THE NEWS.

Elyton, Ala., wants a brickmaker.

Pineapples grow hugely in Mobile.

The new Illinois State House is to cost $3,450,000.

Washington is to have a public market to cost $1,000,000.

It is rumored that John Smith will leave London for a season.

The population of Kansas City increased nearly ten thousand last year.

George W. Demers, editor of the Albany Evening Journal, is dead.

Bishop Quinlan was warmly greeted on his return to Mobile from Rome.

The Chicago Tribune asks and gets $22,552 a column per year for advertising.

Read's "Sheridan's Ride" has been visited by 100,000 people in Philadelphia.

Prince Alfred's Indian excursion cost $5,000. Lo! the poor Indian—excursion!

Stockbridge is the name of the new editor of the Central N. J. Times at Plainfield.

Burlington, Vermont, is to have a new hotel on the site of the old Howard House.

Gaylord, the negro minstrel, has inherited $80,000 from a deceased Honolulan uncle.

Dan Rice is going to take his circus to China. That's right, Dan—the Chinese like rice.

At the Walnut, in Philadelphia, "Not Guilty" is a drama. In New York it was a farce.

Yung Can Sing is a Chinese doctor at Sacramento. Old Can't Sing has not been heard from.

Committees from all parts of the country are visiting Dayton to inspect the Holly Water Works.

In view of the present Fenian movements, the question arises, where is Mr. George Francis Train?

An exchange declares the present government of South Carolina to be a disgrace to civilization.

The young King of Bavaria is at present engaged in thoroughly studying the history of the Catholic church.

Montgomery ladies, according to the Advertiser, wear nothing but small Swiss muslin aprons for full dress.

Pope Innocent XII excommunicated all who used tobacco in any form, while Pius IX smokes and uses snuff.

In 1869, 16,000,000 bottles of champagne were produced in France, of which more than three-fourths were exported.

It is estimated that a billion and a half dollars worth of intoxicating liquors are annually drank in the United States.

Mobile contemplates a glorious future to overwhelm that city when the Isthmus of Darien is opened to let it pass through.

Mexican advices represent the cotton crop in the cotton producing portion of the country as a total failure this season.

Philadelphia has sunk $600,000 since the war in endeavoring to re-establish her Southern trade. So says the Germantown Telegraph.

A female child has been born in Iowa with three tongues. We hope she is not the coming woman. If she is she will be heard from.

Prof. Djering, of Baltimore, a convert to the Greek Church, has been received with great enthusiasm in Russia, where he is to be ordained.

The oldest of modern painters of the Netherlands is dead. He was named Andreas Schelfhout, and died at the Hague. He was born in 1787.

Mr. Dicey left the editorial chair of the London Daily News, because its proprietor did not allow him complete control of the editorial department.

Wm. D. Howells, the well-known author and assistant editor of the Atlantic, was formerly the editor of the Ohio State Journal, of which State he is a native.

A Chinese McFarland, in San Francisco, after horribly butchering his wife, justified the murder by showing that he had purchased her for $500.

On the 13th instant, Charlotte, North Carolina, by an almost unanimous popular vote, subscribed the sum of $200,000 toward the Georgia Air-Line Railroad.

A Western lady is writing in favor of limited marriages, for a given time, ranging from one to three years, with the privilege of renewal by mutual consent.

It is proposed to found a Jewish Theological Seminary in Germany. A large amount of money has already been subscribed for this purpose among the Jews.

It is stated that Senator Morton "always speaks in a sitting posture." The impression has somehow or other gotten about that his position was generally a lying one.

It is proposed to call the new Episcopal diocese to be formed out of Eastern Pennsylvania (except Philadelphia, Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Monigomery), the Diocese of Reading.

The Georgia Herald of the 28th says: "Corn and cotton is unusually small for this season. The recent rains have started both corn and cotton to growing. The spring oats are a failure."

Pennsylvania is "hard up" for office-seekers. She has only nineteen candidates in the field for Governor. The Republicans will probably again endeavor to Geary-mander the State.

It is possible the game laws of England will be abolished, or so altered and amended as to have no semblance to their former strength. This will be a hard blow at novelists and dramatists.

At the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, James Fisk, jr., of New York, was a candidate for Director, and received twelve out of the 22,719 votes cast.

An "anxious inquirer" wants to know how the gentleman of Red river fame spells his name—Riehl, Riel, Reil, or Real. Well, we Really don't know, and it might make our head Reel to ascertain.

German journalists propose to hold, this year, a preliminary conference at Leipsic. Their annual Congress, which is to be convened in August, will, it is thought, be held at Frankfort-on-the Main.

And now Tom Allen, who was so fearfully "punished" the other day, is out with another challenge to fight any man in the country, except Heenan and Mace. We think there can be no doubt of his insanity.

Lady clerks have supplanted men in the San Francisco Post-office. From the beginning females have manipulated the males handsomely, and there can be no reason why they should not handle the mails as well.

Isabella, the ex-Queen, has sold her bedstead, and will have to sell her bed, for money to subsist. Figaro asks, "Couldn't she dispose of half of it at more profit?" She has done that too often already. That's what's the matter.

Mr. Edward Padelford, one of the oldest merchants in Savannah, has given $10,000 to be applied to the construction of a suitable building for the accommodation of sick, poor, aged and infirm colored people of Savannah and Chatham county.

Mosenthal, the author of "Deborah" (the original German play translated for Miss Bateman by Daly, under the title of "Leah"), is also the author of "Isabella Orsini," which was recently brought out for the first time at Prague with immense success.

In three or four months the railway over the Rigi will be in running order. The road passes through a region 5500 feet above the sea level, and the incline in many places is so great that a system of cog-wheels and tracks made expressly for them will have to be employed.

The Hon. Richard Stockton Field, late Judge of the United District Court of New Jersey, died at his residence, in Princeton, on Wednesday night, after an illness of a few weeks, with which he was suddenly attacked while about addressing the Grand Jury in the court room at Trenton.

CUBA.

Sumner Interviewed---His Views as to Recognition of Cuban Belligerency.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Herald's correspondent at Washington gives the substance of an interview with Senator Sumner for the purpose of ascertaining the animus of the latter relative to recognition of Cuban belligerency. His views of opposition have undergone no change. On the contrary, he finds all manner of plausible arguments to oppose such action. His attention was called to the cases of Speakman and Wythe, Americans, who were murdered at Santiago last December. He said: "The circumstances surrounding this case were peculiar. They were found in suspicious company, and we could not make the same demand upon the Spanish as if they resided in Cuba and were pursuing a peaceable business." On attention being directed to the case of Consul Phillips, he adduced argument to show a parallel case that occurred in the United States during the war. The offender would have been subjected to imprisonment, or kicked out of the country. He don't believe that recognition has the slightest chance in the Senate. His objections were based upon economical reasons, and he thinks the administration pursues the wisest course.

MISSISSIPPI.

Doings of the Legislature---News from All Parts of the State.

Five thousand copies of the Constitutions, of the United States and of Mississippi, with marginal notes, are to be published, with all the amendments by the Mississippi Legislature.

A new code of the State is also to be published at a cost of $6000.

The Supreme Court reports are also ordered to be published.

The salary of the Governor will be $5000.

William Johnson & Co.'s banking house at Columbus has been incorporated.

A bill to incorporate the Kosciusco Turnpike Company is traveling through the two Houses.

East Pascagoula has been incorporated, and the children of Jas. Hamilton made legitimate.

A manufacturing company at West Point is to be incorporated, and the Peabody school at Gunsmit.

A committee was ordered to investigate the doings of levee commissioners and boards, and to inquire into the disposition of levee funds, etc.

Canton is to have a dime savings bank. Monroe, Chickasaw and Oktibbeha are to be authorized to subscribe to the New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern railroad. What an interminable name for a little railroad. They are going to have a county in Mississippi named Chandler, in honor of the sober Senator from Michigan. Meridian is to be saved by the incorporation of a church in that delectable place. Corporations have no souls, and this church may not be in the soul-saving business. The Sardis Mechanical and Agricultural Association is to be incorporated.

The Pilot is greatly improved of late in the vigor and tastefulness of its editorials. It is now edited by the well known civil engineer, M. Butt Hewson, whose productions in former years were wont to adorn the pages of DeBow's Review.

There are about one thousand old cases undecided on the docket of the Supreme Court of Mississippi. Gov. Alcorn should appoint Wm. Yerger, Amos R. Johnston and A. M. Clayton or other like lawyers under legislative authority, to dispose of them.

An editorial, written in Washington, by Kellogg, of Louisiana, or for him, in favor of his levee scheme, appears in some of our Mississippi exchanges. It is very well for those to approve who will not share the burdens incident to the creation of this mighty Congressional corporation, invested with taxing powers. It won't do.

Starkville, Miss., is very grievously disgruntled because Forrest's road don't run over the place. Starkville bawls about it like a spanked baby, and now wants a branch road to Artesia.

FENIANA.

Daring Escape of Center Edward Mannix--Stringent Orders of Officer of the Guard.

Sufferings of the Fenian Soldiers--How General O'Neill was Captured--His Officers Curse Him.

MALONE, VT., May 31.—The escape of Edward Mannix, the Fenian Center, has created great excitement, and caused extra precautions to be taken against a similar effort by the remainder of the prisoners. Captain Hariow, in command of the guard-house, states that the first man who moves beyond the sentry lines will be shot down mercilessly by the guards. The escape of Mannix was daring and well contrived. The prisoners were removed from the upper story of the guard-house to the lower story, under guard, and when the sentry turned back Mannix jumped through the window into a saw-pit, a distance of fifteen feet, and through the connivance of the outside sentry escaped. The correspondent of the World, who witnessed the affair, says Mannix jump into a wagon and disappear. The efforts of the Marshal and troops to recapture him were fruitless. The United States Marshal, determined to arrest every Fenian officer found, Cunningham at Albany yesterday, and secured him. The Fenians here are literally starving.

The correspondent of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, writing from the seat of war, says: It should be remembered that while the fighting was the sharpest, when the bullets were flying the thickest and his command was penetrating the British soil, General O'Neill was safely intrenched in the upper room of a neighboring brick house, from where he could obtain an excellent view of the exciting scene. This house was owned and occupied by a muscular farmer named Richards, and when he found the Fenian chief in one of his bedrooms, he very peremptorily ordered him to leave the premises. O'Neill was most reluctant to comply with Mr. Richards' request, when the old man with firmness and determination told him that he would accelerate his movements if he hesitated, and as he was about suiting the action to the word the Fenian chief gave a partial illustration of discretion being the better part of valor, and showed his presence of mind by a sudden absence of body. The General then took to a piece of woods in the direction of St. Albans, and, having gone rearwards through the forest for about half a mile, he ventured again on to the highway, taking the coursethrough the yard opposite another farm house, occupied by a Mr. Vincent. As he was turning around the corner he discovered the presence of General Foster, the United States Marshal; but instead of turning back he approached the Marshal and saluted him, and he was at once taken into custody. There were a large number of O'Neill's men in the neighborhood at the time, but he gave no alarm or signs for them to come to his rescue, but seemed to become a voluntary prisoner. Whether the General did actually or not give himself away to the United States authorities it is impossible to determine; but his men openly denounce him not only as a traitor, but an arbitrary ignoramus. Many of his followers, particularly his staff officers, sacrificed good positions to engage in this promising attack upon Canada, and the shame and indignation at so early and ignominous a defeat causes them to direct the most profane and abusive epithets toward him whom they believe to have been the cause of their failure.

ROME.

Strong Debate in the Ecumenical Council.

ROME, May 31.—The debate upon the dogma of infallibility continues violent and energetic. The opposition is desperately maintained against overwhelming numbers; but their objections will be overruled by a decided majority when the momentous occasion comes to a vote, which probably will be about the latter end of July. Arguments pro and con, which are anticipated, will all have been made by this time, and all things will be overruled by a decided majority, when all things will be in readiness. The debate yesterday was of great importance. The opposition first obtained the floor, and Bishop St. Brience and St. Gall spoke against infallibility. Bishop Hefel, of Rutherburg, made an energetic appeal. He declared that three successive Ecumenical Councils had anathematized Pope Honorous denouncing him as a heretic Archbishop.

BY MAIL.

Upon this head we have the following, from Bishop Quinlan, of Mobile, who has recently returned home from Rome. He says, in his address to his people:

"Are there not quarrelling and divisions in the Council?" No! there is discussion and disputations; it was for this the Council assembled. All conciliated action implies both. In the first council of the church—that of Jerusalem—at which the Apostles assembled, there was "disputing" (Acts xv, c 7,) and "much" of it. Let the critics of the Vatican Council wait awhile; they will find that as St. Peter stood up at the first Council and spoke and was obeyed, so in this last Council his successor, Pius IX, will rise and speak and be obeyed with a readiness, a devotedness, a unanimity unequaled in the history of the Christian world. "But are there not strong resistance to authority, defiant protests and threats of schism?" Are there not venerated names of "American prelates among the malcontents?" No, emphatically no. In matters open to discussion, there are, perhaps, mild remonstrances and humble petitions, but no defiant protest or threat of schism. Among the names that rumor puts on the list of these imaginary protests, are those of prelates whom I know well; who, for firm faith, loving obedience to authority, chivalrous defense of truth and life, long, laborious missionary work in the vineyard of the Lord, no Bishops in the Hierarchy of this Catholic Church can surpass. Let them discuss and humbly remonstrate; they are free to do so—"in dubiis libertas." When the discussion is closed, and the voice of authority definitely speaks, then find, if you can, a single name of the American Episcopate signed in opposition, or the faintest breathing of a voice among them to disturb the harmony of Catholic truth.

At a mine in the Hartz Mountains it was found necessary to connect two tunnels sixty-five feet apart. To accurately effect the junction a compass was set in one gallery and a loadstone weighing 200 pounds in the other. The influence of the magnet over the compass through the solid rock was complete, and a perfect precision of results followed. It is expected that the same means will be used as the two branches of the Mount Cenis tunnel approach each other.

Edward Ketchum, the forger, has made $400,000 in Wall street sluce his release from prison.
