COTTON.

At the close of last week's review of the cotton market, New York quoted middling cotton at 9¼c, declined during the week to 9¼c. Liverpool quoted 5¾d, declined to 5¼d. Memphis quoted 8¾c, declined to 8½c. New Orleans quoted 9c, declined to 8¾c. This is a most discouraging statement; every market in the United States lower and Liverpool also, when, at the beginning of the week, cotton growers were holding their cotton back for higher prices. When cotton is held out of market in excess of improved prices, and yet prices go down, it is seen safe to follow the attitude, so that men and sales may know which of them is mistaken in his views, for that one of the two is in error is sold at. On referring back a month, that is to November 4th, we find prices comparing against the last day of the last official week—that is, November 8th ago not December 6th—as follows: New York, 9 5-16c for middling, against 9¾c; New Orleans 8¾c, against 8¾c; Memphis 8c, against 8¼c; Liverpool, 5 11-16d, against 5¾d. This comparison shows that the downward tendency is not a merely temporary change, to show that we will quote the prices of middling cotton on the first day of the present season, September 2d: New York, 10 3-16c; New Orleans, 10¼c; Liverpool, 6 9-16d; Memphis, 10¼c. To see figures put the reader on full possession of the situation. Some remarks on the present state of the cotton market will be found in the editorial columns.

Receipts in Memphis during the official week ag gated 27,626 bales, against 22,446 bales the previous week, and 19,067 bales the corresponding week this season, and 20,916 bales the season before. The total receipts since September 1, 1878, were 128,841 bales, against 156,300 bales at the corresponding time last season, showing a decrease of 27,459 bales. Total receipts same time in 1876-'77, 217,174 bales.

Shipments during the official week aggregated 17,578 bales, against 13,123 bales the corresponding week last season. Total shipments since September 1st are 52,280 bales, against 118,713 bales the same time last year, a decrease of 66,424 bales.

The total stock on hand was 77,996 bales, against 67,458 bales last week, and 42,879 bales at this time last year.

Sales during the week were 25,650 bales, 18,700 bales to consumers, 6100 bales to spinners, and 850 bales to speculators. During the previous week the total sales were 15,050 bales. Range of prices corresponding week last year the total sales were 19,900 bales, of which exporters took 11,500 bales; spinners, 8,000 bales; speculators, 400 bals. Price of middling cotton 8¾c, against 10¾c at the same time last year.

Total receipts at all United States ports, 1,042,763; same date, 1877, 1,682,613; same date, 1876, 2,041,555. Increase of receipts at United States ports this year 261,148 bales, against 218,669 bales last week. Total stock at all ports, 622,443 bales, against 727,186 bales same time last year. Total World's visible supply November 29th, 1878, 1,677,127 bales, against 1,851,042 bales at the same time last year. Decrease of cotton in sight, 15,416 bales, as compared with the same date in 1877, and a decrease of 666,152 bales, as compared with the same date in 1876.

The Liverpool market was reported yesterday (Monday) dull and quiet. Spots in New York were dull and lower; futures were easier and lose to four points lower. Galveston was easy at 1-16c decline. Our market was strong with a fairly good demand, and buyers, doubting having large orders to fill, bought freely. Quotations continued unchanged, but with a downward tendency for grades below middling, as follows:

FINANCIAL.

Our financial affairs, during the past week, offered little variety from previous recent reports. Business generally remains very active, the call for money is brisk and our banks respond liberally, at 6@10 per cent, the former being the general rate to bank customers. Exchange, owing to the week having been the most active of the season in the cotton market, has been in brisk request at unchanged rates, quoting sight on New York and demand on New England ¼ off; sight on New England ¼ off, selling at par; on New Orleans ¼ discount buying, selling at par. Sterling exchange is steady at 4.85 and 4.90. Last sales of Memphis compromise bonds were at 85c and weak. Gas and other stocks and bonds inactive, there being no direct inquiry for them. We give no further quotations than the above, as there are not transactions to authorize them.

GENERAL TRADE.

During the week the weather—to-day cold, rainy, wet and muddy—was mostly fine and there was a good attendance of country visitors, in all quarters there has been activity, but prices have in every direction continued to decline market. The dollar now being winnie an eighth of a cent of a hundred cents, boys more than it did forme in corn has become abundant, as the low price of pork discloses farmers to sell it rather than to feed it. Pork is generally quiet, and holders of it offer more or less freely at the city demand calls for. Hay is even more weak than pork, and "gilt-edge" cotton timothy is selling at $10 a ton. Sugars are a little weaker than before, and does not improve in price; molasses is as low as it has been at any part of the week; some of the buyers now show a disposition to extend their orders, but buyers app ar inclined to await better prices, paying $2 at their lowest figures. As lots have been sold from store at less than $2 a gallon, molasses in barrels and in wooden tubs, continues to be possible. Apples were the exception to the general rule, possessing the upward tendency in some strength. Oranges and lemons are less firm and demand at the holidays, indicating a decline in prices. Potatoes are coming in and are in still falling, and once more our good friends are well supplied with them.

FIRE, ETC.—Our city was again on "the downward way" to-day, and the bad weather gave little aid in stopping or retarding the conflagration, appeared to be from 4 to 4:45 a.m. Some dealers were looking over their insurance policies, and were a little while at 400, 402 and 404 Adams street, where a fire in the basement of a grocery store, which was burning when the alarm was sounded at 5:05 a.m., was soon extinguished, the damage being not very great. The fire was discovered at 5:30 a.m. on Saturday evening, 150 weeks of corn-cob meal were sold on the landing at 40c. There were neither offering nor asked for hard corn, and were stagnant all week; late sales have been from 45c to 50c, and lower, and the tendency is still downward. Corn sold as high as $1.30 during a temporary scarcity in the middle of the week; the demand for meal has stood "to arrive" at $12 60 changes the figures and yesterday 500 sacks sold at $12 50. The sales of spinning per sack is 1c. Hay is in very poor condition; good common was sold at $1 and as low as $8; sales of 100 bales of prime sold at $11. 60 bales of fine lot timothy brought $13. In store 700 bale per ton, according to quality. Flour quiet and steady at $3 25@5 25 for current grades.
