DEBS GOES OUT.

President of Social Democracy and His Followers Form a New Party.

At the social democracy convention held in Chicago last week, Eugene V. Debs with thirty-six delegates seceded from the organization founded by him a year ago.

One year ago when the social democracy was formed, a colonization plan was adopted as well as a political platform. In the year's experience Mr. Debs had determined that the colonization scheme was not a good one and that political action alone should be the purpose of the organization.

After a long debate colonization was upheld by a vote of 52 to 36, Debs voting with the minority. Mr. Debs, with his 36 followers, walked out of the convention and held a separate meeting when officers were elected and a political platform adopted. The following executive committee was appointed: E. V. Debs, Seymour Stedman, Victor Berger, Jessie Cox and Fred Heath.

The old organization with its 56 delegates elected an executive council of nine as follows: James Hogan, R. M. Goodwin, Isaac Frank, J. F. Lloyd, Richard J. Hinton, L. L. Hopkins, J. C. Barlund, Cyrus Field Willard and G. C. Clemens. No chairman was chosen this being left to the council. Economic, political and educational organizations were provided for, each to select its own headquarters and the whole council will decide upon national headquarters.

The division in the ranks extend to the old leaders. Of the men who were imprisoned in Woodstock jail in consequence of the great railroad strike of 1894, Eugene V. Debs and Sylvester Kelihier are in the seceding faction, while James Hogan, R. M. Goodwin and W. E. Burns adhere to the old party.

New Music.

We acknowledge receipts of a new American National Hymn, composed by Henry DeLorme, one of this country's most celebrated tenors, that has a true spirit of the times, and is full of patriotism and character. It is best suited for solo and chorus, but can be sung by either at will. It's compass is medium, but majestic, rich in harmony, simple, yet effective. This musical gem for the nation, should find its way at once into the churches, schools and homes of our glorious land of the free, and if not obtainable here, 25 cents in stamps sent to the Conover Music Co. of St. Paul will bring it to your door. The retail price of this piece is 50 cents, but this company sells all its sheet music at half price. In addition to this they announce a removal sale, and offer pianos, organs and their entire stock regardless of cost, until August 31st when they move into new quarters.

DELEGATES REPORT.

The Trades Assembly Listen to Report of Convention.

Cigarmakers Want $60 a Month Used for Label Agitation.

The assembly was well attended at the last meeting. The delegates wanted to hear about the convention at Winona. President McEwen, Delegate Leytze and others had something to tell of the successful meeting but the delegates were not satisfied and a motion was made and carried to have a written report submitted at the next meeting.

Warren Gundry was received as a delegate and afterwards selected as fraternal delegate to the West Superior Trades Assembly.

The affairs of the brewery workers seem to be somewhat complicated. The delegates reported that it might work to the disadvantage of the brewery workers if a settlement was urged at this time so it was decided to await further developments.

Walter Johnson had a complaint to make against some of the members of the carpenters' union, who are working, or are willing to work for 17 cents an hour, instead of demanding the regular price of 25 cents.

Mr. Richardson, of the carpenters' union reported that he had organized a branch of the carpenters' union in Winona while there. He is also in communication with the carpenters of Mankato, relative to organizing a union there. Mr. Richardson also informed the meeting that a union of flour mill employes at Crookston will soon be organized.

A communication was received from the local branch of cigarmakers favoring the donation of $5.00 per month by twelve unions or $1.00 per month by sixty unions to use for union label agitation. The matter was discussed but nothing definite done.

A delegate from the painters and decorators asked assistance in bringing the employers to time. No definite action was taken.

The feasibility of hiring a walking delegate was discussed. It was opposed by some of the delegates.

Things took a political turn for a little while and it was decided to boycott all nominees for office who are in any way opposed to organized labor and its advancement. An effort will be made to have each nominee commit himself on the question before election time.

The reports of delegates were as follows: Plasterers, poor; butchers, all right; carpenters, all working; cigarmakers, all employed; brewers, busy; boilermakers, all right; printers, dull; agents, all prosperous; street car employes, machinists, and shoemakers, all right; woodworkers, in hard condition; musicians, dull; longshoremen, employed; laundry workers, all working; plumbers, fair; sawmill workers, prospering with addition of 20 members each week; job pressmen, good. All bills were allowed.

Elect Officers.

The cigarmakers elected the following officers at their last meeting. President, Nels Anderson; vice-president, Ed Schbiski; corresponding and recording secretary, Julius Dworschak; Financial secretary, A. Paulson, Sergeant-at-arms, Al Fish. Delegates to Trades Assembly: A. Paulson, L. Weismiller and Wm. Garland. Delegates to Label League: Julius Dworschak, Wm. Garland and Arthur McQuirk.

Did Not Vote.

J. S. McCormick, a member of the street car employes' union, wishes us to state that he had nothing to do with the place of meeting for the holding of caucuses in his ward. When he found the meeting was in Mogler's butcher shop he refused to vote.

Mogler's shop is on the unfair list.
