Cheering News to the Afflicted.

GENTLEMEN of science may speculate and theorize, but facts are worth more to the afflicted than all the theories the world ever produced.

DR. A. G. GOODLETS

Improved Hooch's Panacea.

Is acknowledged by all who have given it a trial, to be one of the best medicines ever used for the cure of all diseases arising from a disordered stomach, or an impure state of the blood. Its wonderful curative powers are performed in the "Panacea" in the city of Nashville and vicinity, and in every section of the country where it has been introduced, to a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy.

The Rev. J. C. Bowden, of McMinnville, Tenn., speaks thus:

DR. A. G. GOODLETT—Dear Sir: It may be gratifying to you to hear that Hooch's Panacea, prepared and sold by you, is doing its good work in the midst of your rival now. During my recent travels in several counties in Middle Tennessee, I have observed, that those who have used it, for cutaneous eruptions, or "Itch" in the last extremity, have never used it." It has been very useful to me in one of bronchitis, brought on by preaching in the cold air and laborious in restless. Please make an agent (this place). Very respectfully,

J. C. BOWDEN.

BOAT HANDS DROWNED.—We heard yesterday of the death of two deck-hands by drowning, from two of our most popular boats. A fireman named Ryan, from Louisville, fell overboard from the Atlantic in the Ohio river on Friday, and another was lost from the New Uncle Sam below Helena, Saturday.

A CHANCE.—R. Whitesides & Co. at 10 o'clock this morning will offer for sale a fresh and sound lot of groceries, coffee, tea, sugar, spices, raisins, fruits, pickles, tobacco, brooms and other articles. This will be a fine chance for housekeepers—excellent purchases may be secured.

Carpenters, builders and others who should feel an interest in such labor-saving machines, will find this one on exhibition at Orgill, Brothers & Co.'s and McCombs & Co.'s.

COLD BLOODED ASSASSINATION.—Mr. Jas. Keith, from this city, a well known lever contractor in Tunica county, was killed by two of his laborers, at the works last Saturday week. They attacked him with their spades, with which implements they did the fatal work. The body of deceased was brought to this city by the steamer St. Francis No. 3, Sunday. The murderers made their escape.

EXTRAORDINARY CONDUCT.—A number of refractory persons created considerable excitement in the south end of Union and Shelby streets last evening. A young man fired a pistol in the street, which inaugurated a general row. During the evening Mr. Eugene Mallory, a policeman, was severely assaulted, and two old citizens, Col. Latham and Wardlow Howard, were knocked down while attempting to restore order.

NEW BOOKS.

THE CONSTABLE'S GUIDE, being a practical treatise of the powers, duties and liabilities of constables in the State of Tennessee, both in civil and criminal proceedings, with approved forms adapted to every service and duty required. To which is added an appendix, containing the laws of Tennessee relating to peace warrants, assignments, wills, etc., with a variety of reliable business forms. By W. C. Kain, Esq. Published by J. A. Rayl, Knoxville, and for sale at Cleaves & Vaden's, Main street.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The June term of this tribunal, Judge McKinnon presiding, convened at nine o'clock yesterday morning. No business of importance was transacted beyond the organization of the grand jury, which is composed of the following names: George Patterson foreman, L. P. Seay, N. L. Lawrence, A. D. Wheelock, Newberry Gibson, A. Moorehead, P. J. Copeland, M. A. Miller, C. J. Selden, Michael Maginney, Ben Morgan, M. C. King, and Young F. Marney. The court will meet at the usual hour this morning.

ALD. TOWNSEND.—Ald. Townsend, the present active alderman of the fourth ward, announces that he is a candidate for re-election. We have watched his course in council, and know him to be among the first for direct, open, straightforward action. We never heard him make a speech for buncum, or knew him behind in attending to the interests of his immediate constituents. Above all he is independent, neither being allured by flattery nor daunted by opposition or threats. In saying this, we are not attempting to depreciate Ald. Townsend's opponents, but are rendering an act of simple justice.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—A destructive fire occurred on Jackson street, between Main and Market yesterday, which destroyed buildings and property to the value of about $5,000. The fire originated in the cotton pickery of D. McCombs & Co., destroying the building and contents, and communicating with a row of one-story frame dwellings, the property of Samuel Carpenter, Esq., and Dr. E. Miles Willett. The adjoining buildings were saved, from the fact that the cotton pickery was covered with a peculiar kind of elastic roofing which was wholly non-combustible. The fire originated in the cotton pickery, and was the result of accident. Messrs. McCombs & Co's loss is about $6,000, upon which they have an insurance of $4,000 in the office of the Liverpool and London Insurance Company. Neither Mr. Carpenter nor Dr. Willett had any insurance upon their buildings, and their joint loss is about $1,200. A number of families were rendered houseless by the occurrence.

A Crazy Governor and a Maniacal Government.—The Governor of Missouri, one Stewart, who is said to be a liquid-fire eater," and who occasionally if not oftener, absorbs a torch light procession, which is supposed to excite his nervous system and to affect his official acts, retired not many months since a bill passed by the Missouri Legislature granting aid to the Memphis and St. Louis (Iron Mountain) railroad. We have never been of that number who believed that the construction of the Mobile & Ohio, and the Mississippi Central roads would injuriously affect the prosperity of Memphis, yet we conceive that Governor Stewart has done more to injure this city than any one man, living or dead. Nothing would more certainly add to our wealth and population than direct railway communication with the inexhaustible iron mines of southern Missouri, where there are five great mountains of the purest ore, varying from two hundred to six hundred feet in height, and covering an area of many thousand acres and extending downward to unknown depths. St. Genevieve is the point whence the products of these mines is shipped north and south. To that place it is transported in wagons from forty to fifty miles. There would be twenty thousand people among these inexhaustible mountains of iron in two years after a road reached them from Memphis, and this would eventually become the greatest manufacturing city on the continent, and the depot for iron as well as cotton—two articles of commerce without which America and England would, in one or two generations, relapse into barbarism. Memphis would furnish a depot and market for iron preferable to St. Louis, for the simple reason that iron could at all seasons of the year reach the ocean by cheaper mode of transportation than from St. Louis. A railway connection with the iron region of Missouri would prove almost as advantageous to Memphis, by forcing the extension of all manufacturing establishments, by doubling our population, by developing the trade and resources of a most productive country, now useless to us, by connecting us with St. Louis and Kansas, and with all the rapidly growing region of the North-west. We have every reason to believe that some man fitted for the office will be substituted for this man Stewart; that Arkansas will aid us; and that Memphis having now, by subsidy of expenditures of a city no small in area, secured the completion of a road to Little Rock, to Charleston and New Orleans, will, for the future, be governed by wiser legislators than he who reigns in Missouri. We have adverted on former occasions to the effects of the railroads converging at Columbus and Cairo, from Mobile and New Orleans. We have tapped these roads at points north, east and south of us. So far as their effects being injurious to Memphis, they will develop the resources of the interior country penetrate and enrich its nearest and best market—the city of Memphis. We have only to elect a board of aldermen who have the capacity to comprehend the true interests of the city—men who will not make "more ado about nothing" and dodge and squirm over a fireman's riot or a mud-hole; who will refer questions to the people in reference to which they are unprovided to act because they fear to take the responsibility; enlightened gentlemen who can reason from the history of the past, and penetrate the future, should control our municipal government, whose legislation involves more than all that has been intrusted for years to the general assembly of Tennessee.

What the City Government should do—The Effects of our Railroads.

The article in another place entitled "A Crazed Governor and Maniacal Government," contains some plain truths in reference to the future destiny of this city. With the extension of our railroad system by any means or in any direction, or by any connection made with other roads, whether designed or not to destroy the prosperity of this city, must now prove advantageous to it. To obviate the real or imaginary evils to arise from the roads running north and south fifty miles east of us we have nearly built a road to Louisville, and one direct to New Orleans. We are at the head of perpetual navigation on the Mississippi, which connects us with an empire of States and with countless cities. We can ship cotton to New York by railroad for less than it can be transported from New Orleans. We command the northern, and New Orleans the southern cotton trade. There is nothing now apparent in the course of trade or in the results or changes produced by railroads that is not surely advantageous to Memphis. We believe that half a million of cotton bales will be sold here next year, if the crop is equal to that of 1858-59, and that this city will continue to grow with unprecedented rapidity. Thus, therefore, during the panic in the money market, when timid men tremble at a shadow, when competition does not exist, when best and dust keep off the [illegible], when only property that must be sold is forced on the market, this is the time to invest in city and suburban property. The Lomphin tract is admirably located, just east of the city and extending from the old to the new State-line road, the time given running through three years. The great size of the lots adapt them to the purpose of gardening, and for residences render this a most attractive sale. The whole of the tract will be sold at 10 o'clock on to-morrow. Omnibuses will leave the office of Monsarrat, Dupree & Co., to carry purchasers to the property.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

Arrival of the North Briton.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The steamship North Briton, Capt. Grange, of the Montreal ocean steamship line, passed Farther Point, Canada East, to-day, on her way from Liverpool to Quebec. She sailed from Liverpool on Wednesday, the 30th, and touched at Queenstown on the 31st ult., where the latest advices by telegraph from Liverpool were obtained.

The steamship City of Washington, which sailed from New York for Liverpool on the 19th ult., arrived at Queenstown on the 31st.

The steamship Bohemian arrived at Queenstown on the 31st ult., from Quebec.

The steamer Persia, from New York to Southampton, put into Queenstown on the 29th ult., having sustained serious injury to her machinery.

Advices received by telegraph from Sicily represent the report that Garibaldi had defeated the royal troops, and entered Palermo, but this remains unconfirmed.

The Paris Patrie says, "The insurrectionists are organizing in Sicily, and the fall of Palermo is only considered a question of time.

General Garibaldi declares that Sicily shall be annexed to Italy as soon as the insurgents take Palermo.

Official dispatches received at Naples, from Sicily, claim the defeat and flight of the insurgents.

The latest advices from Italy are favorable to General Garibaldi.

The insurgents were still occupying the hights near Palermo.

An official dispatch received at Naples, dated the 26th ult., says: The insurgents have been driven from their position at Baron, with great loss; one column has gone in pursuit of them in the direction of Misc.

Advices from Messina represent the people as being tranquil, but they were ready for an out-break in case General Garibaldi should enter Palermo, of which little doubt was entertained.

The Garibaldi's force has increased from fifteen to forty thousand men.

An intercepted dispatch from the general of the royal forces in Sicily to Naples says: The losses sustained by the royal troops in the recent engagements with the insurrectionists amount to twenty-three hundred, killed and wounded, out of five thousand.

Another dispatch from Sicily says: Troops in large numbers are leaving Gen. Garibaldi's army, who has again been beaten at Piano. The insurgents are in full flight, and are being pursued beyond Corleone.

Advices from the provinces say that everything is tranquil and that the revolutionist forces are becoming disconcerted. The Danzig Solicus, published at Naples, says portions of Gen. Garibaldi's troops have been routed, and he is endeavoring to find a place of embarkation. The rebels turned upon each other in fearful fury.

The Chamber of Deputies at Sicily are very distractedly and inconsistently. Several dispatches received from Sicily say that Gen. Garibaldi entered Palermo on the 26th ult., these were, however, considered unreliable.

SARDINIA.—A telegraphic dispatch from Turin announces that the Sardinian chamber of deputies have approved of the cession of Savoy and Nice to France.

It was reported that France and Russia have agreed to the partition of Turkey, and that a share would be offered to England if it was ascertained that it would be accepted.

Advices received at San Francisco from Japan state that Prince Guitara, the head of the Japanese government, had been assassinated.

Two of the assassins were princes of high rank, who together with thirty others have been beheaded.

The new dynasty which is opposed to foreign commerce is likely to be overthrown by this insurrectionary movement, headed by Prince Mito, who is resident consul also at Japan, and is strongly in favor of a treaty with the United States.

Commercial Matters.

MEMPHIS DAILY APPEAL OFFICE, TUESDAY, June 12, 1860.

COTTON.—The market was extremely dull yesterday, and offered no feature of interest to report.

Inferior.....	8 @ 8¼	Middling.....	10 @10¼
Ordinary.....	9 @ 9¾	Good Middling...	11 @11¼
Good Ordinary..	9 @ 9¾	Middling Fair...	11¼@11¾
Low Middling...	10 @ 10	Fair.....	Nominal.

GENERAL BUSINESS.—We are now in the full intensity of the dull season, and our business streets and our merchants' offices exhibit a marked contrast to their usual busy appearance. The only articles claiming special attention from changes of price, are coffee, sugar and cotton. Groceries, drugs and dry goods are still very quiet.

PROVISIONS.—The demand is fair for the season, with great firmness at quotations.

COFFEE.—As will be seen by referring to our New Orleans quotations, the stock of coffee in that city is low, with very light arrivals. We now quote fair to good fair at 11¼@12¼c. and prime 14¼c., with small stocks.

SUGAR.—The important single, as will be seen also by referring to the above quotations, is becoming scarce; the price is very firm at our quotations.

FLOUR.—The market is dull, with easier prices.

CORN.—The free, estimated market that has for some months enabled for corn, is over; the late rain we hear had had not proved so favorable to corn in earth as to that in the stalk. The demand has largely fallen off; stockers larger than was ever before known in the city at this time. Corn is rolling a bushel lower than on last week; it was selling on the levee yesterday at 65c.

HAY.—A small demand at unchanged quotations.

LARD.—Very active at unchanged quotations.

BACON.—Little doing; we nominally leave our quotations of green called. There is nothing coming in and no demand.

LUMBER.—There is little or nothing doing in the wholesale trade; the retail delight.

COTTON—REVIEW OF THE WEEK.—Cotton has been very dull during the week, and sales have been very light. Receipts slightly exceed to little over 200 bales. The European news has not been favorable during the week. Our telegraphic dispatch contains the intelligence brought by the North Briton, the last arrival from England, it shows cotton to be dull, with irregular prices. The Manchester news, however, is favorable, and manufactured goods and yarns are firm; while that is the case, cotton cannot seriously decline. In the New Orleans market during the last week, a decline of ¼ in fair was experienced. By far the greater portion of our sales, 1,600, has been just north and east; we are not, therefore, absolutely governed by the New Orleans change; still cotton in our market has a downward tendency.

The receipts and shipments last week were as follows:

Receipts.		Shipments.
By river.....	244	To New Orleans.....	3
Charleston railroad....	397	Ohio river.....	3995
Memphis railroad.....	1,000	St. Louis.....	6,000
Odin railroad.....	80
	1,721		10,998
	356

The receipts of the week ending June 1, 1859, were 2,325 bales, and the corresponding week last year. The total receipts since 1st of September have been 97,898 bales, against 95,139 same period last year.

Total exports since Sept. 1, 1859, have been 97,898 bales, against 95,139 last year.

Stock on hand Friday evening, 34,778 bales, against 38,183 same period last year.

Sugar.—The receipts of sugar continue very light and there not with ready sales at advancing prices. The sales of the week have embraced about 1,500 hhds. of first kinds, including 10 to-day, and the market closes very firm at our quotations, the highest quotations being for fair to prime.

Interior and Refining.....	5 @5½
Common to Good Common.....	6 @7
Fair to Fully Fair.....	7½@8
Prime to Choice.....	8½@9
Yellow Clarified.....	9 @9½
Low Clarified.....	9½@10

The sales for the corresponding week last year embraced about 1,000 hhds., and the market closed at 5¾@6¾.

Molasses.—With continued light receipts and only a moderate demand, the market for this article has been confined to about 1,500 bbls. at a range of 22@23c. for common, and 25@27c. for prime. The sales for the week have footed up about 3,000 bbls., and the market closes with a good tone.

Bacon.—With continued light receipts and only a moderate demand, the market for this article has been confined to about 1,500 bbls. at a range of 22@23c. for common, and 25@27c. for prime. The sales for the week have footed up about 3,000 bbls., and the market closes with a good tone.

The Memphis Carriage may be seen until the day of sale at N. S. Byne & Co.'s shop, on Monroe street.
