They can afford to sell cheap, as they obtain their goods from their own manufactory in the east.

Memphis and Charleston railroad	1786
Memphis and Ohio railroad	592

THE SPEAKING AT BOLIVAR TO-MORROW.—On to-morrow there will be a grand rally of the national democracy at Bolivar, upon which occasion the Hon. H. S. Foote, E. M. Yerger, Esq., Judge Wm. T. Brown, J. Knox Walker, Esq., and other distinguished speakers are expected to be present, and address the meeting. An extra train will leave the Junction so as to connect punctually with the 6 o'clock train going out from Memphis.

SALE YESTERDAY.—A large crowd was in attendance on yesterday morning at the auction sale of Mousstat, Dupree & Co. The lot sold fronts Jefferson street nineteen feet two and a half inches by seventy-four and one quarter feet, and was bought by Minor Merryweather, Esq., at three hundred and five dollars per foot. This sale opens the fall operations in real estate, and from present indications we think it will be an exceedingly active one.

POLE RAISING IN CHELSEA.—The pole raising came off in Chelsea, as previously announced, on night before last, the occasion drawing out quite a large number of the "simon pure" Democracy of Memphis and its surroundings. We regret very much that indisposition prevented our contemplated attendance in order that we might give our readers a brief summary of Messrs. Yerger, Walker, and Farrelly's speeches, which we have heard characterized by others, who heard them, as able, eloquent, cheering and enthusiastic.

SERIOUS RIOT AND FATAL STABBING AFFAIR.—A very serious stabbing affray occurred on yesterday down at the river, within the vicinity of the steamer J. D. Perry. It appears that a couple of leading ragabonds, who were prowling about upon the wharf, commenced fitching sugar from a hogshead which that steamer had but just discharged as freight. Two or three deck hands came off from the boat and ordered them away, and upon their refusal to leave a collision ensued, resulting in a general melee. One of the boat crew, by the name of McCarty, received a stab from a large knife which was so dangerous as to be pronounced fatal by his attending physician. Another man was dangerously wounded, but will in all probability recover. One of the "wharf rats" who commenced the difficulty was arrested, but the other obtained a yawl from a boat lying near and made his escape over the river into Arkansas.

HOME FOR THE HOMELESS

MEMPHIS, September 24, 1860.

The ladies met in the First Presbyterian church this morning, for the purpose of devising a way to procure a Home for the Homeless.

At the suggestion of Dr. Merrill and Col. Finnie, a resolution was adopted to petition the board of aldermen that they reconsider the request to give a donation, which was rejected by the board some days since.

In the case of the Brinkley place, on motion of Mrs. Keathan, it was resolved that several gentlemen be elected to hold the property in trust until the legislature shall make the association a corporate body, when said trustees shall give it to the association as their property. The following gentlemen were elected trustees: Dr. A. P. Merrill, M. C. Galloway, R. Bayless, Dr. Keller, Col. Finnie, Mr. Farrelly and Mr. Poole.

A resolution by Major Baugh was adopted to appoint a committee of ladies to meet the board of mayor and aldermen in council on Tuesday afternoon, and Dr. Merrill and P. Farrelly, a committee to accompany them and represent their cause, asking the city for help.

The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to represent their cause in the country: Dr. A. P. Merrill and Col. A. H. Douglass.

The subject of holding some evening entertainments was then discussed, and on motion it was resolved that the ladies hold a bazaar on the evenings of October 10th, 11th, and perhaps the 12th, which will be Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday during the week of the Memphis fall fair, at that time. Messrs. Keathan and Mrs. Backus be selected to prepare tableaux.

The house then adjourned to meet the first Monday in October, at the same place.

HOME FOR THE HOMELESS.—At a meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen, held Tuesday evening, September 25th, Ald. Merrill presented a petition from the officers of the society for the erection of a home for the homeless. They represent their need of assistance in order to consummate their labor—and refer to a proposition of Mr. Brinkley to sell about fifteen acres a short distance from the city for $7,000, which they suggest would suit their purposes, and at the same time afford a potter's field in place of the fifty-four acres now owned, but not used, by the city for that purpose, some five miles from the city. Ald. Merrill and Frazier advocated the petition. Ald. Frazier offered a resolution appointing a committee of three to inquire what aid, if any, shall be granted to the Home for the Homeless association, and to report by ordinance. Resolution adopted, and the following committee appointed: Frazier, Molloy and Merrill.

NEW BOOKS.

THE FRENCH, GERMAN, SPANISH, LATIN AND ITALIAN LANGUAGES WITHOUT A MASTER. By L. Monoyra, Esq. Published by Peterson & Bros., Philadelphia.

This book proposes to teach a pupil, without any other assistance, "to read, write and speak" all or any of the above languages. We frankly state that this is mere pretension, and that the feat it claims to accomplish is a pure impossibility. The writer, in more than one place, as in page 246, says: "The limits of these lessons will not admit of our introducing any constructive formula." Without conjugations, case endings, etc., at length, there is no learning to read, write or speak a language. There are many persons, however, who wish to know something generally of the more frequently used tongues, so as to be able to construe their sense and to give a fair approximation to the pronunciation to such passages as they may meet with in reading. There are many persons who want to know something about the construction and idioms of various languages. These will find Monteith's book very interesting. Such as wish to make a clear, easy and rapid start in a language they intend to acquire, will here find the necessary assistance to do so, and will obtain a good general knowledge of the ground they have got to go over. To self-taught students this general view is invaluable. Young & Brothers have the work for sale at their store under Odd-fellows' hall.

THE LOST PRINCIPLE, OR SECTIONAL EQUILIBRIUM! How it was Created—How Destroyed, and how it can be Restored. By Bertrand Wolfenstein. Co., Richmond, Va., Publishers.

The Author of this book states that though born a Virginian, he was originally opposed to slavery. Subsequently, he was forced on one occasion took him in hand, and made him understand how slavery has conservative and ameliorating influences on the Federal Government; is an absolute necessity, in a Democratic society, to preserve the empire of law and of religion; and finally predicted that for want of that restraining power the northern republics, as soon as they should be disconnected from the slave States, if not sooner, would fall into anarchy, and treading the old circle, would, to escape the despotism of the mob, seek refuge in the despotism of a single will." Barbarossa was convinced, and in this book he proves his faith is a new theory of the Constitution. In his introductory the author gives an intimation of his ideas. Nullification, he says, is the exercise of State sovereignty without State jurisdiction, but it cannot move an inch beyond those consecrated limits. State secession is derived from the same source, and circumscribed within the same bounds; South Carolina has a right to annul a law for the collection of protective duties at Charleston; that if the Federal Government attempts to expunge slavery from the District of Columbia or the Territory of Kansas, would that be an invasion of the sovereignty of South Carolina? Her State remedies would not be coextensive with the right. The remedy in such a case, if redress could not be obtained by constitutional methods, would be by the overthrow of the Government. In his last chapter, Barbarossa concludes: "A speedy and radical reform in that Constitution, which by fraudulent devices in 1788 was forced on the people of Virginia, can alone save the Government from destruction." In this reform movement our radical reformer claims that Virginia, from her great wrongs and other circumstances, is entitled to lead. Geo. Pattison & Co. have the work for sale.

THE MOTHERIN-LAW; or Tale of Domestic Life. By Renee Bonchamp. Published by Peterson & Bros., Philadelphia.

With a very large portion of the reading public that delights in wandering in the enchanted country, where fiction has wonders, mysteries and absorbing incidents, at every step of the journey; where genius, with a magic pencil, portrays scenes with a graphic power that changes the familiar objects around to mountains, plains, waving trees and glittering lakes; where the characters we meet crin upon our sympathies, charm us by their virtues, command our admiration by their talents, move our mirth by their humor and peculiarities, or draw out our sympathy by their misfortunes—with this portion of the reading public Mrs. Southworth is a high favorite. She has a wonderful power of awakening interest, and keeping the attention engaged within the magic circle of her story to its last word. To those who open the "Mother-in-Law," hoping to find the usual absorbing charm Mrs. Southworth yields, there will be no disappointment—to those who have read nothing from writer, the "Mother-in-Law" will be a discovery, a prize—to those who will be to them a source of unmingled enjoyment. Young & Brother, under Odd-fellows' hall, have the work for sale.

THE CELLULAR IRON PAVEMENT FOR SIDEWALKS.—A new patent pavement, constructed from cellular iron, has been laid down by Mr. A. H. Hise in front of his building on Clinton street, now occupied in part as an office for the APPEAL, which should elicit the attention of all who desire a hard, cheap and durable material for paving. The iron is laid in hydraulic cement, which, after becoming completely dry, assumes the firmness of the hardest stone, possessing, at the same time, all its smoothness. We are informed that it can be laid at half the expense of the stone pavement. We invite general attention to it.

We like to visit a first-rate artist. Don't you, reader? Such a one for instance as Tyler, opposite Odd-fellows' hall, where the most fastidious are sure to be gratified. We like Tyler, on many accounts; one is that his pictures are so life-like, and another is, his prices are so reasonable. This is no small praise, as visits to any other gallery will soon satisfy the dubious. Every candid opinion is that Tyler is the prince of picture makers.

No Cure no Pay!

THE MISSISSIPPI DIARRHŒA CORDIAL.—This remarkable and unfailing medicine for the Diarrhœa and Bowels was first introduced to the public about ten years ago, by its present proprietors, who put it up in a small way at their old stand, No. 44 Front Row, Memphis, Tennessee. Its wonderful effects in curing the worst Complaints, such as Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus and Diarrhœa, whether acute or chronic, soon won for it general favor, and without the aid of puffing and certificates it has steadily made its own way and held its own ever since, and now the demand for it is truly astonishing. The sale is immense and constantly increasing, which is sufficient to stamp it as the remedy for this class of diseases.

When a "valuable medical discovery," by its own works, accomplishes what the Mississippi Diarrhœa Cordial has done, and that, too, without the aid of newspaper recommendations generally resorted to, it is time for the public generally to do away with every prejudice and come boldly to its aid, and say word, they will be saved a vast amount of pain and expense, and death itself in many instances prevented.

We refer you to the following gentlemen, merchants, physicians and others, who have used and sold this incomparable medicine, and who are prepared to bear a cure and never-failing cure for Diarrhœa, Flux, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, and all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels:

Dr. T. A. Trabue.....near Memphis Tenn.
Dr. W. W. McAnally.....near Memphis, Tenn.
Dr. I. A. Stated.....Olive Branch, Miss.
Dr. Isaac Pulman.....Vicksburg, Ark.
Dr. Thos. G. McClelland.....Somerville, Tenn.
Dr. Redmond Roy.....Fort Gibson, Miss.
Hatched & Abernathy.....Snodsville, Miss.
Betts & Nutt.....Jacksville, Miss.
W. P. Walker.....Paulda, Miss.

James S. Smith.....Oakland, Miss.
Wm. Pumbers.....Oakland, Miss.

Solomon Shaw.....Quincy, Tenn.
John Cantrell.....Memphis, Tenn.
Chaney & Marly.....Memphis, Tenn.
A. J. Jones.....Fredonia, Miss.
Dr. R. Patterson.....Fort Pike, Miss.
And hundreds of others in Memphis and vicinity.

Remember that this medicine is prepared only by the all other Diarrhœa Cordials are worthless imitations.

A cure guaranteed in all cases.

CAUTION.—We earnestly caution the public against several spurious imitations of this incomparable remedy, gotten up under the head of "Diarrhœa Cordials," the object of which is to deceive, and thereby take advantage of the merited reputation of the MISSISSIPPI DIARRHŒA CORDIAL. Beware of such worthless trash. Ask for the genuine article, prepared only by us, and two cents cheerfully be disappointed.
