LOCAL MATTERS.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 17.

☞ Rev. C. A. Davis will preach in Odd Fellows' Hall to-day, at 11 o'clock A. M.

☞ There will be divine services at 11 non street Chapel this morning at 11 o'clock.

PERSONAL.—Major H. W. Williams, the negotiator of the arrangement between Price and Fremont, and aid to Gen. Frost, was in the city yesterday.

THE MEMPHIS POET.—We publish this morning another translation from the Italian, by our gifted friend J. A. Signaigo. It will be read with pleasure by his many warm admirers.

CRIMINAL COURT.—This court was occupied during the whole of yesterday with the case of Williams, charged with murder. It was still progressing when the court adjourned.

CAPT. LAYTON'S COMPANY.—The No. 3 Fire Company are preparing to give a splendid ball on Tuesday evening at their hall. The proceeds will be devoted to the benefit of the Liberty Guards.

GONE TO THE WARS.—Our doctrinal friend, Dr. Bryan, is so "eager for the fray," that he starts for Chattanooga this morning with two guns and a portion of his company, to join Gen Carroll's brigade. We have no doubt of his gallantry, and hope for his success.

"EXCELSIOR."—This popular establishment, under the management of Mr. H. Hengbeld, is growing in public favor. The edibles of the season are daily served up in the best style. Epicures should not forget the "Excelsior Restaurant," on the south side of Court Square.

A FAVOR.—The Southern Express Company, H. Barden, agent, placed in under obligations yesterday for late New Orleans, Nashville and Texas papers. The repeated failures of the mails render these courtesies peculiarly acceptable.

LADY PICKPOCKET.—Annie Coleman was arrested yesterday for stealing from the pocket of a woman that elderly gentleman, who had no more sense nor principle than to be in her company, twenty-five dollars. She was arrested by officer Simons.

LADIES' GOODS AT AUCTION.—No. 339 Main street is fast becoming the ladies emporium of Memphis. A. L. Andrews & Co., advertise another extensive sale of silks, berages, delaines, and dress goods of every description, at their sales rooms on Monday morning, Nov. 18, at 10 o'clock. Ladies, do not forget it.

TENNESSEE MINSTRELS.—On Monday night banjo and bones, breakdown and melody, black faces and fun, will, after a long interval, make their appearance at Odd-Fellows' Hall. The proceeds will be devoted to the wounded soldiers at the Overton Hospital. There must be a big crowd on hand—the occasion demands it. For once the people must go and laugh for charity. The band intend having a season, giving three or four concerts a week.

SICK AND WOUNDED.—On Tuesday night, at the theater, for the benefit of the sick and wounded soldiers at the Overton Hotel, thirty young ladies will give an entertainment consisting of songs, duetts, quartetts, choruses and tableaux. The object is one that strongly appeals at once to the spirit of benevolence and the glowing soul of patriotism. The young ladies will give a fine entertainment. Let their noble object be generously responded to.

CUT WITH A CARVING KNIFE.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. Blessing, the proprietor of the Bayou livery stable, had a difficulty on Vance street beyond the second bayou, with a man named John Welsh, in the course of which Welsh, who considered himself acting in the defense of ladies, got a carving knife, and with it cut Blessing in the head, both arms, and abdomen, and stabbed him in the side. He was arrested. Blessing's condition is not without danger.

ANOTHER HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Officer Simons yesterday found a man named Charles Conaghan stretched, apparently lifeless, by the pile of bricks in front of the Bradley Block, opposite Front Row, between Jefferson and Adams. The pockets of his dress was turned inside out. He was much intoxicated, and had evidently been knocked down and robbed. He was put in the station house to remain until he should be sober enough to tell what had been done to him.

MAN THE BIG GUNS.—Capt. J. C. R. Jones is now actively engaged in recruiting volunteers for immediate active service in the artillery corps at Fort Pillow. Let every patriot come forward immediately and show his willingness to protect our own firesides, by placing himself behind one of the many big guns unmanned now at Fort Pillow. This is a most excellent opportunity for those wishing to do their country a service. Capt. Jones is a gallant officer, and those who may require it will be furnished with board, clothing, etc., from the day of enlistment. Headquarters 25 Front Row, between Adams and Washington streets.

MORTUARY.—The following is the report of Dr. Thomas F. Peyton, Secretary of the Board of Health, for the week ending at 12 M. yesterday: Bilious fever 1, consumption 2, congestion 1, diarrhea 2, dysentery 2, diptheria 1, disease of the lungs 1, exhaustion 1, fracture of the vertebra 1, pistol shot 1, phthisis pulmonalis 1, still born 1, unknown 3, wound 1—total 20. Recapitulation—Adults 12, children 8, males 13, females 7, citizens 16, strangers 10, whites 20—total 20. The above speaks well for our city. In referring to reports for November for four years, we find no week with so few deaths among the citizens proper. The health of the city jail and calabooze continue good.

HARDEE GRAYS' BENEFIT.—On Thursday night a number of patriotic ladies and gentlemen gave a theatrical entertainment at the theater for the benefit of the Hardee Grays. The committee of management, Messrs. W. H. Passmore and A. W. Patterson, H. P. Johnson, secretary, have handed us a statement, from which we learn that the gross receipts on that occasion were $346.25. The expenses were: Mr. Thompson for use of theater, $25; carpenter, $7; usher, $1; advertising, $53.50; costuming, $6.45; music, $19; printing, $20; postage, $2—total, $133.95. The net amount remaining, $200.25; was expended for the benefit of the regiment as follows: 28 pairs blankets, $224; 120 pairs woolen socks, $70; tobacco, $6.25.

Overton Hospital.

The report at this hospital yesterday was that the wounded soldiers were generally doing well. The soldier belonging to Col. Looney's regiment, whom we have mentioned before, and who was shot in the shoulder by a comrade in camp, was very bad last night and was not expected to live until morning. No death has so far occurred since the opening of the institution. There are a few bad cases, but the far greater portion of the wounds will be readily managed. Two patients suffered amputation last evening, both of the leg. One was a case of amputation at the hip, performed by Dr. Potts, the medical purveyor of Gen. Polk's command; the other of the hip, performed by Dr. Keller, surgeon of the army hospital. New arrangements for admission have been made by which visitors are admitted to the reception room on the presentation of a ticket from the committee, a permit from the surgeon is necessary before access can be had to the patient's rooms. In order that the public may understand the precise position of the hospital in its relation to the government, we state that it has been made entirely a government institution like any other army hospital. The government allows the men hospital rations, find the surgeons, medicines and other requisites, and have the control of the place. The citizens, through their committee, procure for the men such comforts, extra nurses, and extra attention as their condition may make desirable, so as to supply, as far as possible, the indulgence and care that they would receive at their homes. Here the ladies step in and with kind and gentle assistance act the part of mother or sister. How much the sufferer's condition is improved by these additions to the usual rations and routines of the ordinary hospital, those who are acquainted with such institutions very well know. These hospitals supply what is necessary, nothing more—no needful delicacies, no affectionate care, no kind solicitations from the soft hand of sympathizing woman. The Southern Mothers' Hospital, we learn, is likely to be put on a similar footing. That institution was for a long time carried on entirely by public contributions and individual aid. Some time ago Government recognized the institution and allowed it a surgeon and the men their rations—the rest the ladies and public aid discharged.

On 'Change—Business News.

There was a fair but not crowded attendance on 'Change yesterday, and business was but moderately active. Flour was quiet. Buyers are not disposed to give the present rates, and holders do not show a readiness to concede. A downward tendency was perceptible, which was increased by the reading of the New Orleans quotations, and of the communication from the war office, which we give below. The act of Gen Pillow in again putting the embargo on corn, raised the rates on that article from five to ten cents a bushel. The vessel, which left Columbus on Thursday, brought down 2313 sacks of corn. The freshness, which left later on the same day, was doubled in bring a single sack, and the Cotton Plant was detained and sent up the river, with a convoy for safety, to hunt some up. The question arises whether a policy that entails the expense of dispatching a steamboat and convoy to purchase and bring in a single article, which leaves Columbus, a place situated close to the corn-growing country, in a state of scarcity, while the merchants in Memphis can get it in abundance, when allowed to do so; and which raises the price of corn to the army and people situated below Columbus, is more economical or more certain as a source of supply than would be a system of making purchases in open market in Memphis, where the supply is safe, and shipping up to Columbus? The Columbus authorities appear to be paying a high price for the privilege of buying cheap corn, and the worst of the matter is, the money so paid does not go into the pocket of the hard-working planter who has raised the corn. Wheat was stiff at from 75c. to $1 per bushel. The sales on 'Change were as follows:

FLOUR—4 barrels fine $5, 100 sacks superfine $20, 25 barrels extra together $46.50, 150 barrels extra $41. WHEAT—240 bushels choice $1.35, 40 bushels fine red, sacks returned $1.75, 500 bushels good red $1.20, 300 choice $1.22. CORN—328 bushels mixed, from boats, 80c., 470 bushels white, from boats, 80c., 1300 bushels white, from levee, 80c. POTATOES—195 sacks mediums $1.05, 20 bushels fine $1.25, 50 bushels choice $1. BACON—20 bundles $1.75. FODDER—6 bundles mixed $1.25. BRAN—200 sacks coarse $1. SUGAR—12 hogsheads 5c. MOLASSES—10 barrels 35c.

The Charleston railroad brought in 1216 barrels and 70 sacks of flour; the Mississippi road, had 26 bales cotton; the Ohio railroad had 3-87 sacks wheat.

The following communications were read on 'Change:

ATLANTA, Ga., November 15, 1861.

To Capt. Ross, Superintendent Memphis and Charleston road:

Track will be finished around the burned bridge, and the trains run through on Monday.

E. B. WALKER,
Superintendent Western and Atlantic Railroad.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
RICHMOND, November 15, 1861.

Thomas W. Hunt, Esq., Memphis, Tenn.

SIR: In reply to your letter of the 30th of October, the Secretary of War directs me to say that Gen. Polk has been requested to revoke the order interdicting the export of grain. Respectfully,

A. T. BRUMBY,
Chief of Bureau of War.

The reading of the War Department communication caused lively pleasure, and the opinion was very generally expressed that the whole system of blockade established by the military authorities in Columbus against their own friends would be discontinued.

Friday's New Orleans Crescent reports liberal receipts of sugar with a dull market at irregular prices. The prices in the transactions we obtained were—at 4½c. for good inferior, 4½c. for good common, 4¾@4¾c. for fair to fully fair, 5@5½c. for prime to choice, 4c. for seconds and 4½c. for yellow clarified. Molasses in active demand, and the sales embrace the whole of the receipts, say about 4000 bbls., at 17@20c. for prime to choice in bbls., and 22@23c. ₱ gallon in half bbls. Flour in limited demand and no sales. Liverpool coarse salt $1.0 ₱ sack, 5000 bushels bulk salt $2.50 ₱ bushel. The same paper says: "Letters have been received from planters in the country complaining of and denouncing the speculators in salt. All our merchants are considered as concerned in the game. Such is not the case. The salt movement was confined only to about a dozen of speculators, yet all our merchants are blamed."

Besides, many articles of clothing, provisions, groceries, etc., have been contributed to the Hospital, but owing to want of time to properly systematize the steward's department, the proper acknowledgment cannot here be published. This department will soon be so arranged that proper notice will be given of all such articles sent for the relief of the wounded.

I cannot omit to mention the service rendered by Mr. St. Clair, mate of the steamer J. F. Pargoud, who kindly gave his assistance, and the use of twenty of his crew, to remove the wounded from the steamers Beauregard and Ingomar to the Hospital.

W. O. LOFLAND,
Treas. and Sec. for relief of wounded soldiers.

☞ Especial attention is called to the advertisement of the City Guard. They meet in Gayoso Block this afternoon.

WANTED ARTICLES.—Ward & McClellan, wholesale druggists and seedsmen, 175 Main street, advertise this morning a number of highly useful articles. Besides an excellent stock of medicines and drugs, patent medicines, oils and other articles, they have a large variety of fine seeds, of peas, wheat, grasses, onion sets, millet seed, and many others. Give them a call.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—On Friday night, at 11 o'clock, Mr. J. M. Jeffreys, who was somewhat overcome with liquor, entered the drinking house at the corner of Union and Main streets, and while there incautiously displayed a large roll of notes, to the amount of between three and four hundred dollars. After crossing the intersection of the streets he was suddenly knocked down, the money rapidly taken from his pocket, and before he could rise the thief was gone. There was very little indication to find the thief by, but these keen and shrewd detectives, officers Dyer and Causey, with a skill that does them credit, accomplished the feat. They found the thief to be Charles Rogers, who had a fruit stand at the front of the tavern. In his room the money was found—a portion in an old boot and another portion in an old shoe. The man was arrested.

THE WOUNDED PRISONERS.

Dr. Merrill, chairman of the Overton hospital committee, yesterday received a communication from Dr. Newman, medical director at Columbus, enclosing the report of Dr. Mitchell, which we give below. Dr. Newman remarks: "Most of the prisoners are shot posteriorly or laterally, showing the execution our flank movement did. Our men shot well, as all but four were shot above the knee. Those of the enemy wounded in the early part of the action were removed to their own boats." The following is Dr. Mitchell's letter and report: when, in the latter, a limb alone is mentioned, it is to be understood that the injury is a flesh wound. These wounded prisoners, it will be remembered, were exchanged:

COLUMBUS, KY., November 15.

Surgeon Jas. C. Newman, Medical Director, First Division Western Department:

SIR: In accordance with instructions, I proceeded to take charge of the wounded Federal prisoners on board of the steamer Ingomar. I had cots and nurses detailed from the Federal prisoners on board, and rendered every assistance that circumstances would permit and their condition required, until their removal to the steamer Memphis, near Cairo, on the 12th inst. In this I was assisted by Assistant Surgeon L. P. Yandell, detailed, and volunteer Surgeon A. Erskine.

Accompanying, you will find a list of names, rank, company and regiment. In the case of Maj. Mitchell, a portion of the 3rd rib, right and upper edge was removed, one inch and a half in length and one inch in breadth, leaving the Dura Mater exposed. No unfavorable symptoms occurred up to the time of his removal from the boat. A majority of the cases were severe flesh wounds. All seemed to be healthy, young men, of sound constitution and health. My prognosis was unfavorable in six cases only, three wounded in the lungs, one compound fracture of the femur near the knee joint, and two wounded in the back, in the lumbar region. All were gun-shot wounds, (with the exception of one sabre cut on the head,) and in the middle of the cases inflicted at a great nearer or distant direction.

Col. Dougherty, besides flesh wounds of shoulder and fore-arm, had a compound fracture of the leg, necessitating amputation below the knee. His condition would not admit of his removal to the boat. I consider his condition at the time rather precarious.

Respectfully,
R. W. MITCHELL,

River News and Steamboat Business.

The river is rising with some rapidity, only the upper timbers of that unmitigated nuisance, the wheelboat wreck, being above water.... The weather was pleasant, with a cool wind.... The landing was tolerably lively with outgoing boats. The Admiral and Sam Hale left for White River, the Pargoud and Morrison for New Orleans, the Victoria for Vicksburg, and the Yazoo for Columbus.... The Eliza O. leaves for White River on Thursday next.... There was much gratification among the river men at the action in the Secretary of War in desiring this Polk to remove the blockade on grain, and it is generally believed that the action of Gen. Pillow, in again enforcing corn to blockade, will soon be reversed.... The Pilots of Wales and the Magnolia are due to-day.... The New Orleans Delta, of Friday, says: "Business on the levee, especially about the Memphis packets, was very active. The steamers Vicksburg and Louisville, for Memphis, had their full complement of freight, the latter packet receiving her hogsheads of sugar, which was turned over to the Magnolia".... To-morrow evening the favorite New Orleans packet, Clara Dolson, Capt. Dunning, leaves for New Orleans. Travelers will find the Clara a fine boat, and her officers accommodating gentlemen.... The St. Louis Democrat, of Tuesday last, says: The river here is still falling slowly, and is 6½ feet above low water of December, 1861. The Missouri continues unimproved, with 5½ feet in the lower end below Jefferson City.

Messrs. Clark, Gregory & Co.,

I have been afflicted with the worst form of Bad Piles and a very bad diarrhea. I have been treated by various physicians, who pronounced my case incurable. Finding no relief, I was persuaded to try your Anodyne Oil, and after using one bottle, I was enabled to attend to my usual avocation. Three months have elapsed since I used the whole and seeing that I was so much benefited by it, that other sufferers of this disease the worst in the world, may try it and be convinced as I have been, that its equal is not to be found. M'LEAN'S CORDIAL.

As may be seen, we have this week the advertisement of McLean's Cordial, etc.

It is very well known we are not given to puffing patent medicines, and, as a general thing, believe the whole of them are but little necessary, and will those sentiments we declined inserting this advertisement until we knew what were the ingredients of the medicine, and how compounded. These have been stated and believing, as we do, that the materials are good, and the compound judiciously made, we recommend it as a salutary remedy in palsy and fever.

The above is from the St. Louis Christian Advocate, edited by the renowned Rev. Dr. McAnally, which speaks volumes in favor of McLean's Cordial. Wend to all, try it. See the advertisement in another column. [old] dew
