Daily Appeal.

ITALY.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

Values from the mountains speak,
Apennines to Alps replying;
Take to vale and peak to peak
Time and all commemorating!
Daily
Shall be free!
Rich the mighty chant that fills
All the quarters of her hills.

All the old Italian lakes
Quiver at that quickening word;
Come with a thrill awaken'd
Darks to her depths is stirred!
Mid the steeps
Where he sleeps,
Dreaming of the other years,
Startled Transapennine hears

Sweeping Arno, swelling Po,
Murmur freedom to their moods,
Tiber swift and Little now
Send strange whispers from their reeds,
Daily
Shall be free,
Is on the glittering tracks that slide
Toward the sea, from Etna's side.

Long ago was Grandeur dale,
Broken portions! but again
Yet the living roots remain
Whence the shoots of greatness grew,
Yet again,
God-like men,
Spring from that accursed stem,
Call the land to rise with them.

They who haunt the swarming street,
They who chase the mountain boar,
Or, where cliff and billow meet,
Prune the vine or pull the oar!
With a stroke
Break their yoke,
Slaves but yesterday were they—
Freemen with the dawning day.

Looking in his children's eyes,
While his own with glad one flash,
"Never shall those," the father cries,
"Drinks, like hounds, lapsedly the lash!
Those shall never
Bend to wear
Chains that clock with careful care,
Weigh the spirit to the dust."

Minerbia, ye whose smiles stand
Harmonious for the battle-field!
Fense, and from the lifted hand
Drop the tools of peace ye wield.
Stand alert
While the proof
Of the people's might is given;
Leave their kings to them and heaven.

Stand alert and see the oppressed
Chase the oppressor, pale with fear,
As the fresh winds do the west
Blow the misty vapors clear.
Stand and see
Free!
Can the green old world be more
To the gray? that sweeps her shore.

THE GLOBE,

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF CONGRESS.

I PUBLISH now my annual prospectus of "The Daily Globe," and "The Congressional Globe and Appendix," to remind subscribers, and inform those who may desire to subscribe, that the next session will be the first Monday of next December, when I shall resume publishing the above-named papers. They have been published so long, that most persons who know anything of them, therefore I deem it needless to give a minute account of the kind of matter they will contain.

"The Daily Globe" will contain a report of the debates in both branches of Congress, condensed by reporters, equal, at least, to any corps of short-hand writers in this, or any other country. A majority of them will, each, be able to report, verbatim, 160 words a minute, while the average number of words spoken by Senators and Representatives, does not exceed two hundred words an hour. When the debates of a day do not make more than forty-five columns, they will appear in "The Daily Globe" of the next morning; when they will contain, also, the news of the day, together with such editorial matter, as may be suggested by passing events.

"The Congressional Globe and Appendix" will contain a report, of all the debates, revised by the speakers, the messages of the President of the United States, the annual reports of the heads of the executive Departments, the laws passed during the session, and original miscellanies. There will be printed on a double royal sheet in book form, royal octavo size, each number containing sixteen pages. The whole will make, it is believed, at least two volumes, which are acknowledged to be the cheapest work ever sold in any country, published on a regular or periodical basis, or any other, taking for data the average number of words it contains.

The coming session will, without doubt, be as unusually interesting as the session just ended. It will, in all measures, be upon the policy of the President elect, and "The Globe" will be the organ, for the next four years, the only source from which full debates of Congress can be obtained.

"The Congressional Globe and Appendix" pass free through the mails of the United States, as will be seen by reading the Postmaster General's regulation passed by Congress the 4th of August, 1860:

Joint resolution providing for the distribution of the laws and documents to members of Congress.

With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Congress and the documents most future to the free interpretation thereof, and to make just the commodious and both on the representative and constituent bodies:

Be it resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the adjournment of this Congress the Congressional Globe and Appendix, be furnished to the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of Congress.

Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to alter the circulation of the "Daily Globe" free of postage.

Approved, August 6, 1860.

TERMS:

For a copy of "The Daily Globe for four months.....$1 00
For one copy of "The Congressional Globe and Appendix," during the session, not exceeding 3 00
For two copies (the, when ordered at the same time.....5 00
Northerners will be paid to any order unless the money accompany it.

Bank notes, current in the section of country where a subscriber resides, will be received at par. The whole or any part of a subscription may be remitted in a postage stamps, which is preferable to any currency, especially in silver. JOHN C. RIVES,

THE CELEBRATED

HIGHLAND BITTERS!

Or, SCOTCH TONIC,

Has no equal as a Stomach Medicine in the World!

THE history can be told in a very few words, but the wonderful cures effected by this remedial agent would require a volume of details. When the Crimean war was in progress, thousands of French, and more especially British soldiers, fell victims to the change of climate and the hardships incident to warfare. Accounts of the unexpected benefits derived from the use of the Highland Bitters, by the soldiers, and the public became aroused to a sense of their duty, when thousands of their countrymen were sleeping the long sleep of death, from the effects of pestilential air and inhospitable shore. Commissioners were appointed by the English government, and Dr. Hoffman, the Professor of Military Surgery in the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, was appointed by special request of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, to medicate hospitals, and if possible compel a remedy. His details, of course, being principally confined to the Highland Bitters, under the command of Sir Colin Campbell. Dr. Hoffman's report that the natives of the South Highlands had, from time immemorial, in the habit of being certain herbs and roots, collected in their hills and glens, which the extraordinary effect of the Highland Bitters, acting as a cure for diseases of a certain kind, which all mankind are subject to, and which are certain to arise at times of the system or habits of life. The extraordinary success at St George's asylum, where the effects of the Bitters concerned, in a change of climate, and the miasmatic influences arising from an inoculated constitution of scurvy, which invariably appears to severe a different kind, and a train of diseases more immediately connected with the great functions of the human system—the blood, the stomach, the liver, and the bowels. The qualities of this medicine first tried in the camp, and its astonishing success, have placed it upon an unquestionable foundation. In destroying disease and invigorating health, it has no parallel in the wonderful innovation of this advanced age. For the following complaints it has been tried by millions of enlightened Christendom, and found to be the sure and certain specific: Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Headache, Acidity, Jaundice, Costiveness, Loss of Appetite, Hypochondria, General Debility, Nervous Complaints, Dizziness, Intermittent, Remittent, Typhoid and every other type of Fevers.

In all sections of the country this noble boon to suffering is now extensively used by the most eminent physicians in their practice with unbounded success, and has restored to health thousands who were apparently beyond the reach of the healing art. A CHESTNUT STREET, beyond a doubt, is the most powerful medicine that ever conquered Dyspepsia, of the most discouraging kind, is only cured by the Highland Bitters, and, in fact, everything from one to six weeks, and that no return to either is equally prevented, and the curative powers preserved in the fullest vigor to all those over circumstances of the remarkable invigorant, which removes the opposition after exciting, restoring the stomach, or digestive, nourishing organs, fattening of the heart, broken down, nothing but the Highland Bitters, which, in fact, gives life of strength, and colonel development. Its Highland and other kindred cleansers, the Highland bitters has stood forth the warmest warm guide of truthful testimonials correspondents in all parts of the United States.

It is a satisfaction to the proprietors to know that the Scotch tonic has been of incalculable service to the aged and infirm. Being the most agreeable and portable medicine ever dispensed, possessing peculiarly cheering and refreshing properties, without one of the drawbacks of ordinary imported stimulants, which has been resolved to be Lethe, the great Gaelic, or Scotch, and the best Highland Bitters, and, in fact, the Scotch tonic, and the most popular with persons in the decline of life. It re-establishes the enfeebled system of age, when all other nutritives have utterly failed. Being entirely composed of pure vegetable principles, gathered and preserved in Scotland, imported by ourselves, and scientifically prepared under our own supervision, it possesses not a particle of alcohol in its composition, and is the most delicate
