PRINTERS STEADY GAIN IN EIGHT HOUR FIGHT

Indications are that the United Typothetae of America, which has waged a fight against the printers for more than a year, is only in the beginning of its troubles, says Luke Grant in Chicago Record-Herald. The electrotypers have determined to go out for an eight-hour day on January 1. The printing pressmen and bookbinders have tried to make the electrotypers hold off until next May, when the three organizations would be ready to start a fight at one time. The pressmen are under an agreement which does not expire until next May. The electrotypers, however, refuse to put off their demands, so that it is apparent the Typothetae is to have its hands full this year if it persists in refusing the shorter workday in the printing industry. Reports received at the headquarters of the International Typographical Union show that gradually the larger firms in the United Typothetae are weakening and signing the demands of the printers. They have had about all the fight that they want for a while, and if the other trades make a concerted move it does not require much of a prophet to tell what the results will be. As it stands now it may be said that the eight-hour day has been established in the composing rooms throughout the country, and it looks as if it would extend to all other departments within a short time. The printers have borne the brunt of the battle alone, and if the shorter workday is completely inaugurated within the next six months, they alone are entitled to the credit.

WORST OF ALL
Mrs. Olded—Your husband seems like an awfully nice man. I hope he hasn't any bad habits.
Mrs. Newed—Only one—but that is the limit. It is the mother habit.
Mrs. Olded—The mother habit?
Mrs. Newed—Yes. Mother's coffee, mother's bread, mother's pies, and all that sort of thing, you know.

NO TIME TO LOSE.
From Life: The Lady—Do you clean houses? The Vacuum Cleaner Man—Yes ma'am. We have a four-cylinder machine and we'll take away every atom of dirt.
All right; my husband has just been spending his vacation on a second-hand auto, and I wish you'd start on him at once.

HONK HONK FINANCE.
Knicker—I see a bank is to send an auto around for collections.
Booker—Well, the machine can pay for its own repair on the way.—N. Y. Sun.

NOT UP IN THAT.
From the Chicago Tribune: Miss Backbay—You are familiar, in a general way, with paleontology, are you not?
Mr. Carondelet—No; I don't remember that I ever happened across it. But I once read Paley on "Evidences of Christianity," or something like that, when I was a boy, and I found it awful heavy reading.
