A FINE FACT—That Seidel' Pale Cream Ale is the best manufactured in the United States. Ale is the most delicious and liquor manufactured, and when brewed from a good stock is not the rank, bitter, black, nauseating stuff usually called Ale, but a pleasant, palatable, slightly stimulating aromatic and mild beverage, pronounced by physicians and physicists as healthy and nourishing to most people and many invalids. Such is Seidel' Pale Cream Ale, which is acknowledged by the physicians and citizens of Memphis to be an invaluable institution, and imported virgin or unmixed from any other beverages. DEATH OF WM. A. KELLY.—We stated on Sunday that a young man named William A. Kelly, a member of Invincible fire company No. 5 from Louisville, had been injured at the fire Saturday night, and received such injuries as would doubtless cause his death. The young man expired until a late hour on Sunday evening, when death relieved him from his sufferings. It is a source of gratification to know that the young man's unfortunate received a short time before his death, and that he conversed rationally and intelligibly with his friends in his last moments. The distance was twenty-six years of age, and has resided in Louisville, Kentucky, in his youth, being nearly related to J. G. McCain, of that city. The remains were interred yesterday, and were followed to the tomb by the fire department of the city.

THE FIRE SATURDAY NIGHT.—In our Sunday edition we stated briefly that the fire on Saturday night, between Main and Front streets, was caused by the burning of a stable belonging to Messrs. Saffarans & Stratton, and that the loss was about $12,000, divided as follows: Messrs. Atten, Rice, on building, $5,000; the Messrs. Jones, of the ballard saloon, $1,000; Mercantile Depot & Co., $1,500; Saffarans & Stratton, stock, $2,000; Dr. Dr. Orgill, clerk at Farnsworth & Co's, $1,000; Geo. Woodruff, dealer in agricultural implements, $1,200; Geo. H. Shelvell, dealer in pianos and sewing machines, $800; Memphis Gas Light & Water Co., $100; Messrs. Saffarans & Stratton, $400; and others in various small amounts aggregating about $800 more; making the total loss about $23,000. The policies of insurance are divided between the Phoenix of Hartford, the Phoenix of New York, and a St. Louis office. The fire was so much the work of an incendiary.

RIOTOUS PROCEEDINGS.—It has been evident for some time to our city citizens that a difficulty has been brewing between certain members of our fire department, and that some plan for a resort to personal violence was imminent. This violence was inaugurated at the fire on Court street, at which time there was a difficulty between members of the companies No. One, Three, Five and Six. The row on Sunday ended without serious injury to any of the belligerents. Again at the fire Saturday evening in Mr. Martin's stable, there was a difficulty between members of the No. Three and No. Six, in the confusion of which the Sixes got possession of the No. Three's engine, and forced it into the house. At the time alarm of fire Sunday afternoon, the Sixes, with the engine, left the house, and, in order of alarms and bells rung, where a general fist-cuffed. In this last encounter, pistols were fired, and brickbats were sold freely by the combatants. One man, a shoemaker, received a pistol shot, the ball taking effect in the leg. He was carried home in a hack, and by the wheels of one of the engines. Then serious injury ensued, he was taken up and sent to the hospital for treatment. Three or four other persons were shot, but none received serious injuries.

A few weeks ago, the Sixes, with the Fives, made an attack on the members of the No. Six, for temporary detained possession of the apparatus belonging to the No. Three, and succeeded in its their own engine-house. The engine in question was taken out of the house, and, with the company hatted, the wheels revolving several rifle from an ax in the hands of an exasperated fireman. The members of the two companies now held a parley, but we did not learn the official result. The Sixes, however, succeeded in getting down somewhat, and the keys of the houses of fire companies No. Six and Three were demanded and obtained by the major, and placed in the hands of Capt. Garrett, of the police. Now that our Common Council are in extraordinary session, we trust that they will be governed by their wisdom and better judgments, that with the fire department in such a state, it is not safe to call upon citizens may be averted in future. For the sake of truth, and the fair fame of our city, it is proper that we should state that the belligerents who participated in the riotous conduct detailed above, were not recruited by the great body of our firemen.

At a meeting of the board of aldermen called by the mayor last evening, a quorum of the board was appointed to confer with a committee from the fire department in reference to the difficulties at present existing between certain members of the department.

The City Council.

Council met last night in extra session, the president in the chair. There was a large crowd of spectators, apparently firemen, present in the chair.

The mayor announced that the object of the meeting was to discuss the action of the late ball between fire companies No. 3 and 6; and to fix the rate of compensation to be received by the aldermen during the ward improvements.

Ald. Leland moved that the board, before doing other business, select a successor to the retiring aldermen of the Second ward.

Ald. Rhodes, M. Morgan, and Wm. Curtis were put in nomination.

On a ballot, Morgan received 7 votes; Morgan 6; Curtis 1. M. Morgan, Esq., was declared elected to the vacant seat.

ALDERMEN RAISE THEIR PAY.

Propositions were made as follows on the annual pay of aldermen: Rider proposed $100; he thought, in the embarrassed condition of the city's finances, it of $50 was sufficient. Ald. Rice, $200 per year. Perkins proposed $300; Tigre, $200; Farris, $250. On a vote, the motion raised from $100, the present salary, to $200, subject to a veto of the mayor.

WATER WORKS COMMISSIONERS.

Ald. Dowse announced that Mr Nelson declined to act as commissioner of the water works. The following gentlemen were put in nomination: Messrs. Ald. Rider, Q. C. Atkinson, S. S. Boyd, T. Tomes, Judge Baker, Dr. Shields, and Mr. Wood-off. Ald. Rider then said he was a candidate. On a vote, Mr. Woodruff was elected.

THE FIRE HOSE.

Ald. Thornell offered a resolution that the contractor or holder of the hose be requested to notify the company No. 6, be regarded as an outrage against the property of the city, and such as cannot be tolerated by this board. Also resolved that company No. 6 disbanded, and their engine and engine house be boarded up. Very few, if any, entertained the opinion that the board had no control over the matter of the riot, so far as regarded who were the aggressors of the difficulty; it had only to act upon a matter of fact. He should have offered the resolution if the hose had been taken from the city, and, for a late fire he had himself seen the sixes throwing water at members of another company to prevent them from working. The city had no use for a company which would conduct in this way at a fire to attack another company. He knew something of the action he was discussing, as he himself had been a fireman for thirteen years. The Sixes might or might not be in the wrong in their difficulty with the Threes, but they plainly had no right to destroy the property of another company.

Ald. Perkins offered the following resolution:

Resolved by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Memphis, That a committee of five be appointed to sit in board consisting of the mayor, the city attorney, the president of the Firemen and Fire Department, and the chief of the fire department, whose duty it shall be to investigate the facts and circumstances relating to the late riot between the fire companies No. 3 and 6, and report to this board at the first meeting thereafter the result of the investigation.

Resolved further: That said committee be clothed with the power necessary to compel the attendance of all witnesses that may seem proper to have before them, and also to require the services of any competent officer they may deem proper in the discharge of the duties herein assigned them.

Ald. Tomlinson was of opinion that all investigation belonged to the fire department, and not to the board. The fact that an engine belonged to the city and in care of the No. Six had been injured, was all it had anything to do with, and he hoped it would stand up equal to its duty. He had been among the Sixes quite a little, and explaining the companies from running their engines upon the side walks. The Sixes disregarded it, and when it was stopped they said they would run over and the board summoned to their defense. He would also like to see the board have no power to call men from insurance companies and others.

Mr. Morgan, as the oldest member of the chamber and took the motion and his seat.

Ald. Tigre was opposed to the views of the last speaker; he did not believe in condemning the No. 6 fire company, unheard. It was well known and could be proved that men had thrown at the engine who were not members of that company. How does the council know the cause of all this affair? He would arrest from the position of the engine, that the sixes were not the aggressors. The night before the fight, the mayor had desired them not to go to the fire on Monroe street, and they had obeyed. He made the fifteen to be a good, orderly, energetic, effective company. [Applause from the spectators.] The Threes were also firemen; the company was a good one and much esteemed. If one is suspected suspect the other, but if the Sixes are stopped the part of the city in which they act is left unprotected from fire. He was in favor of a full investigation and placing the blame where it is due.

Ald. Perkins did not think it the duty of council to inquire who was to blame for the origin of the difficulty, but to see to their agents a warmer act. The Destruction of the engine in the Sixes engine house was enough to lead him to that and any other company that would act in the same manner. [Some applause from spectators.] The company allowed remove tools with them and do as they pleased, but they should not be responsible for those acts. The speaker did not believe that the Sixes cut that engine, they had the effrontery to be in the position of "pots the Ethel." They were caught in the company. Members of the Six company stood by and allowed the engine to be injured, when it was in duty to protect the property of the city. He spoke independent of fear of any man or set of men. There had been a serious act of aggression committed, yet such proceedings be stopped now, as the first occasion arises of the kind. He did not think he should hold a place at the board long, but while he was there he would stand up for law and order.

Ald. Bennett said in a matter like this, council had to act as judges. It had to refer before it, and the disease also was wholly out of order. He wanted no ex parte statements. When he had proper evidence, he would be ready to judge. He cared the point of order as to whether it was just to speak of this company doing this and that and the other, when no testimony had been taken in the case.

Ald. Dougherty proposed to omit this matter where it belongs, to the board of fire wardens.

Ald. Rhodes observed that it was certain that a wounded and a very grave one, had been committed, but he was opposed to throwing blame upon any one until investigation had shown who was the aggressor. He opposed the resolution, which will be published to-morrow.

Ald. Dougherty moved to send the matter to the fire department and council committee. There was much antipathy in this matter; it was natural, for the feelings of the human heart would bubble over. He much regretted that such an unfortunate affair by or against retarding about have taken place, but for the he would favor a full investigation.

[The pressure of the crowd at this point was so great that the speaker had to suspend until order was restored. Several members were desirous of adjourning to the criminal court room.]

Ald. Dougherty asked what the board of fire wardens were for, if not to take cognizance of such occurrences as this?

Ch. Tigre stated that he had learned that the engine of the No. Six was not injured in the No. Six engine house, but on the ground.

Ald. Dougherty stated that Ald. Farris could with to condemn the No. Six for doing a thing he acknowledged they had not done. He said he believed not a member of the company had laid hand on the engine? [Cheers and disapprobation on the spectators.]

Ald. Farris explained that the members of the company permitted the act to be done.

Ald. Donahue continued. He was not a candidate for office and did not expect to be. [Noise and interruption.] Some big aldermen had said that the act of the company rightfully to save their fellow-citizens property from destruction, right to early down. He asked who was without fault in that assembly? Take the carriet of the Sentinel—[an hilarious laugh]—he wished, not from the death. The young man injured until a late hour on Sunday evening, when death relieved him from his sufferings. It is a source of gratification to know that the young man's unfortunate received a short time before his death, and that he conversed rationally and intelligibly with his friends in his last moments. The deceased was twenty-six years of age, and has resided in Louisville, Kentucky, in his youth, being nearly related to J. G. McCain, of that city. The remains were interred yesterday, and were followed to the tomb by the fire department of the city.
