DULUTH

July Day will soon be here and members of organized labor know the time for need of urgent work on all of the success of the greatest event among them will be far ahead. Indeed, the time even now for disposal of these preparations one too long. Preparations can be red upon at once.

The July meetings of the unions are being placed. They should not be allowed to pass away without steps being taken to provide for the mass of dead work there will be to do. Few have not been actively engaged at this time or another in this work knowing about the extent and importance of the details that have to be attended to.

labor organizations in Duluth have sh at stake. The demonstration then makes will be their final century of the nineteenth century. They must show their strength and significance in the community. They must be in a position to assure to their ends and adherents an occasion soplete with enjoyment and so full of nificance for the future of the vement that words of commendation will alone be heard.

of the unions will take this subject at their meetings the work can be re completely and satisfactorily e than is otherwise can be. There ut a short time in which to com the necessary arrangements. ere are committees and sub-committees to be appointed. There are man arrangements to be made for a cessful parade if it is decided to e one. On that one day society I turn its thoughts and eyes on rized labor. We must work in order t it may see and understand the trendous force which it has to deal h in the future.

We must not be behind. The demand is upon us that we shall present such a complete program and such an impressive appearance before our fellow citizens on our own day that there will be no question left in the minds of the people of Duluth as to the importance of the relation which we bear to the industrial and social life of the city.

We note with pleasure that J. P. Jeckell, who was secretary of the Duluth Street Railway employees union for several years and an active and earnest worker in all labor movements, has been appointed Deputy Weightmaster under Mr. H. B. Moore. Mr. Jeckell is in every way worthy and competent and is deserving of this recognition at the hands of the present administration. Mr. Moore is to be congratulated for surrounding himself with men like Mr. Jeckell.

James N. Murphy has received an appointment in the state grain department. Jimmy is a member of the Walter's union and has many friends who will be pleased to learn of his good fortune. He will fit the position with credit to himself and his supporters. He was secretary of the Duluth Trades Assembly for several terms.

A Proved Political Crime.
Foreseeing the possibility of disturbance and in order to be prepared for any emergency, General Peppin, governor of Minnesota, where the president is to be buried, has taken important precautionary measures and has ordered that arms and ammunition be forwarded to him from Santo Domingo.

Advices from Santiago received here at a late hour say that the situation is becoming more serious.

Appointed a Lieutenant.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—William O. Smith, son of the late Colonel Smith of the quartermaster's department, has been appointed a second lieutenant in the regular army, subject to examination.

See the girls in another column carrying large baskets of grapes to a winery in Portugal for making wine. It is worth reading about. Speer of New Jersey makes wine from the same grape. His wines are unsurpassed by any in the world.

VALUABLE IN CHANGEABLE WEAT.
People are benefitted by the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine, especially ladies. It purifies the blood and makes their eyes shine like stars.

The Retail Clerks' union is getting to the front and by Labor Day expects to have 200 members in the parade. At the last regular meeting 120 names were on the roll call. Every clerk is a hustler for organization and other unions can profit by the example set by the clerks.

The Breweryworkers' union report a scheme on foot by the local breweries to break up their organization by putting in non-union men in place of union men. This action of the bosses is not favorably received and may cause considerable trouble. The Breweryworkers' union, though not large in membership, is strong financially, and could put up a good fight most any time.

Two meetings for the organization of a teamsters' union were held last week and it is hoped they will be in line Labor Day.

The following resolution was passed by the Trades and Labor assembly at its regular meeting Tuesday evening: Whereas, Organized labor in general and the Trades and Labor assembly in particular, enjoys the respect, good will and confidence of our merchants and public in general, and Whereas, There seems to be a system in vogue of pasting boycott stickers on the windows of merchants and people against whom we have no grievance, and Whereas, Such action can only lead to the loss of the respect and confidence that we now enjoy, and tend to minimize if not totally destroy the effectiveness of the fights of all organized labor for justice and their rights, therefore be it

Resolved, By the Trades and Labor assembly of Superior, that we are utterly and unalterably opposed to such actions and heartily condemn it by either union or individual, and be it further

Resolved, That if any union or member thereof persists in this obnoxious and unfair practice, the union for which stickers are distributed shall be disqualified and their delegates suspended from the assembly until such person is punished to the satisfaction of the Trades and Labor assembly, either by a fine of not less than $5.00 or otherwise, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published and spread on the minutes.

At the assembly meeting Tuesday evening Organizer McEwen of Duluth was given a roast for signing his name to an article which appeared in the Superior papers stating that the Duluth Brewing and Malting company was a strictly union brewery. It is claimed that no brewery can be a union brewery until a contract has been signed between the employer and employes and several other rules and regulations compiled with. As the delegate from Duluth was not present Tuesday evening it was not known whether the breweryworker's charter had arrived or not.

The Superior Trades and Labor assembly will endeavor to make the Labor day celebration this year the biggest one ever seen in this city. It will extend invitations to several of the neighboring cities, asking the labor associations to send their people to Superior to join in one grand blowout.

The cities which will be invited to join with Superior are Ashland, Bayfield, Washburn, Iron River, Hurley and Ironwood. So far the labor unions at these places have not arranged for any local celebrations and it is thought that they will be glad to add the excursion feature to their holiday sports. It is well known that Superior can well take care of all the visitors that will accept the invitation, and if the schemes go through it is expected that the visitors will number by the thousands. There are a large number of men working in the sawmills and mines of these places who will undoubtedly come of their organizations accept Superior's invitation.

It is the expectation that special trains will be provided to bring the visitors here. They will be run early in the morning, so as to allow the passengers to get here in time to participate in the street parade. The parade will include representatives from all the labor organizations, and a speciality will be made of the float feature. All the principal industries and factories in the city will be asked to put in representations of that character.

The assembly voted to hold the sports and picnic at Nemadji Park, that place being chosen on account of its nearness to the city and the better facilities for getting out there.

The following committee on arrangements was named: J. S. Konkol, S. J. Anderson, George Bort, C. U. Royal, Otto Winkler, George Parker, and E. G. Harris.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President C. G. Royal; vice president, A. Longbottom; corresponding secretary, O. N. Cahill; recording secretary, J. O. Hall; financial secretary, F. K. Smith; treasurer, Seymour Abraham; sergeant-at-arms, F. J. Dow; trustees, D. W. Rollins, J. S. Konkol, John Ness; delegates to Duluth assembly, G. O. Parker, T. G. Harris; organizer, Otto C. Winkler.

The assembly endorsed the action of the National Brewery Workers' Union with regard to the Duluth Brewing & Malting company. A committee was appointed to look into the trouble with the Northern Brewing company and Schwankamp's brewery. The same committee will investigate barbers' trouble.

Widow Governor Ludington Sues Executor of His Estate. MILWAUKEE, July 27.—Mrs. Emilina L. Ludington, of Chicago, wife of ex-Governor Harrison Ludington, of Wisconsin, today brought suit in the United States court against James E. Patton, of this city, for $200,000. Governor Ludington died in 1891. He named James E. Patton, of Milwaukee, and Mr. Van Schack, of Chicago, since dead, as executors. Mrs. Ludington alleges that the will did not adequately provide for her and the executors induced her to accept a certain settlement by fraudulent misrepresentation and concealment of the true state of the Ludington estate, hence the suit.
