driven by the high prices to boycott meat here is what the Ice and Refrig-. erator Blue Book says is being held in cold storage:

Fourteen million cattle.

Six million calves. Twenty-five million sheep and Fifty million hogs. According to these figures from the official guide book, circulated only among the cold storage men, there is in storage one entire animal for each adult in the United States, with enough whole animals left over to give two to each family.

This meat is being held in 558 cold storage plants. In addition it may interest the wrried housekeepers to know that in seventy-eight fish freezing plants in the country there are whiting to be doled out that are calued at $25,000,000.

In other cold storage plants during any year now, according to the storage man's own statistics, the struggling wage earner will find:

One million eight hundred million One hundred and thirty million pounds of butter.

Fruits valued at $50,000,000.

ness as a result. "The truth is, gentlemen, there has been a total change in the relations of ship owners to vessels. In olden times owners might lose the total value of their ships, but now the systems of insurance remove all this risk and today the main point of the ship owner is to obtain the cheapest possible labor. The ship owner's risk is not sufficient to compel him to employ able seamen. On the high seas but fifteen per cent of the total cost of operating a vessel is expended in the wages and living of the menon the lakes it is less than twelve

Having concluded, the president of the Seamen's Union gave way to another notable figure in the sailors' organizations, Secretary Victor A. Olander, from the Great Lakes, who told of the strike forced by the Lake Carriers' association, in which these shipowners had used, as strikebreakers, men from the Pittsburg steel mills who had never in their lives served as sailors.

Advertisements clipped from lakeside papers calling for men to man the vessels "who have never sailed before," were offered as evidence by Secretary Olander. He gave the details of the "industrial passport system" employed by the Carriers' association, by which the union men were blacklisted and told of the oath, forced upon every would-be employe, to resign from the union.

Patrick Flynn, financial secretary of the Marine Firemen, and Secretary William H. Frazier, of the International Seamen's Union, added testimony in suport of the strong case that had been made for the bill.
