MEMPHIS APPEAL.

THE CHURCHYARD YEW.

Under the black yew tree
(Its berries like drops of blood)
I love to sit
In a moody fit,
Thinking here in clay and dust,
Canker and decay, and moth and rust,
Come all that we love, and hope and trust—
Beauty and Wealth, and Pleasure and Power,
And Learning, and Sense, and Wit.

Down in your coffin there,
Beauty, answer me now,
As I do I sit,
In a crystal fit,
Where is hidden thy pearl-chest?
Where are the diamonds that once did rest
On the rise and fall of thy snowy breast?
They sparkle no more in the gloom and dark,
Alike thy gems and thy wit.

Ambition, then misled fool,
Thou with the rusty crown,
As I meditate
On thy fallen state,
Open thy coffin-lid and tell
Of the battles thou hast won so well;
How many wretches there bleeding fell,
All for a fief or some alarm in a dell,
A mound of earth, or a line on a map,
Wrestling so hard as late.

Learning, thou purblind thing,
Sagely with thy half closed eyes,
Come, answer me,
In my tyranny;
And prove me how they midnight toil,
Thy waste of wholesome, harmless oil,
All for a hot or some alarm in a dell,
A mound of earth, or a line on a map,
Wrestling so hard as late.

Pride, thou art humble now,
Thanks to the scythe's sweep;
Around thee lie
Like good company,
Yet none to flatter, or fawn, or bend.
Prompt and pleasure have come to an end;
Narrow the chamber you occupy now,
Pedigrees, parchments, charts and rolls
Are little avail to thee.

Wealth, thou art lost of all,
Laggard and lazy of old;
Come, knave, up here
From thy velvet bier;
What is that strange frilled robe thou'st on?
The coat of fashion, thou simpleton.
Are all thy tinsel and trappings gone?
Yes, time is over for change and freak;
Money is useless here.

Under the churchyard yew
(Its berries as red as blood)
I love to sit,
In my moody fit;
Round me rise the hillocky graves,
The Dead Sea's green and silent waves,
Death's dark banner the dark yew bears,
As I think of how vain is Power and Wealth,
Beauty, and Love, and Wit.

MEXICO.

The New Orleans Crescent selects the following items of news from the Mexican Times (Gov. Allen's paper) of the 10th ult.:

Three vessels arrived at Vera Cruz, from different United States ports, with 104 emigrants, men, women and children, nearly all of whom will settle in the Cordova colony. Of this number seventeen are from Louisiana, thirteen from Kentucky, twenty-three from Alabama, sixteen from Texas, four from Mississippi, and the remainder from other States. Nine are from New York. Among the Louisianians are Henry Huston, son of the late Gen. Felix Huston, Burruss Magruder and John Davis. Two clergymen are among the emigrants. It is stated that they all went by way of Havana, and that many more are expected before the 1st of June.

An Imperial decree had been issued organizing an Asiatic Colonization Company, with a capital of two million of dollars, the object being to encourage the importation of laborers from Asia into Mexico.

The different railroad enterprises in Mexico seem to be going ahead. The Imperial railway, from the City of Mexico to Puebla, will be finished very soon.

In a few weeks the telegraph wires will connect the capital with Puebla, Real del Monte and Tulancingo. The construction of the Tampico line to this city has commenced.

His Majesty the Emperor, has accepted the resignation of Mr. Hidalgo, Mexican Minister to France.

Porfirio Diaz and other chiefs, with 1000 men, were completely routed in Loma de Seto, by the Imperial Colonel Asnibal, on the 25th of February.

Gen. Florentine Lopez, with 2000 men, recruited for Gen. Mejia's division, has left Queretaro for Matamoras.

The court went into mourning one week for the death of Prince Odon, son of King Victor Emanuel.

We learn that all the necessary measures have been taken for the departure of the Empress of the Mexicans.

It appears, from an official report received at the office of the Minister of the Interior, that the country of San Martin in Huasteca has submitted to the Empire.

The ladies of Jalapa have presented the Empress with a magnificent bracelet mounted with diamonds, emeralds and rubies. It is an elegant and remarkable piece of workmanship.

The Emperor has appointed Gen. Almonte (Grand Marshal of the Court), Minister Plenipotentiary to the Court of the Tuileries, to replace Mr. Hidalgo, resigned. Gen. Almonte is, in addition, intrusted with a special mission to his majesty, the Emperor Napoleon.

The mails between this city and Monterey are now making rapid and regular communication.

M. Blondel von Cuelen Breck, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the King of Belgium, had the honor to receive a private audience with the Emperor on Wednesday last, and of presenting anew his letters accrediting him to the Imperial Government of Mexico as the representative of King Leopold II. It is said that the Emperor conferred, on this occasion, upon the honorable diplomat the Grand Cross of the Order of Guadalupe, as special testimony of his high esteem.

The reported landing of Carbajal on the coast of Tampico, at the head of a filibustering expedition is contradicted. There is a garrison of 1000 men at Tampico.

America's Match for Napoleon.

Cornelius O'Dowd, the writer in Blackwood, who entertains no great affection for this country, is yet delighted that France has been snubbed by us in her Mexican adventure. He says:

A more insufferable piece of insolent pretension cannot be imagined than what is called the Monroe doctrine. That my next door neighbor should not live in a certain style lest the servants in my house should become dissatisfied, is too gross an absurdity to be entertained. That whatever rules I prescribe for my family should be adopted by every one who resides in the same street, is somewhat overbearing; and yet, with all this, I declare I am for all the Yankee in this Mexican row. It is not the justice of the case I want to think of. It is not whether France has right on her side, and whether this demand to retire be one of those mandates a high-spirited nation cannot submit to; my whole consideration is limited to the fact—here at last the great bully of Europe has met his master. Here is a young, athletic, daring fellow ready to go into the ring with that finished pugilist, that none of us have courage to fight, and who, even with the gloves on, doubles up in a fashion far from agreeable.

America dares to hold language to France that all Europe combined would not utter. There's no denying it; there's no qualifying it. If we had a continental coalition to-morrow, we could not venture to say what America has just said. What minister of Russia or England or Austria would say to the French Emperor, "We were thinking of something else when you slipped into Savoy and Nice the other day; now, that our hands are free, you'll have to go back again." We are famous for brave words in our foreign office, but does any one expect that such a message as this will ever issue from Whitehall?

We would no more provoke the Tuilleries by an insolent dispatch than we would provoke one of Van Amburgh's cages and kick the lion. It has become a sort of European superstition, that France can beat every one, and I am downright grateful to the Americans that they don't believe it.

I never knew I liked America so well till I began to speculate on this war. I never suspected that there really was that tie of kindred which journalists disparage by that false adulation they deal in. I hate all the cant of "counship;" but call them our own bone and blood; speak of them as a people who have the same leading traits as ourselves—sturdy, determined, untiring, unyielding, taking their share of hard knocks to-day with a fixed resolve to pay them to-morrow; in a word, of that stuff that makes right trusty friends and very terrible enemies. Regard them in this light, and say if a war should break out between them and France, what side would you like to back? Mind, I say nothing of the merits of the issue; and if any gentleman is willing to bet an equivalent—say another crown piece—I cry "done," and wait the event.

Are Safes Safe?

There is no doubt but that iron safes can be made, and are made of great value as against fire—but how is it as against burglars? In London, a jeweller brought an action against the maker of the best safe there for selling him one, warranted burglar proof, but which was robbed of all the watches and jewelry of the store by some experienced cracksmen. The chief operator was brought into court and described the whole process. The safe was opened in thirty minutes. A fine plate of steel was driven into the crack of the door finer than many a knife blade; then one a little coarser, and so on, until by the wedge principle, opening was found for the feather end of a powerful, but fine steel crowbar. It seemed on trial that no safes are now to be considered burglar proof. As for the common ones, it almost seems as if they operated in the interest of experienced thieves, who thus know where to look for the valuables and lay their hands on them. At Danville, last week, at half past 10, p.m., the Howard Express office was entered, and the safe broken open, probably in fifteen minutes, and twenty thousand dollars worth of property stolen. The front of the safe had been pried open, and three brass bolts and all sorts of iron work torn asunder, not by powder, but by the lever, with the utmost ease. Electrical vigilance is the price of security.—Philadelphia Ledger.

MEMPHIS, April 3d, 1866.
Dear Sir: In presenting our Third Quarterly Report, we desire to renew our thanks for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to us, and solicit the continuance of the same, hoping that it will be as mutually beneficial in the future as it has been in the past.
We would also respectfully solicit new accounts, hoping by our management, promptness, and a strict adherence to legitimate banking, to merit your confidence.
The Policy of this Bank
Will be to distribute its loans, rather than concentrate them in few hands, thereby extending to all classes the facilities for discounts. Our object will be to treat our customers liberally, "bearing in mind the fact, that a bank prospers as its customers prosper."
In addition to our regular Banking Business, we have established a
Savings Department.
With a view to the encouragement of economy and savings by the industrial classes, we will allow interest on all deposits of one dollar or more, provided the same remains three months or longer.
Persons who have small amounts to deposit, subject to check or drafts, need not hesitate, as all such accounts will be received.
Offering, in addition to what has been said, the facilities of a Banking Institution, we respectfully solicit the accounts of business firms and individuals.
I am very respectfully, your obedient servant,
GEO. R. RUTTER, President.
WALTER S. MORGAN, Cashier.
P. S.—Special attention given to business with the Treasury and other Government Departments in Washington, by our Vice President, J. B. Hutchinson, Cashier of the National Bank of the Metropolis. apl

ELEVEN O'CLOCK
BEVERAGE
OR TONIC SCHNAPPS.
THE increasing popularity of this purely Medical Beverage is sufficient evidence of its wonderful and deserving efficacy in the cure of any of the following complaints:
Sick and Nervous Headache, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Kidney Affections, Diseases of the Bladder, Loss of Vital Energy, or General Debility.
To ladies it is particularly recommended. It is a wholesome, invigorating, tonic, and is fast superseding the many worthless and nauseous compounds now being passed off upon the public.
As an appetizer, it has no equal. Try it! and you will be convinced of its inestimable value. It is indispensable in every household.
