RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

STEAMERS LEAVING THIS DAY.

RED WING, Capt. Smith.....ARKANSAS RIVER.
ORA, Capt.....PITTSBURG.
KENTUCKY, Capt. Lee.....VICKSBURG.

RIVER, WEATHER AND BUSINESS.—The river rose six inches at this point during the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock last evening, and four inches during the previous twenty-four hours. The Arkansas river continues to recede slowly, and the effects of the Red River, the last arrival, report twenty-four inches in Pine Bluff and twenty inches in Little Rock. White river is also falling, but the largest boats can get as far up as Augusta. The weather was very warm yesterday, with slight indications of rain, but no rain. We have rarely seen the feet so formidable as it was yesterday, and out-door business was transacted with great inconvenience. The landing was rather a dull appearance.

TELEGRAPHIC.—The Ohio at Louisville was rising rapidly last evening, with eighteen feet six inches water on the falls, and forty-nine feet water in the channel at Cincinnati.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE.—All the regular packets came in on usual hours and yesterday, including the Glendale, from Cincinnati; The Ingomar, from New Orleans; the St. Francis No. 2, from the St. Francis river; the Red Wing, from the Arkansas river; the John H. Dickey, from St. Louis; the Southerner, from Louisville, and the Kentucky, from Vicksburg. The Glendale had another heavy freight trip, aggregating about 600 tons, and a large number of passengers. She unshipped at Memphis 300 hogsheads of sugar, cotton, and that of the Red Wing's bales of the cotton. The Dickey, from St Louis, brought one of the heaviest freights of the season, consisting principally of 4,000 sacks grain. The Southerner brought 700 bbls. pork, 50 bbls. whiskey, about 100 bbls. flour, and a miscellaneous assortment of tops. The Ingomar had a long manifest, embracing one of the best freight trips of the season. The Kentucky had her lines well represented in port since Saturday. The Shiras and Wm. M. Morrison, from New Orleans, passed up yesterday morning, pretty well loaded. The Falls City arrived from St. Louis, and after discharging a quantity of freight for our merchants, left for New Orleans with the mails for the Memphis and New Orleans Packet Company.

INCIDENTS.—We furnish in our local column this morning the particulars of the collision of the steamer Lafrolette, near Lacosta, on Saturday evening, which at first was attended by the loss of three lives.....We regret to hear of the death of Mr. M. R. McDonald, late clerk of the steamer J. H. Dickey. The sad event occurred recently at the residence of his father, near Brownsville, Penn. His disease was consumption. He was an amiable gentleman and an accomplished clerk.....The usual job steamer Hallcraft, which was lost in the late gale which occasioned the loss in the Arkansas river, has been found, and on examination proves that it has been robbed of a large sum of money, which was in it at the time of the fire. The money belonged principally to Cincinnati merchants. It is said that the robbery was committed by persons who came down on the wreck, and that they are now in Little Rock, spending the money profusely. Capt. Byers leaves on the Kentucky for Napoleon, where he will join the Gladiator, in the business of Capt. Byers.....The little steamer Martin Wall arrived from New Orleans last evening, and proceeded on her way to the upper Mississippi, where she will run in future. Capt. Stewart had arrived here by rail in advance of his boat.....The steamer Tiger ran into the Red River, on Ouachita river, on Tuesday last, damaging her to the amount of $300.....Included in the freight of the Kentucky yesterday, were 12 bales and 40 pieces, consigned to Louisville.....Fifty-five bales of cotton were received at this port yesterday, fifty bales of which were from Vicksburg, and the remainder from Pine Bluff, which had been injured to the original consignees, the shipment failing to meet the expectations of consignees as to quality, etc.....The receipts of cotton by river, yesterday, aggregated 190 bales. There was but one shipment from this port yesterday, embracing 30 bales by the New Falls City, for New Orleans.....The Informer will leave for New Orleans to-morrow, at the usual hour.....The Gen. Pike was towed up to the mouth of Wolf river, Sunday, for repairs; the John Simonds with fifteen and the Mollie Dale with two, and W. Quarrier met the Interlunar, had arrived from Cincinnati late evening, but they will both be in port this morning. The Louisa Simonds will also arrive from New Orleans to-day.....Our young friend Dewitt Abbott, clerk of the Hamburg, left for Memphis in the city tax collector.....The Nashville papers, of Friday, contain the particulars of the sinking of the Commerce, by the Gen. Anderson, at Harpeth shoals, Tuesday. The Commerce was lying alongside an ice-boat at the time of the collision, waiting for the Anderson to come down coming up the channel—borne with a large which jammed in tow. In the uncertain current at this point, the Commerce was unmanageable and swung around against the Commerce, and in this manner the collision was occasioned. The Commerce sank in the main deck, but was raised. Thought she is now as low way to Pulaski.....The pilots of the upper Mississippi river are on a strike for an increase of pay. They received, last sea on, between six and eight dollars per month for running a boat and now demand six hundred dollars.....The new Mary Tome—left Louisville for New Orleans last evening.....We are indebted to Capt. J. K. Moody, of the steamer Kentucky, and to Mr. Charles F. Bowen, of the steamer Southerner, for favors.....The Little Rattle, a new boat for the Lafourche trade, was launched at Jeffersonville on Saturday.
