NOTED ENGLISH BEAUTY WILL VISIT NEW YORK

Friends of Mrs. George Keppel, to whom King Edward recently gave a $300,000 house, have received word that she is about to visit the United States. She will be entertained in New York city with an elaborate program for the woman who is so mighty in the English court is also popular in America.

Mrs. Keppel is the wife of a son of the late Earl of Albemarle. She was married in 1891 and went out much in society with her husband, but her beauty did not become a subject of general conversation abroad until Queen Victoria received her and she plunged into social prominence. Her father was Sir Archibald Edmonstone, who was a business man like her husband.

When Mrs. Keppel was in this country in 1891, Sir Thomas Lipton entertained her with parties on his yacht and William C. Whitney gave a dinner in her honor. She stopped with Mrs. E. A. Sherwood in West Thirty-third street.

Mrs. Keppel is slight, tall and dark, with a beautiful complexion, violet eyes full of life and vivacity, regular features and masses of dark hair.

The dominant note of her personality is elegance. She is always faultlessly dressed. She has a clever tongue and a winning manner, and one feature about her which all her friends and rivals admit is that she is in no way offensively conscious of being the object of royal preference.

Mrs. Keppel first attracted widespread attention in 1899, when the prince of Wales showed his special admiration for her beauty while the Keppels were visiting the Riviera. The princess of Wales was relegated to the rear in the prince's favor, and the new social star was shining brightly when a snub from the duke of Richmond dimmed her light. The duke positively refused to allow her to be a guest at his house. The prince at once put Richmond on his blacklist and refused to make his time-honored annual visit to the duke's home. Mr. Keppel, the husband of the beauty, is a wine merchant.

SELF SATISFACTION SURE CURE FOR WORRY

One should fear that ambition be a veil of conceit; but one should fear also that modesty be a pretext for laziness.

The avoidance of worry is very largely a question of self-control. The man who can prevent thought crowding on thought and can take one at a time, is safe. Do not take anything for a sense of worry except rest, plenty of food and fresh air to put you into good condition, and a resolution not to think in a general apprehensive way about your work, but do with concentrated attention, bit by bit, as it is wanted.

The more one's knowledge of human nature expands, the more convinced does one become of the value of self-satisfaction. Indeed, on making a mental survey of one's friends and acquaintances, one is forced to the conclusion that to be thoroughly pleased with one's self is one of the greatest of all factors to success in life. For a woman, certainly nothing is quite so invaluable as a thorough conviction of her own charm and fascination, especially in the event of her possessing neither. Provided her imagination is sufficiently great, she has only to endow herself with all the attributes of a charmer to be acclaimed as such by a world which usually takes everybody at his or her own valuation.

SOME BEAUTY HINTS FOR MARRIED WOMEN

Every time you pick up something from the floor let the bending come absolutely from the hips and not the knees. This exercise will make the waist supple.

One cannot have a pretty hand if the fingers are broad at the tips. Pressing down on the ends of the fingers from the first joint to the tip will, if done many times a day, remedy this defect.

Any exercise that works muscles chords about the stomach promotes digestion, and for this reason specialists at foreign baths strongly recommend that no person shall sit immediately after eating.

The middle-aged figure is to be feared. You can avoid it by diet and exercise, which will keep your limbs firm and solid and which will do away with the fatty rolls on hips and abdomen. Every day order from your grocer a pound and a half of round steak chopped fine. Heat this without butter in a frying pan. This amount will do for three meals. Shun butter, potatoes, cream, sugar and fats. A little care and you will be slender again.

SOME THINGS THAT ARE WORTH KNOWING

The best aids to beauty are abundant ablutions of the entire body, wholesome and easily-digested food, plenty of fresh air and sufficient sleep. The following sulphur lotion is an excellent remedy for pimples: Sulphur precipitate, 1 dram; alcohol, 1 ounce. Shake before applying. May be used several times daily.

Buttermilk is excellent for the complexion. It should be lightly rubbed on the face at night with a bit of absorbent cotton, or a soft, clean rag, and allowed to remain on all night.

The following is a good dandruff lotion and when made up rub it well into the scalp with a small sponge every night: Acetic acid, 1/4 ounce; glycerine, 2 drams; carbolic acid, 1/4 dram; elderflower-water, 3 ounces; rose water, 6 ounces. If persevered with, this will completely eradicate the dandruff and remedy the irritation of the scalp, and will be very soothing and refreshing in its effects. When the

CHOICE RECIPES FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER

Selected, Purloined and Gathered from the Best Culinary Authorities of the Day.

Three Salads.

A delicious salad served at a luncheon recently came in on individual plates. On each plate there was a white lettuce leaf, and heaped in the middle of it shredded celery dressed with mayonnaise and sprinkled on the top with broken English walnut meats. Around the mound there were strips of Spanish red peppers.

For a hasty fruit salad when fresh fruit is not at hand open a can of peaches, drain it and arrange the halves of the fruit on lettuce leaves, sprinkle them with shredded almonds and a few cherries, if they are at hand and dress them with mayonnaise. If nuts and cherries are not at hand the peaches are excellent alone.

A woman with a long salad repertory boils English walnut meats with a slice of onion and a blade of mace for fifteen minutes, then drains and chills them and serves on lettuce leaves with sections of hard boiled eggs and mayonnaise. As a garnish she uses strips of olives.

Prupe Pie.

This is a good old-fashioned pie, without frills. Wash and soak one pound of prunes overnight in water enough to cover them. Cook in the same water until tender. Line a pie plate with rich paste and fill with the prunes and some of the liquid, reduced by simmering to a small amount. Sprinkle with one-quarter cupful of sugar and one table-spoonful of lemon juice. Cover with a top crust and bake in a rather quick oven, as the filling has already been cooked. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

How to Buy Meats.

To the housekeeper the question how to select meats when she is purchasing for table use is a puzzling one. Good meat should be neither of a pale, rosy or pink color, nor of a deep purple. The first denotes the diseased condition, the last proves the animal lacked a natural color. Good meat has more of a marble look, in consequence of the branching of the veins which surround the adipose cells. The fat, especially of the inner organs, is always firm and suety, and never moist; while in general the fat from diseased cattle is flabby and watery, and more often resembles jelly or boiled parchment. Wholesome meat will always show itself firm and elastic to the touch, and exhibit no dampness; while bad meat will appear soft and moist, so that the liquid substance runs out of the blood when pressed hard. Good meat has very little smell, while the unsound meat has a disagreeable, cadaverous odor, and diffuses a certain medicinal smell. Lastly, bad meat has this peculiarity, it shrinks considerably in boiling; wholesome meat rather swells and does not lose an ounce of weight.

School Lunches.

Two lettuce sandwiches, two of brown bread, and cream cheese, two olives, an orange.

Two chicken sandwiches, two of chopped figs, a handful of peanuts, a little sponge cake, a pear.

Two of brown bread and egg sandwiches, two of white bread and orange marmalade, a chicken drumstick, a square of fruit water, a peach.

Two sandwiches of dates and white bread, a slice of lamb, two ginger-sweets, some molasses candy.

Two sandwiches of whole wheat bread and steamed prunes and chopped nuts, two chocolate wafers, two olives.

Two sandwiches of cream cheese, lettuce, white bread, two of preserved ginger, a little round cake, an orange.

Two roast beef sandwiches, two of cream cheese and chopped peanuts, two small celery stalks, two sugar cookies, a jar of apple jam.

Two minced ham sandwiches, two of chopped celery with a dressing, cauliflower.

Three sandwiches of plain bread and butter, a jar of mixed fruit salad, a

ENGLISH WOMAN SAYS AMERICANS ARE SLOW

Our Men Are Like Aunts or Grandmothers When It Comes to Lovemaking.

But Our Women Are Superlatively Perfect and Exquisitely Spruce.

New York, June 3.—The American men are like "kind aunts and grandmothers," and American women are lacking in that "dragged" look of holding up their garments in frightful haste, is the opinion of E. J. Glyn, author of the notorious "Three Weeks," as expressed in her new book, embodying her observations while on her last visit to this country.

The book, "Elizabeth Visits America," is in the form of letters of Elizabeth to her mother. To the male sex she devotes much space, in one place saying: "American men are of quite another sex to English or French. You feel more as if you were out with kind aunts or grandmothers or benevolent uncles than just men. They don't try to make love to you or say things with two meanings, and they are perfectly serious."

"Fetch and Carry Like Spaniels."

Of the American husband Mrs. Glyn says they "fetch and carry" like trained spaniels.

Every thing is so simple. If you happen to get bored with your husband, or he has a cold in his head, or anything that gets on your nerves, or you suddenly fancy some other man, you have not got all the bother and subterfuge of taking him for a lover, and chancing scandal like in England.

Discard Him: Get Heaps of Money.

Do not simply get your husband to let you divorce him, and make him give you heaps of money and you keep the children; or—there is generally only one—you agree to give that up for an extra million, and then you go off and marry your young man.

But, if our men fail to please, Mrs. Glyn has kind words for our women.

"No other nation can compare to them in their exquisitely spruce, exquisitely soigne appearance, and their perfect feet and superlatively perfect boots and short tailor dresses."

"To see Fifth avenue on a bright day, morning or afternoon, is like a procession of glowing flowers."

"No one has that dragged, too long in the back and too short in the front look of lots of English women, holding their garments in a frightful fashion."

"Also there are no old people—few old women, but never any old men. I suppose they all die off with their hard life."

Mercy That Feet are Shapely.

"It is a mercy American women have such lovely feet and nice shapes, because when they are in a place called the Flatiron building, the gusts do what they please with their garments. I am quite sure if the Roues' club in Piccadilly would get itself removed to a house just here, these wicked old men would spend their days glued to the windows."

Elizabeth is a sprightly miss and takes her fling at all phases of American life, from hotels and sleeping cars to a dance in a mining town.

THE CARE OF THE EYES.

Whatever promotes general hygiene is beneficial to the eyes. One should avoid reading while lying down or when exhausted, and sudden change from the dark to brilliant light. Reading in trains is bad for the eyes by reason of the oscillating movements,
