DARING OPERATIONS OF FORGERS.

Excitement Among the Bankers—Forged Check to the Amount of Twelve Thousand Dollars Presented—How the Attempted Frauds were Detected, and How the Scoundrels were Arrested—Exciting Chase After One of Them—Full Details of the Affair—A Check for Three Thousand Two Hundred and Twenty Dollars Cashed.

The engrossing subject of gossip on Third street, yesterday afternoon—among bankers and pork merchants in particular, and business men generally—was the discovery of a daring attempt on the part of a couple of men to obtain payment, at the Commercial National Bank, on the east side of Main street, between Third and Fourth, and at the bank of Evans & Co., on the south side of Third street, between Walnut and Vine streets, upon two forged checks—one of four thousand four hundred and twenty dollars at each place.

It is evident that this attempt was the culmination of a plot, deliberately formed, over a month since, by a party of at least three men, two of whom are now in custody, awaiting trial on the charge of forgery.

Early in January last, a man, who professed to have come here from Illinois with a few head of live stock, which, as he stated, he had sold, called at the pork house of Evans, Lippincott & Newton, on the south side of Ninth-street, between Main and Sycamore, and asked to deposit three thousand and four hundred dollars with them. Although they did not care particularly to receive the money, they did so to oblige the man, and when, a few days after, he called for a check for the amount, they desired to pay him over the cash. He seemed, however, to prefer their check for the amount, and they finally gave it to him. He thus came into possession of their signature.

At about the same time, and under similar circumstances, the same man (it is supposed), secured the signature of John Steel & Co., pork dealers, at Number Fifty-two Hunt street, upon a deposit of three hundred and twenty-five dollars. In the case of Evans, Lippencott & Newton, the check was upon Evans & Co., while that of John Steel & Co., was upon the Commercial National Bank.

It happened, strangely enough, that in presenting these checks, at the banks upon which they were drawn, this man excited the suspicions of various parties. At the Commercial National Bank, upon which he had the check of John Steel & Co., for three hundred and twenty-five dollars, he asked to have it endorsed "good," something which they are not in the habit of doing very often. Upon being informed of this fact, John Steel & Co., gave orders not to pay any checks drawn in their name unless they were made payable to John Steel or order. At the banking house of Evans & Co., the head of which house is also senior of the firm of Evans, Lippencott & Newton, the same order was given, the suspicion of Mr. Hughes, a member of the firm of Evans & Co., having become, by some fatality, fortunate enough, fixed upon the same individual.

Thus matters stood, when, at about two o'clock of yesterday afternoon, a decidedly inferior looking man, almost shabby in dress, entered the Commercial National Bank and handed to the paying teller a printed check of the bank, drawn in favor of C. J. Tucker, or bearer, for four thousand four hundred and twenty dollars, and signed with the firm name of John Steel & Co. The signature was pronounced genuine by the experts of the bank, but there was considerable hesitation as to paying over the amount, on account of the doubt from the firm in question as to the payment of their checks. It was supposed possible, however, that the firm might have drawn the check in this manner through forgetfulness, or that they might have concluded that their extra caution was no longer necessary. While the people of the bank were this knocking their heads together, "C. J. Tucker, or bearer," was observed to sneak out through the door without any word further as to his four thousand four hundred and twenty dollars. The teller, the cashier, and over counters and through doors he rushed clerks and bookkeepers, in pursuit of the fellow. Up Main street, and cast on the south side of Fourth, ran the fugitive, until he reached Hammond street, down which he dashed, apparently ignorant of the existence of the Hammond street Station-house, out of which rushed Detective Fitzgerald and Officer Rogers, who saw the panting runaway on Third street, near Sycamore, whence they conveyed him back to a cell of the Station. This man gave his name as Tom Johnson, opposite which, upon the slate, was entered the charge of forgery.

At the banking house of Evans & Co., about an hour previous to this occurrence, there was presented another check for four thousand four hundred and twenty dollars, signed in the firm name of Evans, Lippencott & Newton. The signature seemed genuine, but it so happened that the sharp eye of Mr. Hughes, the & Co., of the firm, detected something suspicious in the appearance of the claimant for four thousand four hundred and twenty dollars, and if the paper which seemed to entitle him to the same. He accordingly pulled on his hat and overcoat, pleasantly remarked to the individual that Evans, Lippencott & Newton had again made a mistake in the matter of "bearer," instead of "order," and suggested that they should go and see about it. With this arm carefully linked within that of the stranger, Mr. Hughes proceeded to the pork house, on Ninth street, between Main and Sycamore, We release you the aforesaid stranger in the charge of a lusty Teutonic partner, until he had satisfied himself that the check was forged, when he transferred his prisoner to the care of officer Fitch, who soon had him locked up within a cell of the Hammond street Station house, almost next door to his friend of the other four thousand four hundred and twenty dollar check. This man, who is quite shrewd and intelligent, and rather genteel in appearance, gives his name as John Hayes. Both parties will be brought before Judge Warren, of the Police Court, this morning, on the charge of forgery. This is the first attempt at an extensive operation, in forged paper, that our banks have experienced in a long while. The work was exceedingly well done by the accomplished forger, who is, doubtless, still at liberty; but extraordinary caution, or, as it should seem, an unaccountable fatality, has completely frustrated the scheme in these two instances.

Later.

Since writing the above we have ascertained that a most important portion of the story of this forgery remains yet to be told. It seems that the men operating in this business were successful, yesterday afternoon, in obtaining three thousand two hundred and twenty dollars, in good Treasury notes, at the First National Bank, upon a check to which they had forged the name of Samuel Haughton, a prominent pork dealer. We presume they obtained the original check signature in the same manner as described in the cases of John Steel & Co., and Evans, Lippencott & Newton. At any rate, the name was admirably imitated, and the forger did not neglect to follow Mr. Haughton's habit (the gentleman being a member of the Society of Friends), in dating the check "Second Month, Eighth Day."

Celebrated Patent

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(Or double Steel Spring)

SKIRT.

WESTS, BRADLEY & CARY,

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers, 97 Chambers and 79 and 81 Reade street,

NEW YORK.

This invention consists of Duplex or two Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided, tinted, and covered, and hinged, edge to edge, making the top flexed, while, the bottom flexes with every motion. They will not bend or break, like the single springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful form, more than twice as long as any single spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility, ease and comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, opera, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, and in stepping, the accommodating motion of the skirt can be made worn in use to occupy a small place as easily and as conveniently as a crushed one.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and convenience of a Duplex or two Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children's Misses and Young ladies they are superior to all others.

The bottom rods are covered with two ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the single rods covered which is used on all single steel hoop skirts. The three bottom rods on every skirt are also double steel, and twice as durable covered to prevent the cutting from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, across steps, etc., etc., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant corded tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest most desirable, comfortable and economical skirt ever made.

For sale in all first class stores, Wholesale and Retail, in this city, and throughout the United States and Canadas, Havana in Cuba, Mexico, South America, and the West Indies.

Roofing! Roofing!!

SAMUEL DAVIDS, Agent for the Gutta Percha Comet Roofing. This roofing is composed of two thicknesses of Gutta Percha cemented with a preparation of Gutter Percha and entirely impervious to water. To persons wishing any thing done in my line, I will say I am prepared to give perfect satisfaction. This roofing is not effected by heat or cold, the expansion and contraction being so little as not to effect it. It is cheap, will last equally as long as the tin, and can be applied to Steamboats and Railroad cars. Persons living in the country will find it to their interest to give me a call. I would also invite my Steamboat friends to come and see me at 262 Monroe street, corner of Second.

Land Agency.

THE undersigned having established an office, in McNutt, Sunflower county, Miss., for the SALE OF PLANTATIONS AND REAL ESTATE generally, solicits communications and personal interviews with those having property for sale. He has perfected arrangements with Messrs. Sanbourn & Markley, Southern Land Agents, 52 Broadway, New York, for the disposal of such property, thereby affording him the advantage of Northern, Eastern and Western capital, with a wealthy investment in Southern Real Estate. His extensive acquaintance in the country embraced within the Yazoo Valley, as well as connections reaching on the Central and N. O. and J. R. R. will enable him in most cases, to give satisfactory information regarding property in those sections.
