The draymen have donated $5 for the benefit of the locked-out Milwaukee street car employees.

One of the pleasing features of the Federation convention was the presence of Hon. W. W. Erwin.

Resolution No. 6 polled a much heavier vote than six months ago, and the socialists feel encouraged accordingly.

Duluth, as usual, carried off her share of honors. Wm. E. McEwen was elected secretary of the state Federation and James McDowell re-elected treasurer.

Duluth can justly wear the crown of victory. The socialists owe their defeat to the Duluth delegation, who voted solidly against seating the S. L. P. delegates.

The tailors union of Duluth could not afford to send a delegate to the State Federation. A letter was read at the convention, however, stating that their union voted unanimously in favor of resolution No 6.

The carpenters, at their last meeting, elected officers as follows: Delegate Aul, president; McCleary, vice-president; Heller, secretary; Gibson, treasurer. The carpenters in this city expect soon to have shorter work days and an established rate of wages.

Miss Maggie McClure, a member of the state Federation executive board, is a member of the garment workers union of St. Paul. Miss McClure, will, undoubtedly be able to do much good for her sex in the position she will hold in the Federation.

W. B. Hammond, the retiring state Federation secretary has filled that office, for several years, with the utmost satisfaction and his work has ever been above criticism. There is general regret that Mr. Hammond declined to allow his name to be used for re-election

Maceo has fired the hearts of American patriots who only await action of congress, now in session, ere they go forth to fight and die for their brothers struggling for liberty. What will congress do? The country waits, impatiently.

To Workingmen: Look for the Garment Workers' Label when buying garments of any kind, and remember that the firm of Geo. L. Swift & Co., St.

Paul, Minn., manufacturers of the "Chef Bran" of shirts, overalls, jean pants, barbers, butchers, waiters and bartenders' jackets, aprons, etc., is not a union firm, having broken every agreement with the Garment Workers' union and the St. Paul Trades Assembly. Look for the label, and buy nothing without it.

The A. A. of I. & S. Workers of West Duluth held semi-annual election of officers Dec. 5.

After being elected president consecutively for five years, W. A. Lovelace declined to serve another term. Under his administration the union has been built up to where it now stands, one of the best locals in Duluth, and his friends regret to see him give up the gavel.

H. A. Jardrow was elected president and his many friends hope he will prove as an efficient officer as his predecessor. L. J. Hollengren was re-elected as vice-president and Runnengren treasurer. F. J. Monkhouse was re-elected to his ninth term as financial secretary. C. E. Lovelace was re-elected corresponding secretary, Charles Campbell, recording secretary; J. Sustad, guide; C. Reighten, inside guard and A. Nichols as outside guard.

The union is in excellent condition; the boys are workers for true unionism and stand by their obligations. Many are out of work at present but are patiently waiting for the promised prosperity which is expected to start the furnace fires again. It is pretty tough sometimes making both ends meet but the boys have strong hearts and they show cheerful faces to the world even if luck does go against them.

Hoping the Labor World success in its efforts to elevate mankind I am a UNION MAN.
