Fees for tickets to lectures, $100, payable invariably in advance, in cash, or the check certificate of the proper officer of any Medical College, or the diploma of a Graduate or Diploma Fee, $30; payable invariably in cash.

Preliminary lectures will commence on the 15th day of October, and room will be opened for dissection at the same time.

The regular course of lectures will commence on the first Monday, the 5th day of November, and will continue sixteen weeks.

The present arrangement of the faculty is by far the most complete and efficient that has probably ever been enjoyed by the students (and that has ever been contained in the college). Every department is occupied by a close professor with the department to which he belongs, and the truths of natural and medical science are inculcated in a clear, clear-cut manner, free from long and tedious digressions. Which will fix the principles and prepare the student for the duties of the medical profession.

To those who have doubts respecting medicine in the Eclectic, Western or Southern states, we would for that we admission presents fresh advantages for acquiring a knowledge of the art of healing, and that the medical institutions of the North, East, and Southern states, do not afford better facilities for medical instruction than some institutions.

Regular graduates (the same as those required for all other respectable medical colleges).

Good board can be obtained at from $4.50 to $4.50 per week.

For further information address either Prof. Gayle, Garrett, Morrow, or Cutler, at Memphis, Tenn.

By a special arrangement with the board of trustees of the Memphis hospital the students of this college are entitled to the same privileges in the same as those of the Allopathic college, and this is also desire it will rank the hospital some to twice a week with one of the professors.

Prof. Wm. Heath is now in New York attending additional lectures to fit himself for the duties of his chair in college, and the facilities for acquiring medical knowledge will be more greatly increased.

All are invited to come to be in the 16th of October.

Students can obtain rooms and board free (lately of the office of Drs. Gayle & Woodward, 319 Wall street, or Rev. Gaylord & Morrow, Union street, north side, near corner of Main.

Dean of the Faculty.

A NEGRO KILLED.—Early yesterday morning Mr. Richard Dubois, manager at May & Tuft's sale stable on Court street, killed a free negro by stabbing him with a knife through the heart. The negro was formerly employed by Mr. May, but for some time past has been idle. Yesterday morning he made his appearance at the stable, and was ordered to leave, when using some insulting language, Mr. Dubois attempted to eject him by force. The negro resisted and fought desperately, striking Mr. D. several times with a stick, and was rapidly getting the better of him, having knocked him down, when the latter drew a knife and stabbed the negro three times, death ensuing almost instantly. An inquest was held on the body, and a verdict returned as above. Mr. Dubois was not arrested.

NEW COTTON FROM HAYWOOD.—The first bale of the new crop of cotton from Haywood county, and the first transported over the Memphis and Ohio railroad this season, arrived yesterday. The new bale is from the plantation of Mrs. E. Richmond, one of the largest planters in the State, and this far is the first received at any city in the South, from the plantation of a lady. Mrs. Richmond shipped the first bale, and was awarded the premium from her county last season. The cotton received yesterday was consigned to Messrs. Pickett, Wormeley & Co., and was well dried, handled and ginned, and classed good-middling.

We will have a good account of them during the canvass.

NEW BOOKS.

SCENES IN ANIMAL LIFE; by G. H. Lewes. Published by Harper & Bros., New York.

Lewes is not only a thoroughly scientific man, but he is also a charming writer; and all who have a taste for knowledge of a most interesting kind, communicated in a form the most attractive and absorbing, will willingly obey the writer's invitation to "come with me and lovingly study Nature as she breathes, palpitates and works under myriad forms of life." We heartily commend this charming work. Cleaves & Vaden have it for sale.

JESSE CLEMONS, A Highland Story; by the Lady Rachel Butler. R. Fowler, publisher, New York.

Who does not like a really genuine, natural love tale? Here is one written by a noble lady, full of the details of Scotch life and Scotch affections. Cleaves & Vaden have it.

THE QUEEN OF SOCIETY; by Grace A. Phillip Wharton. Published by Harper & Brothers, New York.

This is a great book, and will be a great favorite, especially with the gentle sex. The queens to whom this handsomely bound volume so gracefully introduces us, are not the wearers of golden circlets and the recipients of slavish homage; but they are women,—women great for their talents, their charms, their virtues, or their misfortunes. Sarah of Marlborough, Madame Roland, Lady M. W. Montague, Georgiana of Devonshire, L. E. Landon, (L. E. L.), Mad. de Sesigne, Lady Morgan, Jane of Gordon, Madame Reamier, Lady Hervey, Mad. de Stael, Mrs. Thrale Piozzi, Lady C. Lamb, Anne S. Damer, La Marquise Du Deffand, Mrs. E. Montague, Mary of Pembroke, and La Marquise de Maintenon, all appear in interesting narrative. It can be procured at Cleaves & Vaden's.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Over three years since a man named James O. Williams, aged about thirty years, left the residence of his father, Hon. Samuel Williams, of Worcester, Mass., for the purpose of trying his fortunes in the West. For several months Williams, who is a graduate of Harvard University, was engaged in the law office of a Mr. Shipley, in St. Louis, but being given to drink, lost his situation and came to this city. Arriving here out long after, he was taken sick, and being penniless, a man named Geo. A. Grimes interested himself in his behalf and took him to his room, where he kept him and where he was at the time of Grimes's writing to Williams' father, some two weeks ago. Who Grimes is or where he is, cannot be ascertained, but if he, or any one else knowing of the whereabouts of Williams, will apply at No. 14 Jefferson street, they will hear of something to their advantage.

FIVE STEAMERS IN NASHVILLE.—The Nashville Banner, of Wednesday, says the trial proved highly satisfactory, and the "Eclipse" acquitted herself gallantly. The recent experiments with the two new and powerful steam fire engines in differ parts of the city, have, we think, demonstrated the superiority of steam over manual labor. The ordinary hand engines, though worked by the most courageous, athletic and devoted men, can never hold out to compete with the tremendous force and unceasing action of the steam fire king. As steam has already demonstrated its utility and power in every branch of art and human labor, it must also come to be exclusively applied to the extinction of fires. When this great improvement has been fully achieved, we shall hear of few extensive conflagrations.
