AND GET PERMANENTLY CURED.

"I think it my duty to recommend the Taylor Institute. Nearly a year ago, I sent one of my employees to receive treatment for the liquor disease from Dr. Taylor, and was so pleased with the result that later I sent another, and the results were the same in both cases. Both are now strictly temperate and respected citizens and are doing well." T. N. Okerstrom, dealer in real estate, pine and hardwood lands, and mill owner, Port Wing, Wis.

"I cannot find language to express my gratitude to you for the splendid and perfect cure wrought in my case. I have never had the slightest desire for liquor of any kind since I took your treatment. My health is good, my mind bright and clear, and I am full of energy and hope."—Otto Nilshy, secretary and treasurer, Scandinavian Mutual Insurance Company, of Otter Tail County, Underwood, Minnesota.

DEATH TAKES CARDINAL.
ROME, March 18.—Cardinal Casali Del Drago died in this city today. He was born in 1838 and was created cardinal in 1899.

HELMER SWENHOLT TO LEAD THE BADGER QUINT

MADISON, Wis., March 18.—Helmer Swenholt, of Madison, the flaxen-haired little forward, has been elected captain of the basketball team of the University of Wisconsin for the ensuing year. The only other candidate was Ewald Stehm, of Johnson Creek, the giant center on both the basketball and football teams. The election was decided by tossing a coin, and Swenholt, captain of the school, he declared that no secret organization of pupils would be tolerated. The members promised to heed the warning.

BARS FRATS FROM SCHOOLS.
CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., March 18.—Superintendent Swartz has ordered the members of the Greek letter fraternity, Alpha Delta Omega, to disband the organization or suffer expulsion from school. He declared that no secret organization of pupils would be tolerated. The members promised to heed the warning.

LADIES SHOULD HELP SOLVE LABOR PROBLEM

never take a long-term lease on it under any circumstances.

Battle Must Be Won.
The idea is to win this battle with as little real inconvenience to yourselves as possible. A wise discrimination against such buildings costs you nothing. There are plenty of other buildings in your own town where you can spend your money. And yet such a discrimination would mean the complete effacement of the whole movement to overthrow labor organization.

But in order to do this greatly needed work your union label leagues must be kept up and your enthusiasm kept alive.

Use Good Judgment.
Remember that brains win. The people who attempt to enrich themselves by robbing labor are so illy informed as to believe that prosperity—at least for themselves—can be built up on wage reductions, the same as the slave owners of the southern states once believed that they could make the south rich with negro slave labor. But the north was on the wage system and grew rich while the commerce and business of the south languished, because they lacked the sustaining power of a great volume of wage money moving in steady tide through the channels of industrial and commercial activity. So the south had a comparatively few plantation owners strutting in imaginary greatness on their verandas and pointing with gold-headed canes at their possessions of land and slaves, while everybody else was poor and the cities grew with exceeding slowness.

Therefore, when the war of the rebellion took place the south was inferior in both population and wealth and suffered defeat—and from that day to this the curse of the south has been its low wages, resulting in slow growth, while in the north where wages were twice as high great cities have been built, rivaling the much older cities of London, Paris and Berlin.

Curse of Low Wages.
Wherever the policy of building up prosperity on low wages and long hours has been adopted it has proven to be a dismal failure, a blight upon business as well as upon labor, and a general curse to the public. The proposition to attract growth to the head of Lake Superior by attacking organized labor—and thus also attacking the homes of the people—is absurd and shows inexcusable ignorance of the history of this country.

And to the ignorance of this attack there is added the malice such as perhaps the snake has when in its rage it sometimes turns and buries its fangs in its own flesh. And to the ignorance and the malice there is also added a degree of the vain pride of imaginary superiority, which is well typified by the gorged and swollen wood-tick on a dog's back proud of the magnitude of its inflated pod.

Methods That Will Win.
But with all of this it is well to be patient and to remember that we cannot win by matching malice against malice, but by setting in operation those mighty forces of discriminative buying and patronage which would soon put to rout those who would despoil us. Remember that this contest cannot be won with club and brickbat and damage to property. The adherents of any cause who resort to riot to be a source of strength are beaten in advance. Discriminative buying and loyalty to the union label will easily win greater victories than were ever achieved by any kind of unlawful attack or spiteful reprisal.

And let the husbands, the brothers and the lovers set the right example by wearing union label clothes and always demanding the label on all manufactured commodities. The union man who does not do this is worthless to the cause and is a hindrance to the progressive enlightenment of his country.

And above all else let organized labor endeavor to keep justice on its side. He who would use the tremendous power of organization to ride an industry to death and impoverish the owner and employer is a rascal at heart, and unless firmly checked by the wiser and more honest members of organized labor the resulting reaction will be speedy and bitterly disappointing to all who work. Undoubtedly organized labor has sometimes been influenced by noisy and unprincipled agitators into doing things that were not right—but even so, for each time that labor has been wrong the entrenched corporate interests have been wrong a thousand times. There are corporations which have violated the law many times every day for the past 20 years or longer—every time to somebody's hurt. But they do not propose to go out of business on that account—and neither do we propose to go out of business.

And let us make no mistake as to the vital influences which we need for our upbuilding and our defense. Regardless of devils and hypocrites—of whom there are plenty—we need the church and the school as the most powerful instruments with which to form the everlasting defenses of labor, because they build up character and dispel ignorance. These defenses we must have, or we and our cause shall miserably perish together.

Nobility of Our Work.
The work we are trying to accomplish is a benevolent and righteous work, giving its blessings not to ourselves alone, but to all mankind. In the panorama of varying circumstances we notice that the most of the rich men are sons of poor parents—and with many of these the family tree will be in poor circumstances again in the next generation. A year ago Banker Morse of New York was rated at $20,000,000. Now his fortune is gone and the other day he was brought before a New York court charged with a series of criminal offenses, and was bound over for trial. Banker Walsh of Chicago, formerly rated at $5,000,000, has had a similar experience and is now under a five-years' sentence to the penitentiary.

We are sorry that these things are so—and surely it does not become us to be glad of any man's woe, or to be careless of the sorrow that enters any home. I only mention these things to show that circumstances are constantly changing so that the son of the rich man of yesterday may today or tomorrow be glad to enter and enjoy the benefits of the great brotherhood of organized labor. I know that this thought is not pleasing to those who are puffed up with wicked vanity. They prefer to think of their sons as masters whom the others must serve. But Christ said:

"He that is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted." Matthew 23:11,12.

It is true that the brotherhood of labor has nothing to offer which tickles the vanity of greedy pride—but it appeals strongly to the better nature of the men and women who are endowed with the priceless heritage of exalted sentiment and profound regard for the rights of others.

A Word in Conclusion.
Therefore in conclusion we wish to say that the women of our country are patriotic in war, devoted and loyal in peace, ready to do and to dare and to suffer even unto death for those whom they love.

Can these women fall us now in this great emergency?
Can they be headless when the interloper ones are being beaten down?
Can they be willing to pass under the mark of Cain in entering the business mart to bestow the favor of their business patronage?

Can they satisfy their own consciences in giving tribute to those who by oppressing labor have robbed their coal bin and watered their baby's milk?

Ladies, this great problem is up to you. You must organize and help in this battle for right—or share with us a defeat which means humiliation, injustice, oppression and poverty.

Yours truly,
H. C. STIVERS.

WOMEN'S UNION LABEL LEAGUE PROSPEROUS

Enthusiastic Meeting Held at Flaaten Hall on Wednesday Evening the 18th Inst.

The meeting was addressed by Mrs. Warnecke, president of the league. Mr. W. B. Howley, president of the State Federation of Labor, Rev. J. Lumley, pastor of the Congregational church, West Duluth.

The home talent addresses were intentionally brief, to make way for Mr. Raymond Robins of Chicago. Mr. Robins is an accomplished and earnest speaker and delivered one of the best union labor addresses ever heard in Duluth.

He discussed the question from the social, financial and patriotic standpoints, and advanced the most unanswerable arguments in support of righteousness of the aims and objects of organized labor. He showed that the prosperity of every community was dependent upon the purchasing power of the "group of toil." Really it would be impossible to do anything like justice in a brief reference such as this, to the very original, truthful and eloquent address of Mr. Robins. Quite a percentage of the large audience were from the ranks of "open shop" advocates, and if they did not leave the hall with their views wholly changed, they at least left with greater respect for the contentions of organized labor.

BRYAN IN TORONTO.
Toronto has had within her gates for 24 hours a man. Though a citizen of the United States, farber otherwise to the very original, truthful and eloquent address of Mr. Robins. Quite a percentage of the large audience were from the ranks of "open shop" advocates, and if they did not leave the hall with their views wholly changed, they at least left with greater respect for the contentions of organized labor.

No one can hear this man speak without exclaiming, "He is sincere" and in his sincerity lies his strength. It has not been easy for him to reach his present place in the estimation of English-speaking people. But one can easily imagine that it is not Bryan who has changed, but the people. From the first Bryan has been what he is, a man, and it has been by reason of his virile manhood, in which the chief ingredient is sincerity of purpose, that he has won Bryan, the man, is worthy of emulation by our public men. Toronto is happy to have had the privilege of having a man within her gates.—Toronto World.

George Washington

UNTIL every generation of Americans George Washington is justly held to be the purest figure in history—a superb example of the perfect citizen—a just and righteous ruler and "a light for after time."

This commanding personality had a magnificent physique. He stood over six feet in his stockings, was remarkable for horsemanship, agility and strength—the finest gentleman and athlete of his day.

His constitution was of iron and he knew how to keep it so. His biographers declare that in eating and in drinking as in all things he was normal; enjoying the juice of the malt all the days of his life. He drank it around campfires, as well as in his own home and upon social and state occasions.

Furthermore, upon his Mount Vernon plantation he had a brew house, as was the regular custom of wealthy Virginians.

Budweiser

IT shines like liquid gold—it sparkles like amber dew—it quickens with life—a right lusty beer—brewed conscientiously for over fifty years from barley and hops only.

It prolongs youth and preserves physical charm—giving strength to muscle, mind and bone—a right royal beverage for the home.
