MEMPHIS APPEAL.

MAN.

BY ALGERNON CHARLES SWINBURNE.

Before the beginning of years
There came to the making of man
Time, with a gift of tears;
Grief, with a glass that ran;
Pleasure, with pain for leaven;
Summer, with flowers that fell;
Remembrance, fallen from heaven,
And madness, risen from hell;
Strength, without hands to smite;
Love, that endureth for a breath;
Night, the shadow of light,
And life, the shadow of death.
And the high gods took in hand,
Fire, and the falling of tears,
And a measure of sliding sand
From under the feet of the years;
And froth and corn of the mire
And dust of the laboring earth;
And bodies of things to be
In the houses of death and of birth;
And wrought with weeping and laughter,
And fashioned with loathing and love,
With life before and after,
And death beneath and above,
For a day, and a night, and a morrow,
That his strength might endure for a span,
With travail and heavy sorrow,
The holy spirit of man.
From the east to the west of North and South,
They gathered as unto strife;
They breathed upon his nostrils,
They filled his body with life;
Breathed and spoke unto it,
For the veils of the soul therein,
A time for labor and thought,
A time to serve and to sin:
They gave him light on his ways,
And love, and a space for delight,
And beauty, and length of days,
And night, and sleep in the night.
His speech is a burning fire;
With his lips he travaileth,
In his heart is a furnace to burn,
In his eyes foreknowledge of death;
He weaves, and is clothed with derision:
Sows, and he shall not reap;
His life is a watch or a vision
Between a sleep and a sleep.

FINNEGAN ON THE FENIANS.

Correspondence Cincinnati Times.]

CANADA, April 3, 1866.

The blow isn't struck yet, notwithstanding the "blare" that has been made about it. It is now 11 o'clock at night, and if it isn't struck pretty soon, another day will have passed, and Ireland still in bondage. Yes, that's what's the matter—Ireland's still in bondage.

Hark! music, as from a distant harp, now melancholy, now as if swept by angry and impatient fingers, comes wafted from afar,

"The harp that once once through Tara's hall
The soul of music shed," cannot brook the delay, and is impatient to tear through those halls again. Having shed the sole of music, it has been going about on the shadow for some time past, and is naturally anxious to be newly shod. With the "Glim of the Say" in the Fenian setting, everything pertaining to Ireland would be immediately put on a sorry footing, of course.

Canada is in a terrible condition. Every man is under arms, except those who are so old that they have got quite over them. The women are incensed. They hear that the Fenians are coming over in search of Irish liberty. I heard a scrawny old maid say with flashing eyes and clenched gums that she would like to catch one of them taking any Irish liberties with her. I assured her from what I knew of the native impulses of the Irish heart that she was perfectly safe from invasion.

I asked an Irish resident here who says he has been so excited that he hasn't slept a night for four days, what point the Fenians would probably strike from?

"I dunno," said he, "but I think 'twill be a point of whisky, sur!"

That's the way it seemed to strike him.

I had a very singular dream last night. I thought the blow had been struck; Canada had been conquered, and the victorious Fenians, mounted on Canadian ponies, had swum across the Atlantic to Ireland, driven the minions of British power into the sea, and taken triumphant possession of the Island. They seized me forcibly and towed me over in a St. Lawrence timber raft. I inquired of O'Mahony, why they did so, and he said, "D'ye mind. To prevent any intelligence reaching the ninetoy until he gets clothes."

Ireland was having a general jubilee over the Fenian victory. From mountain and vale, from grove and bog, the shout of joy went up. Some cried "O'Mahony!" and others cried "Oh, Roberts!" which made me think the victory was oh-ing to each one alike. Jones' Wood, by some process unknown save to the mechanics of dreams, had been transported (for life) from New York to Dublin, and a great Fenian jollification was being held there. There was music from a thousand bands all playing "St. Patrick's Day in the Morning," except a few who were swing-ing for evening. Notwithstanding the multitude present, there was an abundance of food and refreshments for everybody. Potatoes grew on the trees and would come down by the bushel for the shaking. Fountains threw up great jets of Irish stews, and a river of hot whisky punch meandered through the grove. Pipes and tobacco could be picked from every bush, and shelalahs floated around in the air, convenient to every Irishman's fist.

I was never surprised at anything he seen in a dream, so I was not at all surprised to see O'Mahony and Roberts hobnobbing in the most friendly way, drinking whisky punch with Father Matthew. Then in my vision appeared characters familiar to me only in song. "Rory O'Moore" danced an "Irish Jig" with the "Irish Washerwoman," but stopped abruptly when some one announced "There's Whisky in the Jug," and made for the "Irishman's Shanty." I saw a young Irish lad, with curly locks of flaxen hair, making love to "Widow Machre." She shook him with her proverbial "frown," where he came from and what his name was.

He replied with a flush of pride,

"Guid Ireland is me country and Me name is Pat Maguire."

They were afterwards seen driving away together in a "Low Back'd Car," inquiring the way to the nearest Priest.

At this point in my dream the band struck up "Finnegan's Wake." High above the clash of brass could be distinguished the voice of Frank Blair, as he shouted, "Go in Finnegans!" which we did. FINNEGAN.

☞ A good way to get rid of the old "red cents" will be when the postmasters put up their contribution-boxes for the Washington monument for every man, when he goes to the postoffice to deposit all that he has "about his old clothes."

☞ "Husband, I wish you would buy me some pretty feathers." "Indeed, my dear little wife, you look better without them." "Oh, no, sir; you always call me your little bird, and how can a bird look without feathers?"

MEMPHIS, April 3d, 1866.

Dear Sir: In presenting our Third Quarterly Report, we desire to express our thanks for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to us, and solicit the continuance of the same, hoping that it will be as mutually beneficial in the future as it has been in the past.

We would also respectfully solicit new accounts, hoping by careful management, promptness, and a strict adherence to legitimate Banking, to merit your confidence.

The Policy of this Bank

Will be to distribute its loans, rather than concentrate them in the hands of a few, extending to all chance more equal business facilities. Our object will be to render our customers liberally, bearing in mind the fact, that's bank prospers as its customers prosper.

In addition to our regular Banking Business, we have established a Savings Department.

With a view to the encouragement of economy and savings by the industrial classes, we will allow interest on all deposits of one dollar or more, provided the same remains three months or longer.

Persons who have small amounts to deposit, subject to check or otherwise need not hesitate, as all such accounts will be kept.

Offering, in addition to what has been said, the usual facilities of Banking Institutions, we respectfully solicit the accounts of business firms and individuals.

I am very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEO. R. RUTTER, President.

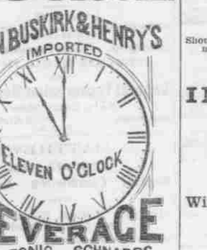
MISCELLANEOUS.

11 O'Clock.



THE increasing popularity of this purely Medical Beverage is sufficient evidence of its wonderful curative effects in the cure of any of the following complaints:

Sick and Nervous Headache,
Dyspepsia,
Liver Complaint,
Indigestion,
Kidney Affections,
Diseases of the Bladder,
Loss of Vital Energy,
or General Debility.

To ladies it is particularly recommended. It is a wholesome, invigorating, tonic, and is fast supersoding the many worthless and unwholesome Bitters that are now being palmed off upon the public.

As an appetizer, it has no equal. Try it! and you will be convinced of its inestimable value. It is indispensible in every household.

NO EXCUSE FOR BAD BREAD.

MORGAN'S

SELF-RISING SELF-RISING

FLOUR.

THE Best, Cheapest and most economical Flour in use.

All lovers of good and wholesome bread, biscuits, etc., can, by using this Flour, save time, trouble, money, and disappointment. It is ALWAYS RELIABLE, and is not effected by hot or cold weather. It does not require Yeast Powders, Cream Tartar, Saleratus, Soda, or Salt, and ONLY HALF the usual quantity of shortening, and when cold sweet milk is used, less than half the usual quantity of lard.

ONE-FOURTH less in this flour is required to produce a like amount of bread, as is made in the form of baking manner, which item alone will about PAY THE PRICE charged for adding the self-rising ingredients.

IT IS EXTRA NICE FOR CAKES, and all kinds of pastry, requiring not more than TWO-THIRDS the usual amount of butter and eggs.

THE FLOUR IS GOOD FOR ALL OTHER Batter Cakes, Waffles, Puddings, the dumplings for Chicken Pie, etc., etc.,

And is a Saving of from $6 to $8 per Barrell to the Consumer.

This article has met with the most wonderful success. The demand for it from the citizens of Memphis and surrounding country are now using it; but I am confident there are many others who would avail themselves of its advantages were they satisfied of its merits. It is REALIABLE, SUPERIOR, and CHEAPNESS.

To convince the public of these facts, I have obtained a large number of certificates from well and favorably known physicians and others, a few of which I give below. One trial will convince the most incredulous that it is to their advantage to use the Flour, as an ECONOMY and SATISFACTION in every respect.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 2, 1865.

I have used Morgan's Self Rising Flour, and find it to be a most excellent article. I have also examined the ingredients which produce its self-rising properties, and find them to be not only innocent, but important to perfect nutrition. I can freely recommend it as a most healthful and desirable flour, producing an article of bread superior to that made in the ordinary manner.

JNO. R. FRAYSER, M. D.

We fully concur in the above, having examined the ingredients.

C. L. WILCOX, M. D.
R. F. BROWN, M. D.

I have examined the ingredients and pronounce them innocent, and the bread superior.

L. W. GABBERT, M. D.

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 21, 1865.

I have used Morgan's Self Rising Flour, and explain for it, and consider it efficacious in sickness as well as health, and is especially adapted as a diet for invalids, as it contains no harmful or injurious materials.

L. W. GABBERT, M. D.

I will prepare any barrel of flour sent to me, and will make a loaf of bread for every ordered, but for my own sales I use none but the very best, T. Harrison, or its equal.

The bread and biscuit made from this flour can be made as well warm as cold, without the least inconvenience to the weak and dyspeptic stomach, and has been known to greatly benefit such cases.

Put up in 6, 12, 24, and 48 pound pa kages, Half Barrels and Barrels.

This flour will be found on sale in packages at all first class family groceries in the city, and at wholesale at the manufactory, 426 Main street, 7 doors South of Beale, Memphis, Tenn.

A liberal discount will be made to the Trade.

NEW SKIRT.

FOR 1866.

THE GREAT INVENTION OF THE AGE.

J. W. Bradley's

Celebrated Patent

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(Or double Steel Spring)

SKIRT.

WEBB, BRADLEY & CARY,

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers, 97 Chambers and 79 and 81 Reade street,

NEW YORK.

This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided lightly and firmly together, on the edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable spring ever made. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape much full twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and home dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a muslin dress.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt, for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

The hoops are covered with two ply double twisted thread and are so much more strong by the single yarn covering which is used on all single steels in other skirts. The harness or stitch or every skirt are also double steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off of the joints and fingering down stairs, stone steps, etc., etc., which they are constantly subject to, from other skirts.

All are made of the new and elegant corded tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful, easy and fashionable shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most durable, comfortable and economical skirt ever made.

For sale in all first class stores, Wholesale and Retail, in the city, and throughout the United States and Canadas, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America, and the West Indies.
