STEAMER SUNK.—The steamer Rouge struck an old snag at Goose Island, last Sunday evening, and went down in a few minutes.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.—The Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi, and the Hon. T. C. Hindman, of Arkansas, were in the city yesterday.

FIRE IN THE CITY.—Col. Lodi J. Dupree left the city, yesterday evening, on the six o'clock train of the Memphis and Charleston railroad, for Macon, Miss.

STEAMER.—We were delighted to see Mr. A. Woodward, our popular county trustee, for a copy of the "Presidential Election Returns" from all the States and counties in the Union, from 1848 to 1856.

"NUTMEG VS TIE."—Pete Clark is one of those lucky wights who can "morning to do," by, shoulder-hike, here on "light and free"—of nobody. He was yesterday captured and carried off.

BELLIGERENCY.—Jack Creighton was up before Justice Hill yesterday morning for making Tim Murphy "kick the dust"—being indicated therein either by the devil or a desire to get his name in the city papers.

PRESENCE.—We were delighted on yesterday to have a visit from our old friend Col. Lucullus Trundale, formerly one of the editors of the Avalanche, and now connected with the Nashville Union and American.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM BURNING.—The manufactory of Messrs. McKinney & Co., in the northern portion of the city, came very near being consumed by fire on yesterday morning. The roof was badly burned, and the fire extinguished with great difficulty.

VARIANCE.—Bill Duffie is a gentleman of letters, and makes his living by playing the fiddle. Like Dogberry's learning, it comes to him "by nature." The city officers found him engaged in his trade on yesterday, and delivered him over to the tender mercies of the recorder, who fined him two dollars.

THE VACANT JUDGESHIP.—We announce in this morning's issue the names of Messrs. J. T. Swayne, E. W. M. King, James E. Temple, and Calvin C. Herriff, as candidates for the office of judge of the city criminal court. We have known all of these gentlemen some time, and can safely asserate that either of them, in case of his election, would, in our opinion, fill the position with entire satisfaction alike to the public and the Memphis bar.

A CARD.—A card to the public appears in the last issue of the Madison (Ark.) Journal, signed by twenty-five citizens, and stating that the Memphis papers had misrepresented the facts in relation to the recent affair in which Col. J. C. Tolliver, candidate on the Memphis and Little Rock railroad, was alleged to have killed an Irish laborer. They exculpate him from all blame, and announce his triumphant acquittal at the hands of the court.

AN ALLEGED HORSE THIEF ARRESTED.—On yesterday morning a dispatch was received by telegraph in this city from Fort Smith, stating that a man bearing the name of Wm. Lewis had stolen several horses in the vicinity of that place, and left on the steamer Alonzo, destined, in all probability, for Memphis. Upon the arrival of the boat, officer T. G. Smith consulted to the effect and arrested a man who is supposed to be the one alluded to in the telegram. He personally resembles the description given, and he has identity to further confirmed by several letters found about him. He was committed to jail to await particulars.

ANDREW HOUSER'S WHIPER.—Every man who is fancy angled from the modes of matrimony, flies to the woods, land in the valley, and looks forward with pleasurable anticipations to the time when he and the coldest object of his affections shall be "Linked sweetly together in love divine."

This is the "bright side" of the picture, whose enchanting scenery is not marred by the obtrusive shadow of cowhides, broomsticks, and kitchen poker. But is the unbeautiful outlook for matrimony we would suggest that he be careful not to refuse unclassed favors—as, for instance, the "Mary Ann" Mary Elvoire, whose keepsake Hoop Skirt came yesterday, complaining to the "Sleepy-eye of justice," and calling on the laws of the land for protection against the "fussy viper" he had taken as a wife and a comforter to his bosom.

A FREQUENT OFFENSE.—The following paragraph is given by yesterday's Bee—as an instance of reprehensible conduct on the part of a city hackman. It is not the repetition of an outrage which has already become rife among many of the Memphis hackmen: "A lady who arrived in the city last night by the one o'clock train on the Memphis and Charleston railroad procured a hack, and requested to be driven to the boarding house of a Mrs. D—. The driver, who may or may not have known the location of Mrs. D.'s house, carried the lady, who was a stranger in the city, to the first boarding house he reached on Second street, where, having dumped her baggage on the sidewalk, he drove rapidly away, leaving her to learn the imposition on reaching the door. We may add that she had to make shift as best she could to find the house of her friend, though with what success we did not learn."

A CALL.

EDITORS APPEAL: Will good taste was overall was the noble compliment paid by old Samuel to one of his compeers, but there are accomplished orators, poets, and attorneys now as well as in the olden time; and a number of the lawyers of Memphis would be gratified at the election of Judge McKerron. Will he run? "Speak, Prince Hal! We'll run all the bucklers out of your way." LAWYER.
