Says Steel Trust's Plant Is Gory Slaughter House

Pittsburg, March 4.—The Rev. Father A. F. Toner, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, this city, has issued a startling statement regarding conditions of former workmen's plant where almost 6,000 are now on a strike. Father Toner has been at McKee's Rocks for nineteen years. He characterizes the plant as "a slaughter house and a thousand times worse."

"Men are persecuted, robbed and killed," he said, "and their wives are abused in a manner worse than death—all to obtain or retain positions that barely keep starvation from the door. The place is a pit of infamy where men are driven lower than the degradation of slaves and compelled to sacrifice their wives or their daughters to the villainous foremen and little bosses to be allowed to work. I was allowed to enter the plant at my will a few years ago, but I saw too much of the malicious crime perpetrated daily and the gates were closed on me. It is too horrible to discuss."

"It is a disgrace to a civilized country. A man is given less consideration than a dog, and dead bodies are simply literally driven to their death. The grafting or stealing by the bosses and other higher officials is not parallel to my knowledge."

"For a few years after the plant was opened members of the plant visited me, had meals at my house and were on the most friendly terms. But when they disappeared, and when bodies simply disappeared, and when I began to make some comment I was denied admission to the grounds. I know of several instances when men have been killed like dogs. Their fellow workmen halted to send the body home, but the foreman merely rolled it to one side and ordered the men to go on with their work, often tramping over the body for an entire day before it was taken away. The company keeps the men so cowed down that they have no spirit and recognize fewer rights than a slave."

From other dispatches it is learned that hundreds of the employes of the steel mills at McKee's Rocks, the majority of whom are Hungarians, or Slavs, earn less than $2 a day, some less than $1. Out of these wages they pay about half back to their employers, and the price of every mouthful of food they and their family eat comes out of their envelopes.

There are some 20,000 women and children and old and crippled people dependent upon these 5,000 workers. Any decent American farmer would furnish better quarters for his hogs than those in which live these victims of the highly protected steel trust.

What wonder, then, that the United States Steel corporation is able to make a profit of $12.84 on an investment of every $21.16!

The interior of a company house is more hideous than the exterior. There is a bare floor, one or two chairs, a soap box or two for company, and cheap iron cots bought at the company's store. The tired workers sleep on straw, and on hot nights the bedrooms are sickening from the heat and the smell. Bathrooms, sinks and pipes are unknown in these houses. The majority of the women carry the water they use from the river. All are miserably clothed. The children run naked until they attain an age which makes it necessary to provide them with clothes. Ordinarily neither women nor children wear shoes or stockings. The average man has only overalls, shirt and rough shoes.

The United States Steel Works at McKee's Rocks is a branch of the steel trust. The steel trust is one of the most highly protected industries in the United States. It has made hundreds of millions of dollars in profits through having a monopoly on American markets and being able to export unreasonably high prices.

The tariff bill which was recently signed by the President perpetuates the infamously high rates on the steel trust's products, even though Andrew Carnegie himself testified they were unnecessary.

TELL YOUR SECRETS TO CENSUS QUIZZER, HE MUSTN'T TATTLE

Washington, D. C., March 4.—Letters from the census supervisors to the United States census bureau show the erroneous apprehension of a considerable element of the population that their answers to the enumerators' questions in the next census, beginning April 15, this year, will cause increased taxation, legal entanglements or injurious consequences to their persons and property.

In order to quiet such unfounded fears, which would, unless removed, materially affect the accuracy of the census, the bureau has prepared an official statement relative to the decennial census, its origin, purpose, and uses.

This statement should furnish complete assurance to those concerned that information given the enumerators is held by the census bureau in the strictest confidence with reference to the identity of the informants as required by the policy of the bureau and commanded by the law of the United States.

The statement issued by the bureau explains that the constitution requires a census of the population to be taken every ten years in order to reapportion state representation in the national house of representatives. It is the means also to ascertain the increase in the population, agriculture, industries, and resources of the nation since the last census.

It is emphatically declared, by the statement, that the information sought from the people of the United States is used solely for general statistical purposes. It will neither be published nor used in any other way to disclose facts regarding any individual or enterprise. The census, it goes on to say, is not, never has been, and can not be employed to obtain information that can be used in any way in the assessment of property for purposes of taxation or the collection of taxes either national, state or local; or for deportation proceedings, extradition matters, army or navy conscription, internal-revenue investigations, compulsory school attendance, child labor law prosecutions, quarantine regulations, or in any way to affect the life, liberty, or property of any person.

It points out that replies to the enumerators are and must be held in absolute confidence. All the bureau officials, supervisors, clerks, enumerators, and interpreters, before entering upon their duties, are obliged to take a solemn oath not to disclose any information they may obtain except to the census bureau, and a violation of the United States law in regard to this oath means a $1,000 fine or imprisonment for two years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

PETER POWER SAYS:

Unions throughout the country are responding quite liberally to the call of the iron and steel workers for financial assistance to carry on the contest against the United States Steel corporation, and agents are at work in the mill district endeavoring to organize the non-union employes of the combine.

On the other hand, the steel trust is pointing with satisfaction to the fact that its tin plate output in Pennsylvania during the past year was $50,000,000 tons, breaking all records in that state. But nothing is said about Ohio and Indiana records, where a number of its mills have been abandoned and others are badly crippled.

The trust is making every effort to unload stock on employes in order to tie them down to their jobs, and is also perfecting an elaborate system of espionage to weed out "agitators" and enforce "loyalty" to the corporation's interests.

The struggle promises to be the longest and bitterest that has been waged between labor and capital on the American continent up to the present.

The announcement months ago that the United Mine Workers and Western Federation of Miners would amalgamate is being verified. The Indianapolis convention has just taken another long stride in the direction of perfecting the merger that will mean the assembling of nearly 600,000 men under one union banner.

By agreeing to exchange cards, cooperate in organizing non-union districts and extend support to each other in times of trouble, the two big unions have virtually combined. The next move will be for the Western miners to join the A. F. of L.; then the two bodies will form a trades department under the federation, and work out the details for complete amalgamation.

The first general board of adjustment and arbitration of the Brotherhood of Railway Station Employes for the Maine Central railroad system has been organized at Portland, Me.

Boston, Mass., Sheepskin workers are the latest to join the ranks of organized labor. Seventy-five of this trade have formed a local of the United Garment Workers of America.
