What is Doing Down There—Sardis Grows Apace—The New County Hembug—General Jail Delivery—Crops and a Pair of Doctors—Smashing Rainstorms.

HERNANDO, MISS., May 5, 1871.

Yesterday was "Memorial Day" here, and Chancery Court had adjourned on Wednesday evening till this (Friday) morning, in order to give lawyers, officers, and everybody else full opportunity to participate in the ceremonies.

As you will doubtless receive from other pens full and accurate accounts of the interesting occasion, it is only necessary for me to say it was very interesting, numerously attended and will be long remembered. So also of the concert and festival at night, which ran into the "wee sma' hours of the morning."

The people of this place, and indeed of the whole county, are considerably exercised on the subject of the division of the county. The bill is still before the House of Representatives at Jackson, and no one knows when it will be acted on. The Legislature will adjourn, however, on the 13th, and whatever is done in the matter must be done very soon.

The county seat of Panola county you are doubtless aware has been removed to Sardis, a growing and flourishing town five or six miles north of Tallahatchie river and on the Mississippi and Tennessee railroad, about midway between Memphis and Grenada. The jail, I understand, is to be built at once. All the prisoners escaped from the jail of that county a few nights ago, among them were three murderers.

By the way, in Memphis, a few days since, I was surprised to find that so many of the quandam, old and valuable citizens of Panola county had removed to and settled in your city. Without mentioning those who settled there immediately before and after the war (and there were many of them), I met Messrs. Fletcher, Lewis, Watkins, and Doctors Moseley and Phillips—the latter eminent in their profession, and Dr. Phillips one of the pioneers of the county. He commenced his career at Belmont, in early manhood, remained there until the town became but a remnant of what it was, and then removed to Panola, whence he removed to Memphis. His progress and success are sure and steady. In Doctors Moseley and Phillips your city has gained two of Mississippi's best physicians and most accomplished gentlemen. What Mississippi loses, therefore, Memphis gains.

The weather is uncomfortably cool this morning, to the damage both of cotton and health. Swollen streams throughout the country have done great damage to crops, but they are not entirely destroyed.

RAMBLER.

MOSQUITOES.

A Hillite's Experience in the Mississippi Swamp.

Editors ov the Appeal—I'd bin hearin' people talk erbout the Missippi bottom all my life; had allers heard it wuz the greatest place in the world, fur eny body to go to, to make money, specially er young man. Some sed you could go thar an make frum er bale an er half ter tu bales uv cotten, and frum fifty to seventy-five bushels uv corn, to the aker; an' that it wouldn't take nigh as much work to make it as it would to make haff that much in the hills. In fack, everybody give it the name uv the "Eldersdy uv Americky."

Bein' jst arriv at the age uv manhood, an bein' what I considered er man uv purty good jugement an er good deal uv energy, I concluded I'd jest go an' try it one year, and see how I liked it, bein purty well satisfied that I had nurve er nuf ter slan the muskeeters and buffalo-nats, that everybody sed was purty thick down thar; an then, if I liked it purty well arter stayin one year, I'd jest cum back an make my rangements acordin, and settle down perminently in one o' them cainbrakes, and stay ther till I made my fortune.

So, last winter wus er year er go, I went down to the bottom in DeSoto county, an got in with er man to make er crop. He was ter furnish teem, an tules, an board me; an I was ter feed his stock, ter pay fer my board, an cultivate the land an gather the crop, an give him half I made.

So I went to work erbout the fust uv F buwary, an got er long purty well fur a good while. But erbout the fust uv April the everlastin muskeeters that I had heard so much erbout, set in in earnest. At fust I thought I wouldn't mind um much, but I'll ber darnd if they didn't keep gettin wuss, till yer couldn't see ten foot berfore yer. They'd git round yer so thick that yer'd have ter neck with both hands an then them old fellows that'd bin er livin down thar all ther lives, would laff at you, just like they thought you's fule ernuff ter hold still an let the cussed little varmints eet yer up. An darnd if I don't bleeve the muskeeters node er feler that cum frum the hills just as well as I did, fur I never seen um er bitin them old "bottomites," as they call therselves; at I est, they didn't never nock at um none. As sune as one uv the infernal little things would git his cussed little parnch full uv blud, he'd drap off an fly er long, jest like an old settin turkil dove that don't want yer ter find her nest, an then yer could kill him, easy ernuff, but er man can't kill um then with er clear conscience, becorse he'd be er shedin his own blud. Erbout two hundred thousand uv the dinged little "gall-nipples," as sum folks calls um, would bite yer, in less than twenty minits, an darn ther cussed little harts, thar wouldn't marry two um suck blud out uv the same hole.

Well, I'd learn that the chills was purty bad down thar, so, think I, the chills, in connexum with these infernal muskeeters, will be jest er little more than eny real sensibul man, in justice to his helth an feelins, orter to put up with, so I jest give up all the work I'd dun, ter get off, an cum rite out of that chilly and muskeetery swamp, an I think, if I keep as good sence as I've got now, I'll never go back thar eny more. Darnd ef I'd lose my helth an be cet up by the darned muskeeters fer all the cotton that could be made in the bottom, frum Tennessee to Lusiany.

A HILLITE.

Ku-Kluxing School Girls in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, May 6.—A young girl of respectable family in this city, while on her way home from a public school on Thursday, claims to have been kidnapped by a man, who threw a handkerchief over her face and forced her into a carriage, and then drove to a house of prostitution, where she was detained till last night, when she was restored to her friends.

St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 6.—Senator Sumner has been invited by the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association to deliver the opening address at their fair, on the first Monday in October.

Preparations are being made to decorate the graves of the Union soldiers in this vicinity on commemoration day.

The State Woman's Suffrage Association this evening declared the association an auxiliary of the American Woman's Suffrage Association. This declaration has been before the society previously, creating such feeling that Mrs. Miner, President of the association for four years, resigned, and today withdrew from the society altogether. Several other members followed, and there will probably be a split in the association.

The steamboat Great Republic was sold to-day to W. H. Throwegan, by the United States Marshal, for $48,000. She cost $300,000 three years ago.

PARIS.

VERSAILLES, May 6.—At noon today there was a sharp engagement in the trenches in front of Forts Issy and Vanvres.

The Versailles troops carried by assault a small redan defended by a force of Communists, who were taken prisoners. The work was evacuated by the Versailists, in consequence of its exposure to the fire of Fort Vanvres.

The World's Paris special of the 6th says General Rosset is preparing for an offensive movement.

Forty thousand of the best men of the Communists still retain Fort Issy and cannot be expelled. The Trocadore batteries have been advanced, and have opened fire against Fort Valerien.

Blanchet, a member of the Commune, has been arrested by order of his associates.

General Rosset, in his operations against the Versailists, avoids all useless destruction of property.

LONDON, May 7, 1:30 a.m.—The anticipated definitive treaty of peace will be signed at Frankfort as soon as made and the payment of the indemnity settled.

Firing south of the city is vigorous, while at Neuilly and Asnieres it is alternately furious and weak.

A fresh attack on the southwest of the city is impending.

It is said that Rosset and Dombrowski are upon unfriendly terms.

The Reveille reports Bonapartist intrigues at Geneva.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Judge Richardson, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, who left Washington for his home last night, upon the return of Secretary Boutwell from his Western trip, will not take his departure for Europe, in connection with the new bonds, for several weeks. He will return here for instructions before leaving the United Statet. By the time of his departure, the newly engraved bonds will be ready for distribution to subscribers, and it is believed in official and financial circles that this circumstance itself will greatly augment subscriptions.

Secretary Robeson is still absent from Washington. There is no matter of special importance relating to the Navy Department under consideration.

General Sherman it not expected to return from his tour of inspection throughout the Southern States for several weeks.

Letters and official reports from various points in the Indian Territory show that the Indians are very quiet and the whites have no apprehension of any organized hostility the current season.

Reports are constantly received at the internal revenue office of efforts of organized parties in the Southern States to prevent the enforcement of the revenue laws. Among the latest is a report from Supervisor McDonald, asserting that much illicit distilling is done in the Second district of Missouri. In many cases, the Supervisor says, regular Ku-Klux notices have been sent to officers of the revenue department. Collectors of Internal Revenue report that several officers of that bureau have been deterred from the proper performance of their official functions, and troops have been called for to prevent outrage upon them.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The President left Washington this forenoon for Philadelphia and will return with Mrs. Grant Monday.

W. W. Corcoran's condition is still considered critical by his physicians.

The President has appointed Judge Otto, late Assistant Secretary of the Interior, member of the United States and Spanish Mixed Commission for the settlement of claims of American citizens, growing out of injuries and depredations committed in Cuba.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Dry Goods—But little doing in this branch of business, but some heavy shipments to Chihuahua and other foreign countries have contributed to reduce the stock staple cottons; and this, taken in connection with the firmness of the raw material, has the tendency to sustain the prices of textiles of unpurchasable marks while this and other branches of the usual near the end of the season, selling at reduced prices, printing cloths have been scarce and higher by speculative shippers, but the average prices prevail invite an increased production, and then later in the season stock will accumulate and prices recede. TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

Common Sense Compressed.

IT is difficult to give in a dozen lines the 1 reasons why TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT should be preferred as a corrective and alterative to every other medicine in use. Firstly, it allays fever; secondly, it cleanses the bowels without violence or pain; thirdly, it tones the stomach; fourthly, it regulates the flow of bile; fifthly, it promotes healthy perspiration; sixthly, it relieves the system from unwholesome humors; seventhly, it tranquilizes the nerves; eighthly, it acts upon the blood as a depurent; and lastly, it forms one of the most delicious cooling draughts that ever passed down the throat of an invalid.
