FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, SATURDAY, October 21, 1871.

FINANCIAL.

For the close of the week, business in the money market was active. We hend of no new failure worthy of note, everything appearing satisfactorily with those concerned. We have felt no effect of the stringency in money, save a little tightness in currency. It is impossible yet to estimate the extent of the loss by the great fire, upon the money market; but we are confident that it will not reach the alarming extent entertained by some, immediately after the fire, or during the conflagration. The Chicago Tribune, in speaking of the reopening of the banks in that city, confidently remarks: "The point of most interest was, of course, to see how depositors felt about checking out their money. In this respect it was evident that nobody felt alarmed about the solvency of the banks. Those banks which threw open their doors and said to all depositors that they were prepared to pay all, received more money on deposit than they paid out. The Union, the First, the Merchants', the Fifth, the Third, the Northwestern—in short, all the leading banks that were fully prepared to do business on yesterday morning, received on an average twice as much money on deposit as they paid out on checks. Large numbers of country bankers who have deposits in the National banks of this city, were in town yesterday, not to draw out money, but to assure themselves of the safety of their confidence, and offer their assistance. At the invitation of L. J. Gage, the cashier of the First National bank, of this city, a dozen of its country bank customers examined its condition, and passed a set of complimentary resolutions, expressing their conviction of its entire soundness, and commending it to the public. At other banks, deposits both from the country and city came in to assure the bankers of their confidence, and promise their support. To make a long story short, the business of the banks was as auspicious in every respect as could possibly have been anticipated under the circumstances."

The following computation of losses suffered by eastern merchants in burned goods alone, upon which no payments had been made: New York insurance companies lost $25,000,000; To New York merchants, $50,000,000; To New England merchants, $6,000,000; To foreign merchants, $4,000,000; To western and southern merchants, $7,000,000. Total, $127,000,000.

Rates are unchanged. Commercial bills are ¼@¾ on New York, and ¾@¾ on other points.

There were a few legal transactions in gold at 111. Holders would not sell, only on compulsion.

Silver—nothing of interest transpired; buying rate, 108, and selling 110.

Arkansas lever bonds are weaker, and possibly lower, though we have heard of no positive transactions—only rumors. Other bonds and securities are unchanged, and but few transactions. Shelby county warrants are quoted at 85@85.

COTTON.

It is a very difficult matter to determine the exact state of the cotton market to-day. Yesterday the market declined in New York 3@¼ cents, and closed very dull, the latter rather active at that figure; but about noon cotton again dropped in New York to 16c for middling, and at 2:30 it declined to 15¾c. This, of course, made our market unsettled, and sellers were willing to take less for middling in the evening than they had realized in the morning, hoping that the decline would be arrested Monday. It is very unwise to speculate in future prospects, for this decline has come even in the face of the recent reports of short crops. Receipts are very large everywhere. The weather has been fine, and there has been no interruption in picking, hence the quantity market is so very large. Exchange is also lower. Money is a little tight. All these may have the effect to cause the decline; but whatever the cause may be it is apparent that cotton is down, and the decline has been rapid. Yesterday and Saturday we estimated the sales—1000 bales changed hands to-day, among which were the following: 85 strict middling, 16c; 100 strict low middling, 15¾c; 45 middling, 16; 5 middling, 15; 25 low middling, 15¾; 20 middling, 15¾, which was sold early in the morning and sold above the market; 36 strict good ordinary, 15; 22 strict good ordinary, 15¼; 25 strict good ordinary, 15¼; 47 middling, 15; 30 strict low middling, 15¼; 40 middling, 15; 10 middling, 15; 19 strict low middling, 15¼; 27 strict low middling, 15¼; 10 middling, 15¼. It would be useless for us to describe our market. The market opened here active for middling at 16 to 16¼, but it closed dull at barely 16, with buyers offering 15¾.

Last year at this time middling here was 14½c; in New York, 15¼c; gold, 112¾; uplands in Liverpool, 8¾d.

TRADE.

As a commercial point Memphis is fast taking her place alongside the largest and best in the country. Trade has flowed into the lap of this city for the past few months without the least effort on the part of merchants. We mention this fact to show that, by a proper effort, a much larger trade can be secured. The country tributary to this market is now undergoing fast growing in wealth and population, and merchants should deal liberally and extend the hand of fellowship in all directions, and wield that influence that of right belongs to the metropolis of the West, ending to-day closed very satisfactorily to dealers in groceries, dry goods, and boots and shoes, all of which nothing remains of a slight advance during the past few days. Flour, though a shade weaker in St. Louis, and dull in other cities, has ruled quite active in this market, and prices are firm at quotations. A car-load sold this morning 36 barrels at $6; 30 barrels at $7; 5 barrels at $7 50; 10 barrels at $8. Notwithstanding the great loss of grain by the recent fire in Chicago, the following from the Tribune, of that city, will show that the amount of grain sent out on Thursday of this week, was not a bad showing, quantity for each day of the twenty year, and prospects are indulged in to the effect that the great fire will not result so disastrously to the grain trade as at first anticipated. The Tribune of Friday says: "The following grain has been inspected into store on to-day, which this morning: 247 cars wheat, 15 cars corn; 13,700 bu No 2 do; 50 cars oats; 300 bu No 2 do; 3 cars rye; 48 cars barley. Total, 261 cars 26,700 bu. Of the amount the Illinois Central brought in 101 cars wheat, 35 cars corn, and 15 cars oats. The shipments were: 46 bu No 1 spring; 81,351 bu No 2 spring; 41 bu No 3 spring; 237 bu rejected spring; 38 bu No 2 red winter; 100 bu No 2 rejected winter; 1,000 bu corn; 237 bu rejected do; 49,275 bu No 2 oats; 661 bu rejected oats; 1924 bu No 1 rye; 29,851 bu No 2 rye; 502 bu No 3 barley; 48 bu No 4 barley. Total, 210,365 bu." We see no reason why flour should demand a higher price. Eastern markets are very dull to this point in the only cause for the advance here, and our merchants are acting wisely in not buying more than for immediate wants. Corn has been quite active, and very large quantities have been purchased in St. Louis, and laved down here. Corn is in good supply, and but few transactions. We heard of some sales of white, and lots would sell on the levee from 70 to 72c. Cornmeal is a shade easier, supply better. 50 barrels on the levee sold for $2 30. In store, $2 60 to 2 65. Hay—There were no large sales, one small lot sold on the levee at $21, in store selling at $24 per ton. Bagging—Sales of twenty hundred pounds. One dealer effected a sale of 300 sacks of cotton, part on the levee, part in store, at 18c. Ties are in abundant supply. Sales in store, 1 dollar, for several days there has been no change in prices, either in the city or upper markets. Clear sides, lbc; casks sold at 9c; casks clear rib, 8¾c. Shoulders unchanged. Sugar-cured hams, for new, 17½c. Cheese, 14@15c. Lard, demand: lots to arrive will be held at 8c; 25 packages of good table sold for 8c. Nails have advanced 25c. Coffee—One dealer sold a lot of fair at $2 30. The fish market is firm, with a tendency to advance. Beans, $2 75. Butter and eggs are unchanged. Coffee has not experienced an advance for two days, though holders advance the opinion that there will be another advance to the first of the week. Otherwise the general market is unchanged and firm.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

An Anchor to Windward.—It is good seamanship when there is reason to expect heavy weather to drop an anchor to windward.

We are in the midst of the season of chills and fever. The sure preventive of this distressing malady is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. A course of that wholesome vegetable tonic will render an attack impossible. Take the hint and drop an anchor to windward.

Weak stomachs are most liable to be disordered late in the autumn when the changes of temperature are marked and frequent. Hostetter's Bitters fortifies the stomach against the effects of these variations. Let dispeptics make a note of the fact and drop an anchor to windward.

The liver is more sensitive when the weather is continually alternating between the warmth of summer and the cold of winter than at any other period of the year. This is peculiarly the season of such alterations. Let the bilious remember that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is essentially an anti-bilious medicine, and drop an anchor to windward.

The wisest plan is to forestall evil. The next best thing is to arrest it. For disorders of the stomach, irregularities of the bowels, and all periodical fevers, take, as soon as the complaint develops itself, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
