THE CONFEDERATE FLAG.—Hutton & Freligh have got up three exquisite designs, suitable for envelopes, letter heads, note heads and cards. See their advertisement.

☞ The edition of the SUNDAY APPEAL has reached what would a few years ago have been considered a fabulous number for a daily paper in this region—five thousand copies.

INQUEST.—Esq. Mallory held an inquest yesterday over the body of a man of some fifty years of age, well dressed, that was found floating among the drift and that had evidently been several days in the water.

CITY SCHOOLS.—There will be a weekly examination of the junior female school of Miss Black, and the primary female school of Mrs. Hampton, on Promenade street, on Tuesday next, between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. The friends of the schools are particularly invited to attend.

RIVER RISING.—The river is at a very high stage—the river people say within six feet of high water mark, and yet it continues to rise fast. Passengers on the Mears and the Little Rock, yesterday, reported that some places below were flooded, and considerable consternation prevailed.

BURGLARY.—For the third time within a few weeks, the grocery store of Mr. Holmes, corner of DeSoto and Vance streets, was entered by a burglar on Thursday night last. He had taken the precaution to procure a good dog, and this time the thief was compelled to vamoose without a booty.

OBITUARY NOTICE.—Departed this life, at F. Ivie's Mills, N. Y., April 5, at 10 o'clock, Mr. Anson Wiswell, for many years a citizen of Memphis, and of the firm of J. M. Wiswell & Co. Mr. W. had many devoted friends in this city who will doubtless sympathize with his bereaved widow and relatives.

REJOICING.—The joyful Secessionists showed their pleasure last night at the downfall of Fort Sumter, by the peeling of cannon and the firing of guns. The Steuben Artillery on the bluff made the windows rattle from their fine cannon. The Crockett Rangers fired a feu de joie. Rockets in great numbers rivaled the brilliancy of the glowing stars. Speed, Donoho & Strange, C. K. Holst & Son, and other citizens illuminated. At Main and Court, and on Main above Adams, large bonfires were lighted.

FORT SUMTER BOMBARDED.—W. J. Farr, 44 Monroe street, is appealing to the people to economize in that indispensable article, "Light," by buying the straw or amber-colored Breckinridge coal oil, which, we are assured, burns from one-fourth to one-third longer than that almost colorless oil generally sold in this city, besides being non-explosive. He also keeps the noted carbon oil, which he sells to a very few, who will have it despite his warnings that it is inflammable, and in some cases explosive, and consumes much faster than the other oil. Let all try his oil who have not, and save their money and perhaps their life. Mr. Farr is the sole agent of the company, in this city, and sells as low as anybody, and the quality is about the same at all times.

BOLIVAR WEEKLY TIMES.—We have received the first number of the Bolivar Weekly Times that has been published since it came into the hands of Messrs. Elam & Weaver, lately of the Enquirer of this city. It is neat in appearance, and contains a well-selected variety of matter. The new proprietors, in a very sensible salutatory, declare that while they shall give politics and distant occurrences an attention, their principal object will be to make a paper "that shall bear the marks of the region of its publication." That is the right doctrine. Many papers we take up might come from Jericho or Jerusalem for anything their columns contain—they tell the news of all the localities of the world but their own. Our friends Elam and Weaver are gentlemen who deserve unbounded success, and we hope they will meet with it.

ANOTHER SWINDLE.—On Thursday Mr. James R. Gamble, a resident of Tippah county, Miss., on his way to settle in Arkansas, was accosted on the landing by a very pleasant spoken person who—after some conversation, in which he informed Mr. Gamble that he was going out on the same boat as himself—asked him if he was a judge of a horse? On receiving a reply in the affirmative, he stated that he had brought a horse which was not far off and would feel obliged by his looking at it. Mr. Gamble consented, and they went down the river bank and when below Beal street the owner of the horse was met, and he and the purchaser had some conversation about the price, in the course of which the desirableness of having gold rather than paper was enlarged upon. This induced Mr. Gamble to say he had two fifty dollar bills which he would very gladly exchange for gold. The purchaser of the horse stated that he had agreed to give ninety dollars for it, "I have but sixty with me," he continued, "give me your two fifties, I will pay for the horse and give you the three twenty dollar gold pieces I have; we will then return to the boat and I will give you the remaining forty dollars in gold." The two bills were given over, the three pieces received; on the way back the nice spoken man disappeared, then Mr. Gamble discovered that his three gold pieces were metal cards of the New York City Hall. A head with stars on one side, the New York City Hall on the other.

ESCAPED FROM JAIL.—The watchman at jail at two o'clock yesterday morning discovered a rope hanging from one of the upper windows, which is forty feet above the ground and fronting the river. On making examination, it was found that the iron fastening of the door of a cell containing fourteen prisoners had been broken, giving the prisoners access to the lobby. The window at the west end of the lobby is grated, not by bars let into the wall, but by solid wooden uprights fastened on the jambs of the window. Provided with a common kitchen knife, most ingeniously filed into a saw, one of the uprights was sawed in two and the piece removed so as to allow one of the bars to be taken out. To the bar but one above the place of the one removed was attached a rope, made of strips of the blankets on which the prisoners slept, strongly plaited together, of the thickness of a man's arm, and forty feet in length. Down this slight of the prisoners slid and made good their escape; the other six did not risk the perilous descent. The names of the escaped men are: John Cleveland, convicted of stabbing Julia Fisher, and sentenced five years in the penitentiary; John Acton, larceny, not tried; W. C. Walker, larceny, five years; Chas. O'Brien, stealing clothing, two years; G. W. Harris, robbing Simon's store, not tried; Frank McGlone, robbery, eight years in the penitentiary; John Moore, a negro, stealing slaves, five years; John Cotton, larceny, not tried. Of the six who remained behind, one was condemned to two years and another to one year in the penitentiary, two to short terms of imprisonment, and two had not been tried; these most likely thought nothing was to be made by running away. Mr. Jackson is a most careful sailor, and extremely attentive to his duties, but, with a building so nearly constructed, ill planned, and admirably defended as the Shorthorn we use as a jail, vigilance itself must sometimes be baffled.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

To-day is the second Sunday after Easter, the French call it the Sunday of the Bon Pasteur, the Good Shepherd; for on this day the church refers in its liturgies to those expressions that present the Savior as "the Shepherd and bishop of our souls," as "the Good Shepherd who giveth his life for the sheep."

The sun rises at 34 minutes past 5 and sets at 26 minutes past 6. The day is 12 hours 52 minutes long, fourteen minutes longer than the same day last week. There is a considerable difference between the length of the day and the temperature of the season that it may be of interest to point out. To make the subject easily understood, we will use a familiar illustration. When an ironer is at her work she alternately puts the iron to the fire and takes it from it. It is evident that if she allows the iron for, say three hours, to remain at the fire each time she places it there a longer time than she keeps it away; the iron would keep growing hotter and hotter, If, on the contrary, she kept it away from the fire each time for a longer period than she allowed it to remain there every time it was placed at the bars, it would all the time be growing colder. Now, for the fire, we will substitute the sun, and for the smoothing iron, the earth. When the days are longer than the nights, it is evident the earth receives more heat each day than it loses at night; as the days grow longer, therefore, the weather becomes warmer. As the nights become longer than the days, it is clear the contrary state of things will be the consequence. This is not the only thing, however, that affects the question. If the reader will bring one of his fingers to the side of the flame of a candle, he will find it possible to approach very near to it without any inconvenience; if, however, he make the same attempt with the other hand, he discovers that next approach without being burned is impossible. In the winter the sun does not rise as high above us as during the summer; his rays, therefore, fall upon the earth in a slanting direction, communicating a comparatively small amount of heat; it is like the finger at the side of the candle blaze. In summer the sun rises high, his beams fall more direct; it is like the finger held above the flame. The experiment of holding the finger to the flame shows that the amount of heat depends less upon the distance of the object from the body, than upon its situation with respect to it. This will make it understood why we have cold weather in winter, although at that time our earth is as very much nearer to the sun than it is in the summer.

Monday—The Panama massacre in 1856. Wednesday—Franklin died, 1790. Thursday—Battle of Cerro Gordo, 1847. Friday—Battle of Lexington, 1775.

☞ It is proposed, as we learn, to organize a new company of volunteers, to be called the Southern Rangers, for the service of the Southern Confederate States. A meeting is called for the purpose, to be held in the third story of No 196 Main street, on to-morrow evening, (Monday) at half-past seven o'clock. It is believed that if seventy-five or one hundred men will volunteer, enough money will be promptly raised by citizens to equip them. All who feel interested are invited to attend the meeting to-morrow evening.

UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT.—Yesterday the ladies of Crittenden county, Arkansas, presented a flag to the Crittenden Rangers. At the conclusion of the proceedings, several cannon shots were fired. Mr. Angus Greenlaw, who resides in Hopefield, and is brother to the Messrs. Greenlaw of this city, was in the act of ramming a charge down, when the gun went off prematurely. Mr. Greenlaw was greatly injured. The flesh was almost cleared from the right hand, the left was terribly burned, the left thigh is also much burned. We learn that the injuries, although very serious, are not considered dangerous in their character.

MONTGANY.—For the following report we are indebted to the courtesy of the health officer, Dr. Mitchell: Casualty, 1; congestion of brain, 1; consumption, 2; convulsions, 1; fever remittent, 1; hernia strangulatus, 1; meningitis, 1; pneumonia, 5; stillborn, 1; unknown, 1. Adults 10, children 5, males 12, females 3. Whites 13, blacks 2. Citizens 12, strangers 3. Total 15.

FOR RECORDER.—It will be seen from a card in another column, that a call is made upon Mr. R. M. Kirby to become a candidate for recorder, at the approaching municipal election. Without a purpose to disparage the claims of any other gentlemen, we may be allowed to express our conviction that Mr. Kirby would make an excellent officer.

SECESSION ENVELOPES.—We thank Messrs. Hutton & Freleigh for a package of envelopes, bearing the APPEAL card and a most beautifully colored secession flag in the corner; also for elegant badges, ornamented with the same glorious flag. "Our hearts," say the donors, are with the cause this emblem represents."

LOVE AND MATRIMONY.—On Friday, a young girl made oath before Squire Mallory that she loved a youth with more affection than prudence. The accused was brought forward, when, instead of going to the county jail, he consented to marry the girl, and the Squire quickly made the two one.

PROPERTY FOUND.—Yesterday Lieutenant Morrison, of the night police, found in the hands of negroes a set of silver tableware, which the owner can obtain by calling at the station house.

EDITORS APPEAL: If Richard M. Kirby will consent to run for the office of recorder, he has friends enough to elect him.

VOTERS OF MEMPHIS.

A CARD.

The undersigned beg leave to return their heartfelt acknowledgments to their neighbors and friends who so heroically exerted themselves to save their property at the conflagration of their large factory on the night of Tuesday, the 9th inst. Also for the abundant and soothing sympathy extended in their misfortune, and the substantial tokens of kind regard and affection bestowed in our time of need; to the ladies especially, foremost in every good work, whose busy hands and fingers have, in a few days, almost supplied our lack, and put us in possession of a comfortable home under circumstances we had hardly dared hope for so soon. We acknowledge and appreciate such kindness with overflowing hearts, and trust the result may be to strengthen and increase the confidence and attachment that have so long existed between us. May the blessings of a kind Providence ever be their portion, and may they never know what it is to be homeless and homeless; and in all their misfortunes may they have as generous friends as they have been to others. And may we all rejoice together in the prospect of that house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

To prevent all improper impressions, we would state that the fire is believed to have originated in the kitchen, from the flue or stove pipe. It was not her the work of an incendiary nor the result of carelessness. It occurred at about 11 o'clock, when the family were all asleep, and when discovered, the kitchen was in a blaze.

We are now residing on Exchange street, between Alabama and Poplar, near our late residence, and nearly opposite Mr. J. C. Griffith's, where we shall be glad, as heretofore, to see and commune with our friends at any time most convenient to them.

J. O. & MARY STEDMAN.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

AT a meeting of the Stockholders of the Southern Pacific Railroad company, held in the city of Memphis on the 21st of March, 1861, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That each stockholder of the company is entitled to subscribe for and purchase one share of the capital capital of the company, for each five shares now held by such stockholders, at the price of one dollar per share, and pay one-fourth the purchase money in cash, and the remainder in two, four and six months from this date, and that R. V. Richardson, agent, appointed by the Stockholders at Louisville, Ky., receive such subscriptions on behalf of the company.

R. V. RICHARDSON, Chairman.

In pursuance of the above resolution, I shall be at the office of Dr. J. Fowlkes on Jefferson street, or stockholders can call at L. S. Kellogg's Banking House and pay as per the above resolution. Necessity has dictated the policy of protecting all who pay, and calling of all who fail, to pay or suffer to bear his due proportion of what is essential to a common interest. The policy is strictly just, and will be certainly enforced. All who pay must do so promptly. R. V. RICHARDSON.
