches during the twenty-four hours ending at 6 o'clock last evening. White river is about stationary, but little fear is felt for the Cumberland river is rising slowly, with 6 feet on the shoals. The weather was very mild and disagreeable yesterday, and business was dull on the landing.

TELEGRAPHIC.—The Ohio, at Louisville, was rising slowly yesterday, with seven feet water in the canal. The Mississippi at St. Louis was receding slowly, with six feet six inches in the channel (below to Cairo).

ARRIVALS.—The remains of cotton by river continue to arrive and to leave, 242 bales, 204 bales of which were from White river. The shipments embraced 2,069 bales, of which about one-half were from this city, and the balance from other river points. By a despatch from Cairo last evening, we were informed that the Imperial would arrive from Cairo at two o'clock this afternoon, and leave for this city at five. We would hear this morning that Capt. T. M. Bowen, late of the splendid steamer Minnie McKenzie, has retired from the river, and purchased an the steamboat agency and commission business in Louisville, having succeeded the late Capt. Charles Bishop. Capt. John M. Martin is to command of the McKenzie temporarily. In all probability Capt. Henry W. Smith, the present popular clerk of the Southerner, will take command of the McKenzie.....The Fanny Bullitt sailed for New Orleans yesterday at 4 o'clock. We learn that she will be back from New Orleans, and off for White river this morning.....The steamer Chester has arrived at New Orleans with 3,000 bales of cotton, 400 sacks of corn, 24 hogsheads of tobacco, and a large consignment of manufactured tobacco, enough one of the best lots that has come into New Orleans during the season.....By reference to our memorial column it will be seen that Capt. J. C. Williams, of the W. H. Langley, has resigned, and is now the owner of a fine steamer of Mississippi, on Thursday. The happy pair came at this city by the Langley the same day.....We were informed yesterday that the steamer Eclipse had dissolved her connection with the Memphis and New Orleans packet company, and that she would run hereafter independently.....The Hickman has been fully repaired at Louisville, and was expected Thursday for the Arkansas river.....We learn from the Cincinnati Commercial, that before the Monmouth, Capt. John Kyle, was hailing from the river for Memphis, Noah's night, the pilots heard and followed a yet unheard against bridge, compelling her to return for repairs. The non-as-popular were compelled to remain overnight, when she departed for Memphis with an elegant trip.....The New Cincinnati Commercial, Capt. Gibson, passed down for New Orleans yesterday morning, having on board an immense mass of freight, and a good number of passengers, who appeared themselves delighted with the boat and the hospitable attentions of Capt. Logan. The celebrated Kentucky Band, of Cincinnati, on their way to New Orleans, were on board, and while at the landing they gave some specimens of their soul-stirring music.....The Ohio is to be towed to New Orleans at $40 per ton.....We are indebted to Mr. Frank Rice at the S. H. Tobey, and to Capt. Fleming, of the Cairo Pike, for late papers.....Capt. Sheldon, President of the Lowber and Cincinnati packet line, has presented Dr. R. S. D. Shiras, of Louisville, with a magnificent silver pitcher, as a token of his appreciation of Dr. D.'s services as agent and his admiration for him as a gentleman.....Capt. W. C. Dugan, of this city, has been appointed to the Cincinnati of Valentine's express company.....C. C. Gray, of the Jennie Whitney, was in on Thursday, in search of a boat to take the place of the Whipple. The Silver Star is for sale, but cannot be chartered.....The hull of the new Vicksburg and Rhododendron packet Kalitan, launched at the Marine Way, Cincinnati, is progressing finely. It is to frame and receiving the beams. It is 250 feet long, 42 feet beam, 9 feet 4 inches depth of hold with an easy and graceful model.....According to the report of the superintendent, the expenses of Louisville in 1859, were $14 less, with the building of 20 boats during this year than the expenses of Cincinnati in set down at 20,000 less, with only eight boats built. The total number of boats registered at Louisville during the year was seventy-one.....Capt. Stephen Stone, formerly commander of the Keystone State, died at Marietta, of a lingering illness where he had gone for the benefit of his health. His remains will be taken to Beaver, Pa., to be interred in the family burial ground, Beaver Point.

ARRIVED AND DEPARTED.—The Victoria from Vicksburg, passed the W. H. Langley from the St. Francis river, the Gem, Pike, from White river, and the Moses McLellan from Louisville, accompanied the regular packets that arrived yesterday.....The McLellan was very heavily freighted with cotton and other consignments. The Pike brought 300 bales cotton, the Victoria 120 bales, and the Langley 85 bales.....The Belfast for New Orleans, the Kentucky for White river, the Mississippi for Louisville, were the only regular packets that departed yesterday. Of the transient boats, the Tennessee and H. Fontaine, Capt. Campbell, for New Orleans, and the T. C. Twitchell, from New Orleans for Louisville, arrived and departed. The Belfast had 2,000 bales cotton and the Mississippi 60 bales, all bales for Louisville and the remainder for redispatch to Cincinnati. The Fontaine brought a portion of her cargo here.

Boats Leaving To-day.

FOR VICKSBURG.—The elegant steamer Victoria, Capt. Frank Rube, is the mail packet for Vicksburg at the usual hour this afternoon. She has excellent accommodations and popular officers. Capt. A. G. Bolter is her clerk, who is noticed by Sergt. Bates.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The splendid steamer Imperial, Capt. L. A. Wilson, will leave for New Orleans at five o'clock this afternoon. She is the most elegant passenger packet in the trade, having most splendid accommodations and efficient officers.

FOR WHITE RIVER.—The elegant packet Gen. Pike, Capt. Riley Jones, will leave for all points on the White and Little Red rivers at the usual hour this afternoon. Everybody in the trade knows her and her officers, and they need recommendation. Messrs. Fleming and Sadler are the clerks.

FOR THE ST. FRANCIS RIVER.—The popular little packet W. H. Langley, Capt. Jas. Williams, will leave for the St. Francis and L'Anguille rivers at 4 o'clock this afternoon. She has undergone a great number of improvements, and is now one of the best packets in the trade. Passengers will find her cabin fitted up in the elegant style. Her officers are all well known and popular.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The elegant mail steamer Ben Lewis, Capt. Jim Allen, will leave for Cairo and St. Louis at the usual hour this afternoon. She is the favorite of the river, having superior accommodations and efficient officers.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The splendid low-pressure steamer Southerner, Captain Goodall, will leave for Louisville at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Southerner is the lightest draught and most popular boat on the Louisville and New Orleans packet line. Capt. Tommy M. Smith is the clerk.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The elegant mail steamer Ben Franklin, Capt. Jim Scott, will leave for Cairo and St. Louis at the usual hour this afternoon. She is the favorite of the river, having superior accommodations and efficient officers.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The splendid mail steamer Imperial will return from Cairo to-day, and leave for New Orleans at 5 p. m. this evening. Her stock is now here on the landing, and will receive freight and cotton for her last trip is complete. A few of her cabin is at the office of her agents, which all passengers can secure tickets, or by application to Thos. H. Williams, the agent, at No. 2 Howard's Row.

Strayed or Stolen.

I WILL pay a like sum for the return of a MULE, that strayed or was stolen from me at the Memphis landing, in Memphis, on the night of the 10th of January. The mule is a large bay, about three years old, with a large face and short smooth mane; one was a brown horse with a little over common size, with blind eyes; he is a fast pacer, and would be easily recognized; but under the common light; and all persons are warned not to harbor, or have anything to do with said mule, under the penalty of the law. Any person giving me information of the place of his concealment, will receive a reward.
