A Word About Cheap Goods.

We keep them in some lines. Our only excuse for keeping them is that some people cannot be persuaded that high grade goods is the cheapest in the long run; for instance, we have razors as low as fifty cents, but no one would care to take the chance of getting a good one at that price when we have others that are fully warranted and can be returned if not satisfactory. It may not be generally known but there is hardly an article that we sell that is not made in three or more grades and they all look alike. How are you going to tell then what you are getting? The only way is to deal where everything that is guaranteed can be returned if unsatisfactory and your money refunded, and that place is

ALL NEW FEATURES.

THE CENTURY will continue to be in every respect the leading American magazine, its table of contents including each month the best in literature and art. The present interest in American history makes especially timely its leading serial feature for 1897 and the masterpiece of its author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. The story, "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker" purports to be the autobiography of its hero, an officer on Washington's staff. Social life in Philadelphia at the time of the Revolution is most interestingly depicted, and the characters include Washington, Franklin, Lafayette, and others well known in history. It is safe to say that the readers of this great romance will obtain from it a clearer idea of the people who were foremost in Revolutionary days, and of the social life of the times, than can be had from any other single source. The work is not only historically accurate, but is a most interesting story of love and war. The first chapters are in the November number. Howard Pyle will illustrate it.

A GREAT NOVEL

OF THE

AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

CAMPAINING WITH GRANT,

By GENERAL HORACE PORTER,

is the title of a series of articles which has been in preparation for many years. General Porter was an aide on General Grant's staff, and a close friend of his chief, and the diary which he kept through the war is the basis of the present articles, which are striking pen-pictures of campaign life and scenes. They will be fully illustrated. The first one is in the November CENTURY.

A NEW NOVEL BY MARION CRAWFORD,

author of "Mr. Isaacs," "Saracinesca," "Casa Braccio," etc., entitled "A Rose of Yesterday," a story of modern life in Europe, with American characters, begins in November. The first of a series of engravings, made by the famous wood-engraver, T. Cole, of the old English masters, also is in this issue. New features will be announced from time to time.
