Those Black Eyes.
"The small son of the people," says the Philadelphia Record, "and his little sister were inside the great West Philadelphia church for the first time. 'Um—m—my! but it's a beaut place,' he whispered. 'I bet people wot belong here comes every time dey can.' Her breath came to her in little gasps. Her soiled little finger pressed on his with thrilled intensity. Her eyes feasted on the splendid chancel. 'Heaven mus' be nex' door,' she said. They hardly moved throughout the service, and never once let go each other's hands, for it was as a strange laud. At last the sweet voiced procession of choir boys came down the aisle. At its head was a slim young seraph, with a face as fair and pure as the linen he wore. Faint, dark circles beneath his eyes completed the ethereal effect. 'Is dem angels?' the little girl began, but stopped short, surprised at the look on her brother's face. 'Dat kid in front's Bill Griggs, wot I licked last week fer swipin' t'ings from ole Mrs. Maguire's apple stand. He ain't got over dem black eyes I gey 'im yet. Come on, let's git out.' His face was stern and set as they went. She furtively wiped a tear."

Field and the Street Arabs.
McClure's Magazine relates the following anecdote of Eugene Field, whose fondness for children was his dominant trait:
Never was a man more devoted to his wife. Nevertheless on the day that made her his he was guilty of keeping her waiting for him at the church. The bridal party had assembled and were rapidly becoming uneasy. At length, after an anxious delay, some one went out in search of the missing bridegroom. He was found on the street a short distance away, down on his knees in the mud, absorbed in settling a dispute between two small street Arabs, which had arisen over a game of marbles. Listening with eager interest to the testimony vociferated at either ear by the belligerent parties and their friends and trying to evolve a peace compromise out of a very lively quarrel, he was abruptly reminded that just then he had something more important to attend to, and hastened penitently away to make his anxious bride Mrs. Field.

She Was Unduly Excited.
Bishop Selwuy was a hard worker and never spared himself. He was one day seizing an hour's much needed sleep on the bench of a little roadside station in Derbyshire, en route for a confirmation. A lady of some social distinction and her daughter were on their way to the same rite, the daughter as a confirmation. They went to the solitary porter and said they were afraid to pass the drunken man on the platform, to which the porter replied in tones of much solemnity, "If you please, my lady, it's the lord bishop!"—Mainly About People.

England's "Rose Regiment."
The custom of wearing roses in their headgear by the Lancashire regiment on the anniversary of the battle of Menden originated in a curious manner. On the day of the battle, Aug. 1, 1759, the men passed through a field of roses, each man plucking a rose and placing it in his bonnet, wearing the flower during the fight. This commenced the custom which obtains at the present day of wearing roses on the anniversary of the battle.

And whereas, the said Wakefield Institution for Savings, has duly elected and does hereby elect to exercise the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained, and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one hundred and sixty-five dollars and forty cents, and whereas the said power of sale provided in said mortgage, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, except an action at law upon the mortgage bond secured by said mortgage, in which said action judgment was duly rendered in the sum of four thousand one hundred ninety-two and twenty-three hundredths dollars, upon which judgment an execution was duly issued and thereupon, on October 13, 1898, returned unsatisfied except as to the sum of nine hundred thirty-one and thirty hundredths dollars, leaving a balance due of the date of the said sum of twenty-two hundred and sixty-five and forty hundredths dollars.
Now, therefore, notice is hereby, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: Lot numbered two hundred and seventy six (276) of block thirty four (34), Duluth proper, Second Division of Duluth, in the said County of St. Louis, according to the recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereto, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 10th day of December, 1898, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of twenty-two hundred and sixty-five and forty hundredths dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage, and the costs incurred and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.
