DULUTH HEIGHTS GOSSIP BRIEF AND SOCIAL NEWS

Unnecessary Alarm About Condition of Water Found on Duluth Heights.

People Have Hopes That Forth coming State Test Will be Most Encouraging.

Considerable surprise was expressed on the Heights last Friday morning when the papers erroneously announced that the water from the flowing wells to be used in the new water system was not good. The fact of the matter is that the water is a great deal better than was expected. One thing is established there was absolutely no surface water in the sample. The chemist thought he detected some organic matter, and a very small portion of albuminoid ammonia, but he did not have confidence enough in his analysis to give any direct decision, and advised the water to be given a bacteriological test.

The people of the Heights, with but few exceptions, have much confidence in the outcome of the forthcoming analysis. They believe that the fearful (?) organic matter will prove to be mineral, and which will not be unhealthy. A certain amount of this is good in any water. F. A. Noble puts it about right when he says: "Water with iron in it makes a good blood tonic." Possibly we will be able to start a sanatorium on the Heights.

DULUTH HEIGHTS BRIEFS.

Max Clements resigned as special policeman, foreman, pound master and general peace officer for the Heights this week, and William Butler was appointed by Mayor Cullum to succeed him. Mr. Butler is well and favorably known in this community and it is expected that his appointment will prove to be a most popular one.

The most novel social departure on the Heights is the formation of the "Nonesuch" club and which consists of the following most popular mesdames: Edward Perrotte, Frank Noble, Frank Donaldson, T. E. Johnson, E. J. Purcell, Samuel Maghan, George Stauer, William Butler, Ben Wood and William Watts.

Mrs. J. H. Tomlin of Palmetto street entertained the Highland club, composed of ten members, Tuesday afternoon.

The Olcott club was entertained Wednesday evening by Miss Brayton, Miss Edith Kristiansen was the reader.

Mrs. Angus Bruneau will entertain the Calendar circle this afternoon. Residents who wish to have their homes wired would find this to be the

SUDDEN DEATH OF EDWARD MAERE PROMINENT IN PAINTERS' UNION

EDWARD MAERE.

Edward Maere, former president of the Painters' union, died Monday at St. Mary's hospital of pneumonia. He had been sick but one week, and was removed to the hospital on the day preceding his death. He is survived by his wife and two children. Mrs. Maere is also seriously afflicted with the same trouble, and is struggling between life and death at St. Mary's.

Mr. Maere was one of the oldest members of the Painters' union. During latter days he was of more or less prominence in the movement here. His first work in this city, outside of his local union, was as a member of the board of managers of the Industrial Exposition given by organized labor at the Armory in 1898. He had charge of the art exhibit, and distinguished himself with credit in this capacity.

He has acted at various times as delegate to the Trade and Labor Assembly and Building Trades Council. In these bodies he held several positions of trust.

In his local union he occupied at different times almost every office, and could have continued at any time he desired, but he believed in giving everybody a chance, and so he stepped down for other members.

The painters' union held a meeting Tuesday evening and made extensive arrangements for the funeral which will be held Sunday afternoon. A committee consisting of Thos. Freshney, P. I. Munkey, Jas. Powers, B. A. Diers and John Carlson, was appointed to see that every thing is properly attended to. It is expected that the union will turn out in a body to attend the funeral. Should other arrangements be made for the funeral the members of the union and friends of the family will be apprised through the daily papers. On account of the precarious condition of Mrs. Maere the physicians have advised a delay until a change for the better occurs. It is feared that the knowledge of the burial of her husband's body in her present condition would result fatally.

BUILDING TRADES CHAT.

The structural building trades alliance met in regular session at the Labor World halls Monday evening. The delegates from the Tile Layers' union were seated. The new by-laws were received, and considerable new business was transacted.

The Electrical Workers held a special meeting Monday evening to consider the advisability of recalling the demand for an increased wage scale with the Zenith Telephone company. It was reported that a meeting had been held in this fight, but they are watching the outcome with considerable interest.

FLOORED BY THE BARBER.

From the Chicago News:
"I don't believe I've seen you in here before, have I?" asked the barber.
"I believe this is my first visit," replied the customer.
"Live around here?"
"Not very far away."
"Don't want this cut too close, eh?"
"Just trimmed, that's all."
"I don't remember ever having seen you in here before."
"The fact is, I shave myself," explained the customer, somewhat apologetically.
"Some fellows do," said the barber, with a certain severity.

"It isn't because I have any objection to patronizing a barber shop," said the customer.
"It's cheaper to shave yourself," said the barber.
"It isn't that so much, but I wouldn't trust the best barber in Chicago with my face. I don't say that you aren't as good as any of them."
"I don't claim to be," said the barber. "There's better barbers than what I am in town, but I guess a man can trust his face with me and not run the danger of having a part of it took off."

"I haven't any doubt of it," said the customer. "What I meant was that I've got a tender skin and a tough beard, and if anybody else shaves me I have a sore face for a week. I've shaved myself now for nearly 20 years, and I know just how to take it. I shave every morning and it takes me just about five minutes."
"Once over, I s'pose?"
"Just once over."
"You've got a line of whiskers under your jaw that you've missed."

"The light was poor this morning and I was in a hurry," said the customer.
"And there's a cut on your chin."
"I got a little nervous. I don't often cut myself, though."

"Pretty badly scraped on the right cheek; it looks as if you'd been trying to rub the hair off with a nutmeg grater."
"I've let my razor get in rather bad condition. They're apt to scrape if they're not sharp."
"I'll tell you what," said the barber. "I'll make you a sporting proposition. I'll bet you a ticket for ten shaves against a dollar that you can't go over yourself once in five minutes. I'll bet that by the time you get your latter mixed and you're stropped you don't do it in ten. I'll bet you never shave yourself without cussin' and thinking you'll grow a beard next winter. Ain't I right?"

"I have thought about growing a beard myself," said the customer.
"Sure," said the barber. "I'd do the rest of it's right, too. I know all about this game of shaving yourself."
"You do, eh?"
"Sure," said the barber. "I shave myself."

The members' union is discussing the apprentice question. A committee consisting of Chas. Rigdon, J. J. Mullen and W. E. The union recognizes that some steps be taken to remedy this aggravating question, and it is showing a disposition to do the fair thing.

W. C. SARGENT SECURES G. H. CROSBY'S BUSINESS

Mr. Sargent Will Conduct Real Estate and Insurance End of the Business.

G. H. Crosby is to Confine Him- self to Mining Business in the Future.

Everybody in Duluth is pleased to learn that W. C. Sargent has secured possession of the real estate and insurance business formerly controlled by Geo. H. Crosby. Mr. Crosby is to confine himself entirely to the mining business.

Mr. Sargent has had many years experience in the real estate business and starts out in this case with the most promising assurances of success. Workmen desiring houses either for rent or purchase will find Mr. Sargent one of the best men in the city to do business with.

Those who are looking for acreage property near Duluth will find by calling upon him that no better inducements are offered for this class of property in the city.

The Labor World expresses the wishes of its friends and readers when it bespeaks for Mr. Sargent a bright and successful future in his new business.

THREE HORSES WON.
From the London Standard:
A well known racing man recently lost $100 to a comparative stranger, who offered to bet him that he could produce three horses which could go ninety miles in three hours. The layer of the wager easily accomplished the feat by starting all three horses at once, by which artifice thirty miles only was the distance they had to traverse in the time specified.

THE DIFFERENCE.
From the Boston Transcript:
Wilkins—"You told me you never bought a silk umbrella in your life, and there are no less than three silk ones in your room, for I saw them myself."
Bowler—"I did not say that other folks never buy silk umbrellas."

Try S. I. Levin's XXX Columbian 1492 rye. It is the very best that can be had for family and medicinal purposes. At the old stand, 501 West Superior street.

USE BOTH HANDS.
That both hands were made to use one is apt to realize in later years when the hand that has carried the burden of labor through life begins to grow lame and more or less unserviceable.
If people would use both hands more they would be surprised in how few months they might attain to a fair ambidexterity.
The best exercise is said to be in writing with both hands. It is surprising how soon the neglected hand will respond if freely used.
It is said that nature never made any right handed people. If a man learns to write with his left hand all the other manual graces are soon added unto him.
Carrying an umbrella in the left hand, fencing, using a spoon, parting the hair and other unimanual exercises are highly recommended to develop both hands equally.

DID NOT UNDERSTAND THE NOISE
From the Yonkers Statesman:
"Convinced, Alice! What on earth is the matter?" asked the mother as she rushed into the parlor, after hearing an ear-splitting sound.
"Why, I'm taking my singing lesson from the professor, mamma!"
"Oh, gracious, child! I thought perhaps the professor was trying to kiss you!"

SOME DIFFERENT.
From the Chicago Journal:
Kind Old Man—"Would you lead a different life if you could get out of this jail?"
Convict—"Well, it's a cinch that I wouldn't be as sedentary in my habits as I am now."

NEGRO BOY'S QUICK WIT.
M. W. H. Poole, of Sykesville, Md., sends the following story to the Baltimore Sun:
"Convict in our household a small colored boy in whom I am greatly interested. He is only six years old, and has not long been a sharer in our public school advantages. But he is an enthusiastic student and makes use of all his opportunities. He never fails to make a trial.

"The other day I was endeavoring to find out what progress he was making in his studies, so I put him through an examination of spelling. 'Cat,' 'dog,' etc., were passed with an average of 100. I resolved to make the test a little more difficult. 'Sylvester,' said I, 'can you spell coat?'"
"C-o-a-t- came the ready response.
"Now," I continued, 'can you spell trousers?'"
"Can't spell dat, but I can spell pants."
"I wish more of us were as quick to substitute the next best thing to that which we consider impossible."

VISITORS DEVOUR HAM EXHIBIT.
The great German ham exhibition at the Kaiserhof Hotel in Berlin came to an untimely end on the second day of its existence.
Every province of the Fatherland sent its best to the Kaiserhof, and 1,400 specimens of all sizes, from the mighty hams of Westphalia to the delicate, small ones of South Germany, were on show amid a profusion of flowers and greenery.
Each purchaser of an admission ticket was entitled to taste a number of hams and then give his vote for the one he considered best. Following the advice of a famous Tammany Hall politician the public "came early and voted often," with the result that the exhibits had been devoured by the visitors on the day following the opening of the show.

NICE FINALE.
From the Chicago News:
"And what do you think of our beautiful city?" asked the Chicago girl.
"Your beautiful city," yawned the young man from New York, "reminds me of a bursted drum."
The Chicago girl looked daggers, bayonets, and hatpins.
"What?" she flashed. "Our city reminds you of a bursted drum? Why so, sir?"
"Because it can't be beaten."
And she was so pleased she promised to say something real nice about New York.

FAR FROM IT.
From the Criterion:
In the South they burn the cotton, bless your soul;
In the West they're burning wheat, and corn and such;
In the rest of our fair land they're burning coal,
But it's not because the burners have too much.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL.
From the Bits:
Mrs. Dobson—Bridget told me she saw Mr. and Mrs. Hobson going to church this morning. I wonder what's the matter?
Mr. Dobson—Why, either Mr. Hobson had another attack of heart trouble or Mrs. Hobson has a new hat.
A good many doctors are much more skillful at the autopsy than at diagnosing.—Chicago Sun.

WOMEN'S AND CHILDREN'S SHOES REMOVAL SALE PRICES

EACH succeeding day brings bigger crowds—the news has traveled far and wide—the keen shoppers are coming from far and near—we're making room for the workmen—we're getting ready to move the shoe department and the men's furnishing department into the new Annex.

Just as quickly as possible the building adjoining our establishment on the west will be remodeled—and then we shall cut through the walls and this great store will have a splendid annex—on the first floor of which we shall have our Shoe and Men's Furnishing Departments.

And rather than risk possible damage during the alterations and to reduce stocks so that we'll need to move as little as we must—we propose to cut stocks down quickly and decisively—and have made price reductions that are sure of accomplishing our object.

Note Well These Prices—Every Reduction Exactly as Claimed.
