WALLACE SAYS COST OF CANAL WILL BE LARGE

Chief Constructing Engineer of Panama Canal Criticizes Present Plan.

Wants New Canal Constructed On the Sea Level Which Will Last Forever.

New York, June 29.—J. F. Wallace, chief constructing engineer of the Panama Canal Commission, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace, arrived last night on the steamer Orizaba, of the Panama line. He is here to talk over the situation in the canal zone with Secretary Taft and the president.

Despite the fact that they were down with "yellow fever" in February, both Mr. Wallace and his wife appeared in the best of health.

Mr. Wallace plainly intimated that he is not favorable to the Walker plan, which calls for a canal ninety feet above the sea level, as is being carried out now. If, however, congress at the session in January decides to appropriate the $230,000,000 necessary to construct the sea level canal, the present plan, which is to cost $140,000,000, will be abandoned. Mr. Wallace says it will take twelve years and $230,000,000 to build the waterway properly; that the Walker plan will not stand for more than a decade, while the sea level scheme will stand forever and be greatly more convenient and more easily navigated by vessels.

An advisory committee of engineers is preparing a report on the present plan, and this will be presented to the Isthmian Commission, to be reported to congress.

Asked if it was true that he intended resigning, Mr. Wallace's mouth closed like a clam. Asked what he thought of General Davis, Mr. Wallace said:

"We are warm friends."

There are 7,600 people in the zone now, 1,200 being Americans. Forty returned yesterday, being scared away by the ravages of yellow fever.

Dr. Lundy, a scientist, who has been studying conditions in the zone, and John Seager and H. W. Tenney, secretaries of Mr. Wallace, also arrived.

CARELESS LABOR MAN MISLED BY CUTE CLERK

The Clerk's Old Song—"It has No Label But It Is Made by Union Men."

The Real Fault Is With the Union Man Who Permits Himself to Be Misled.

A Labor World man was standing in a well known clothing store a few evenings ago and noticed a laborer trying on a suit of clothes. Presently the prospective purchaser asked of the clerk, "Has this suit got the union label on it?"

"No," answered the obliging clerk in the most assuring tones, "it don't bear the label, but it is made by a fair house. I'll guarantee that and if you don't find it so, bring the clothes back and I'll refund your money."

The simple-minded laborer took the smooth clerk's word for it and bought the clothes.

We don't blame the clerk. He was just the ordinary, every day business liar, bound to sell goods and get the mazzuma.

The fault in this case was the union man, who, while wanting to do the square thing by the garment workers, was fool enough to allow a mellow-voiced Willy boy to shove off a scab suit on him and make the cause he pays hard money to support a laughing stock among clerks and clothiers.

"Mr. Union Man, if a clothing manufacturer has a right to the label you may bet your full dinner pail and all the fullness it will contain for all time to come, that he will use it. All 'fair' clothes have the label, and if it's not there the clothes are scab."

Read that sentence twice.

Use the horse sense you employ in dealing with the member of your organization. You make a stranger who claims to be union show his card, do you not? Well, then, make your dealer show his. You're from Missouri, you know.

The case of this easy mark whom the gentlemanly clerk hoodwinked is not an isolated one. That sort of thing
