

Joy at Republican Headquarters.

Lord Rothschild said: "I, in common with all London, have received the news of McKinley's election with delight and satisfaction."

We quote the above from the press dispatches Thursday morning. We have proclaimed from the housetops that the Rothschilds would fall all over themselves in ecstasies of delirious joy if McKinley were elected, now the Rothschilds have verified our words. They are happy and contented; they can still draw millions yearly from American producers and with those millions give lavish entertainments which entice people to endure their abhorrent faces, but the American producer and laborer pays with his misery and discontent for their enjoyment.

Rothschild is satisfied.

Labor Crushers at a Premium.

Whitelaw Reid is said to be a candidate for secretary of state, but in view of his unpopularity with organized labor it is hardly likely that Mr. McKinley will place him at the head of the next cabinet.—Duluth Herald.

"Unpopularity with organized labor" "don't go now." Reid has been like a patron saint to us in comparison with Labor Crusher Hanna. Besides, while Hanna never made peace with a labor organization and probably never will, Reid capitulated once under fire. And if the latter is disqualified for office under the incoming administration, it is because of that fact.

One of the charitable acts of humanity is not only to be good to ourselves, but to do good to others. The prosperous should have a care not to let selfishness blind them to the condition of those less fortunate. To aid the helpless is attended with a dual blessing. It blesseth the giver as well as the receiver.—Ex.

"The single gold standard is the rock which has been placed against the door where our hopes have been buried, and until it is rolled away there can be no resurrection of our prosperity."

Many delinquent subscribers have responded nobly to our call of last issue. There are still remaining on our list, many who are behind in their subscriptions. We will extend our time to enable those, who desire, to pay up. We realize that the required dollar is hard to get, in spite of the promised prosperity, and will be as lenient as possible, hoping that each individual will do the best he can.

Just What They Voted For.

A disgusted lumberjack walked into a Duluth lawyer's office this week and in an excited Swedish dialect wanted to know "about dees." He was one of fifteen woodsmen who had just finished a month in a certain firm's camp. When they came out $3 was deducted for railroad fare and $1.50 for hospital dues from each man. They then had a little over $3 coming. To show for that they had time checks payable April 21 in Minneapolis.

A Washington dispatch says: Secretary Carlisle, in his annual report, will again recommend withdrawal of the greenbacks which are a menace to the gold reserve. His plan is to sell bonds in an exact amount equal to outstanding greenbacks which are to be destroyed as fast as they come in. Commercial bodies all over the country are to be asked to urge congress to adopt this plan.

It is evident, that the powers behind the throne, wish as much as possible of the odium, resulting from carrying out the financial conspiracy, to be borne by the present administration. They evidently realize that their hold on the democratic party is gone so long as W. J. Bryan is in control.

Greasers Will Work While Americans Rest.

City of Mexico, Nov. 6.—No previous presidential election in the United States has created such excitement and interest among all classes as the present one for business men. Bankers and manufacturers felt that Mexican interests demanded the election of McKinley. The Mexican Herald says:

"For Mexico the declaration of the American people in favor of the gold standard means continued prosperity here. It signifies large dividends for our mills and banks, thus carrying into effect many large and important undertakings for which capital would not have been obtained in the United States had Bryan been elected. The result is for the general good of Mexico."

Previous to election the gold bug press was filled with tales of the awful fate that had overtaken Kansas. And it was confidently predicted that, because of the horrors that had resulted from the defeat of the republican party, the people of that state—the only one which ever tried it—would, at the polls, emphatically repudiate "popocracy." And in Kansas there was complete repudiation—of the republican party. The yellow bellies lost the entire electoral and state tickets, the legislature, and saved only two out of eight congressmen. Kansas has a larger grand army representation in her population than any state in the union, but she still prefers "popocratic mismanagement and ruin" to the monopoly domination and corruption-run-mad policies that cursed her fair name previous to 1890 and plastered her farms and chattels with mortgage shark "evidence of prosperity."
