RIGHT SYSTEM SAVES TROUBLE IN KITCHEN

Secret Lies in Doing Things in the Easiest Instead of Hardest Way.

"I love to work in my kitchen," said a cheery faced housewife the other day, "because I have made a study of having things convenient. I used to slave from morning until night, taking hundreds of steps there was really no need for. Finally one night I sat down and determined that things should be different. If I was going to cook and wash dishes I was going to do it in the easiest instead of the hardest possible way. It cost me some money to get started right, but I have been well repaid, and I'll tell you how I did it.

"I had on hand a lot of copper utensils. These, while I knew they were durable, were nevertheless extremely heavy to handle. I sold them to a friend of mine, who had often envied me, for about half their cost, and then I laid in a stock of agate ware and tinware. I purchased, in addition to the articles I had had before, a meat grinder, a breadcrumb, some measuring cups, and grease brushes, and several good, sharp knives. These extras cost about $2.

"The next thing I did was to place all combinations of things together. I put my baking utensils near together. I put mop and dustpan and broom and floor cloths in a group. I made a good place for everything and made a vigorous resolve that everything should be kept in its place.

"My kitchen table I discovered was too low. I felt that I could not afford one of the regular kitchen cabinets, so I had a carpenter lengthen the legs and put in several extra drawers. In these drawers I put all such things that could not be hung up, such as rolling pin, flour sieve, bags of all kinds, and cheesecloth for straining jellies and soups.

"Then I decided that I would cover the floor with linoleum. I had been having my floor bare, and had taken great pride in keeping it at a certain state of whiteness, which was the envy and admiration of my neighbors. You may know, however, that I did this at the expense of health and strength. After the linoleum had been laid, I got several pieces of washable carpeting and put them in the places, where I am compelled to stand the most.

"The next thing I did was to attach a slate and pencil near the back door. This was for me to write things on as I went. I cannot tell you how much this has helped me.

"I laid in some canned things next, against the day when the unexpected guest should arrive.

"I have always made a point, since the time when I made up my mind that my housekeeping should proceed along scientific lines, to collect all my materials for a meal before I set out getting it ready. I take my time and see that everything is on hand. Then leisurely I proceed to get breakfast, dinner, or supper—whatever it may be.

"I'm proud of myself," the woman laughed gayly. "I've given quite a lecture and I could see by your faces that you were interested. Well, all that is left for me to say is, 'Go thou and do likewise.'" rubber gloves. In sweeping the wrists should be firmly bound with ribbon or strips of white cloth, and a pair of heavy pigskin gloves that have been discarded by the man of the house should be donned. A woman's own gloves, however worn and stretched, are always too tight for sweeping or doing other housework. Scrubbing is a fine exercise when both arms are used, but making beds is just as good exercise, and moving furniture, not too heavy, is as good as a medicine ball any day.

TRUE REFORM. Oh, ye men who prate of college. And of books as doors to hope, Go and gain the living knowledge Where the tolling people grope. Like the plants in shadowy places, They are needing sun to bloom— They are hungering for life's graces, They are wanting light and room.

Give them something more of pleasure Than ten million dollar tomes, Give them work and give them leisure, Give them clubs and give them homes. Open wide the door of beauty And invite the people in— And you'll find the paths of duty Better filled than paths of sin.

Oh, I cannot sit debating On the issues of a creed, With the mighty work that's waiting And the world's tremendous need. And the cold and costly steeple Brings no pennies from my purse, While the people, peopled people Groan beneath oppression's curse.

While the tenements are reeking With the striving, tolling poor, Do not send your churchmen seeking Help for heathen to my door. Let them go where sin carouses, Or where seething sweatshops stand; Let them see the slaughterhouses Of the children of our land.

True reform has one beginning— The right hand of brotherhood. Would you help him out of sinning? Would you lead them into good? Would you teach that Christ has risen? Prove it by your deeds of worth. If you want to close the prison, Beautify the homes of earth. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Wanted an Injunction. Seeking redress for domestic troubles, a negro woman who resembled nothing so much as she did the "before taking bath" out of sinning? Would you lead them into good? Would you teach that Christ has risen? Prove it by your deeds of worth. If you want to close the prison, Beautify the homes of earth. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

The Physical Benefits of Housework. What social economics and good common sense have not been able to accomplish, the desire for health and physical comeliness has effected, to wit: Housework as a cure for brain fog and for the perfect rounding out of the figure has been prescribed and accepted. Nowadays when one sees a woman of means doing her own housework it is not because she is becoming miserly, not that she really loves to scrub and dust and make beds, but because it is good for her physical well-being. What a stultion of the servant problem. And to think that the beauty doctors, of all people, should be the ones to solve the servant problem. The old ideals of beauty were based on a stultion and persistent care of oneself, even to the point of self-indulgence and extreme selfishness. But just as the business man has taken to the hoe, and to golf and the automobile, so the woman who finds herself growing stout, takes to housework in order to get up a good circulation and keep her limbs straight and supple.

The woman who cannot and will not understand sees no valuable exercise in washing dishes, but if she will watch herself in this exercise she will find there is a great deal. And it is not necessary to do the hands into hot water. Really good housekeepers scorn a mop as inefficient, and use

RECIPES. Wedding Cake. Take one pound of butter, one pound of flour, one pound of sugar, one pound of citron, two pounds of raisins, ten eggs, four nutmegs, four teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, four teaspoonfuls of cloves, two wineglasses of wine, and two of brandy.

Venetian Chicken. Take one large chicken or two small ones and boil the stock down to one and a half pints. Remove all bones and return to kettle; add three large tomatoes, fresh. Canned ones will do. Also add one large onion sliced thin, a few white of celery, and seasoning to taste. Boil all together quickly for about fifteen minutes and it will thicken.

Beef with Bread Crumbs. Have your butcher chop two pounds of thick beefsteak. Put butter in a pan an dthen hot place meat in, cover with bread crumbs well saturated with sweet milk, put in oven and bake slowly forty minutes. Pepper and salt to suit taste.

Cure Hams. For two hams and shoulders of ordinary size take one cupful of salt, one teaspoonful saltpetre, place on stove until quite warm. It is better to warm meat before rubbing, although not absolutely necessary, but the salt strikes in quicker.

DEMI-BLOC SYSTEM. The mode of constructing these superb Trap and Field Guns is fully set forth in our New Shotgun Pamphlet. Send two-cent stamp for it.

hard, and will keep just as well as if salt and smoke had been used without limit.

Bathing Children. When bathing children, especially those of nervous temperament, they often become childe and fretful before the bath is over. I have found it a great help to bathe first down to the elbows and nearly to the waistline, an dthen dry quickly and thoroughly, rubbing the shoulders and back briskly with a little bath towel before continuing. The lower part of the little body is kept warm as the child sits in the water, and when the bath is over the drying is finished in just a moment and the small person has been warm and comfortable throughout the entire process. Try it yourself, and see how comfortable you may be in spite of rapidly cooling water and a cold bathroom.

Ink Stain on Linen. Take a piece of tallow candle, melt it, and dip the spotted part of the linen in the melted tallow, then put it into the wash. It will become perfectly white, without any spot or hole. This is better than milk, spirits of salts, or saits of lemon.

Laundry Notes. To remove mildew dip the stained cloth in buttermilk and lay in the sun. To remove iron rust mix salt and a little lemon juice, put in the sun. Use two applications if necessary, put the article in kerosene, allowing it to remain for some time. The rust will become loosened and easily come off.

Blanch Fowl. To have all turkey or chicken meat white take one-half teaspoon of salt and one-half of white sugar. Now, with clean cloth thoroughly wash the fowl inside the day before you wish to use it and hang in a cool place. In the morning before cooking it wash out with cold water. This process draws all the blood to the inside and the meat will all be white.

Save Soap Scraps. When a cake of soap has been used until it becomes so thin it is liable to break put it and a new cake in hot water for two or three minutes, then fit this piece onto the new cake and press firmly with fingers; it will adhere and becomes a part of the new cake. I prefer this method to the use of soap shaker for scraps for either toilet or laundry soap.
