Cheering News to the Afflicted.

GENTLEMEN of science may speculate and theorize, and hold forth into words much to the effect that all the theories the world ever produced,

DR. A. G. GOODLETS

Improved Hooch's Panacea,

is a myth, when the contrary is given a trial. It is one of the best medicines ever used for the cure of all diseases arising from a disordered stomach, or an impure state of the blood, and, astonishing to two persons it is the "Panacea" in the city of Nashville and vicinity, and is every day performing cures which it has been introduced, in a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy.

The Rev. J. C. Rowlett, of Nashville, Tenn., speaks thus:

DR. A. G. GOODLETS—Dear Sir: It may be gratifying to you to hear that Hooch's Panacea, prepared and sold by you, is doing good work in the relief of your fellow men. During my recent travels in several counties in Middle Tennessee, I have often met those who have used it. The universal testimony is, "It is the best remedy I have ever used." It has been very useful to me in cases of hoarseness, bronchial affections, and the open air and laboring in restlessness. Please make an agent in this place. Very respectfully,

J. C. ROWLOW.

DELICIOUS FRUIT.

Dr. Wheaton, proprietor of the Bellevue gardens, two miles south of the city, yesterday brought into our office, as a specimen, a basket of his Bartlett pears, the most delicious fruit to which we have treated our palate this season. It possesses a vinous flavor, is as juicy as the pineapple, and melts like highly flavored ice-cream in the mouth. Dr. Wheaton informs us that a full bearing tree of this fruit will yield at least from fifty to seventy-five dollars. Thus, counting sixty trees to the acre, we have a yield of about four thousand dollars for each acre planted in trees. This is a better yield than can be had from any other species of production. To all such as desire to supply themselves with trees bearing this fruit we say, pay the doctor a visit and examine his nursery.

SHELBY COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING—FIRST DAY.

From the necessity of a division of labor, arises the necessity of emulation in its various departments. In order that one branch may see and judge of the perfection attained in another, and that different individuals in the same department may have an opportunity to see and profit by the improvements made by their fellows, it has been thought wise that at stated intervals all the departments should be brought together in order to institute comparisons and mark the improvements of the age—and experience has demonstrated both the wisdom and the expediency of what is so palpable a benefit in theory. The workshop, the field, and the productions of art are benefited by each other, and learn what the other has produced that it may profit by. Fairs are instituted, and serve the purpose both of instruction, amusement and profit.

Yesterday being the first day of the fifth annual exhibition of the Shelby county agricultural society, their fair grounds, near this city, were thrown open early in the day for the admission of the public. The various departments were well represented for the commencement day, and it was the generally expressed opinion that the exhibition opened under more favorable auspices than on any previous occasion. The weather seemed to conspire with other favorable circumstances to render the occasion one of peculiar animation.

After a hasty glance around the grounds and the amphitheater, we wended our way to the stables, where we found the famous horse Ethan Allen, the property of Mr. Holcomb, of Ticonderoga, Essex county, New York. Ethan Allen is a bay stallion, 15 hands high, 11 years old, and remarkable for his speed as a trotter and his power of endurance. He was the successful contestant for the $1,500 prize for the best roadster at the late St. Louis fair, and is a horse of remarkable beauty and cleanness of limb. He will be entered for the $1,000 prize for the best stallion, four years old and upward, and also for the $1000 prize for the fastest trotting horse. In an adjoining stall to that occupied by Ethan Allen we found the celebrated horse Draco, also a contestant for honors at the St. Louis fair, and bearing off the prize of $300 for the best stallion for all work. Draco is a black stallion 15 hands and 3 inches in hight, and weighs 1360 pounds. He is owned by Mr. L. T. Tucker, of Vermont, and will be entered for one of the principal prizes. On another part of the grounds we found the bay stallion Sir Henry, from the celebrated imported Sir Henry that contested the ground over the Long Island course with Eclipse in 1836. He is the property of Dr. H. S. Crittenden, near Jackson, Tennessee, and will be entered for the $1000 prize for the best stallion. Peaks of Otter, from Virginia and the thoroughbred imported Scythian are here, but were not on the grounds yesterday. The celebrated horse Stockbridge Chief, Bolly Lewis and Grift, of Ohio, and Young Ripton, owned by Mr. Levy, of Louisville, are expected down to-day on the steamer Chester Ashley. Knight of St. George, from Kentucky, and Revenue, from Virginia, are also expected. Taken altogether, the exhibition of horse flesh is likely to be very fine, as might have been reasonably expected from the liberality of the premiums offered.

In cattle the exhibition was somewhat deficient, but we understand that some fine stock in that line are expected to be on the ground to-day. We noticed the thoroughbred Durham bull John Lancaster, owned by Greenberry Bright, of Bolivar, Tennessee, and understand that he will be entered for the prize of $300 offered for the best bull.

The pavilion appropriated to agricultural implements and products, contained some rare specimens of the productions of the field and the work shop, which we shall take occasion to notice more fully hereafter. A portable fence, entered by Messrs. Barnes & Bordin, and known as Vandemark's portable fence, for cheapness and the facility with which it may be put up and taken down, must commend itself to the planter. Edmondson & Armstrong, of this city, have on exhibition in this department some fine specimens of harness and saddlery.

The floral and fine art department lacked the interesting features that made it so attractive last season, though we hope to see it improved before the close of the exhibition. There was an entire want of floral display, though in other respects there was a tolerable array of interesting objects. We noticed some fine specimens of Singer's sewing machines; Mr. Davy presented a fine display of bead work as agent for the Tuscaroora and Seneca Indians of the State of New York, which for beauty and novelty we have never seen equaled; Tyler & Co. have a fine case of daguerreotypes, melainotypes, photographs, etc., on exhibition; Francisco & Co. present a fine display of hats, caps and fancy articles in their line; Dr. W. W. Morgan a case of dental work; S. Mansfield & Co. a fine collection of chemicals; specimens of penmanship by J. W. McClure of New Orleans; a beautiful variety of corselets, counterpanes, quilts, a case of elegantly bound books, and numerous other things to which no names were attached, it being the purpose of the managers of this hall to suppress the names of the exhibitors until after the premiums are awarded. H. G. Hall, of Putnam, Ohio, had on exhibition a novelty in the way of shoes, having wooden soles, with an Indiarubber joint at the ball of the foot, which he claims to be warmer, easier to the foot and cheaper than the ordinary leather sole.

In the carriage department we noticed specimens from but three manufacturers. Messrs. Burr and Aiken, of Memphis, the fine hose reel manufactured by them for the No. 5 fire company, together with several fine specimens of carriages and buggies from the house of J. A. Woodruff, of this city, and one fine carriage manufactured by J. W. Goeling, of Cincinnati.

In machinery, we noticed two portable engines, a circular saw mill and a wood-sawing machine from the establishment of Orgill Brothers, of this city, and understand that they will have on exhibition an Ericsson or caloric engine, together with other additional machinery to-day.

The new buildings erected for the present exhibition are the pavilion for the display of agricultural implements and products, a new carriage house of convenient size, a large number of stalls for the reception of stock, while across the road from the fair grounds is laid out a track nearly a mile in circumference for the exhibition of fleet horses. The buildings used last season have been refitted and in various ways enlarged.

After having taken the round, we returned to the pavilion in time to observe the conclusion of people that by this time thronged the principal entrance, and viewed with pleasure the animated faces of the crowd, and the lively aspect which was apparent in everything around. Here the showman was proclaiming the wonder of his wares, and there in close proximity were clusters of gentlemen and ladies just arrived, and making their way to the pavilion, all life, and pleasure beaming from every face.

At 11 o'clock Hugh D. Greer, Esq., in behalf of the president, announced that the fifth annual exhibition of the Shelby county fair was then open, and announced the first thing in the order of exercises to be a military display, the competition to be for a beautiful banner. The banner was then brought in and suspended from the judge's stand, and soon after followed as competitors the Memphis Southern Guards, Capt. Hamilton, Lieutenants Kirk and Park, and the Harris Zouave Cadets, Capt. Sherwin, Lieutenants Craig, Fowlkes and Creighton. This part of the performance had evidently been anticipated with the live-liest interest, and immediately the pavilion was crowded with eager spectators. The light infantry drill of Scott and Hardee's tactics was then commenced, and each company went through their evolutions in the most creditable manner. The maneuvres of each were so perfect as to elicit shouts of applause from the spectators, while none but the most experienced tactician could have decided as to their respective merits. The Harris Zouave Cadets have been but a short time organized, and we were not prepared to see so perfect a mastery of the drill as they evinced. Were it not that the committee who awarded the prize are gentlemen of experience—the committee consisting of Capt. Meckling, Gen. J. Williams, Gen. A. B. Bradford and Gen. A. J. Donelson,—we are sure that the spectators would have thought that injustice had been done, as the feeling seemed to set strongly in favor of the cadets, but the committee thought otherwise, and the banner was awarded to the Memphis Southern Guards. On the announcement of the decision, the Cadets gave three cheers for the Southern Guards, which compliment was returned, and it was announced that exercises would be suspended until half past two o'clock, it then being half past one.

At 2½ o'clock Mr. Greer announced from the stand the order of exercises to be the awarding of the citizens' premiums for horses of general utility and improved breed, when the horses answering to No. 14, Class X, were brought in and placed on exhibition. The premiums awarded yesterday were as follows:

PREMIUMS.
