FINANCIAL.

Not a change was reported yesterday. The day was dull and nothing done, as is the season, and there was none of the lightness usual to it. Rates of money were 8@10 per cent, per annum. The Clearing House customary exchange on the sixth on New York and demand on New Orleans, selling at par, and discount buying, scarce at par. Gold nominally buying at 95, and selling at 96. Gold on the street selling at par. Government bonds at 5½. The New York Tribune, of Tuesday morning, says: "The feature of the money market was the firmness of the underlying tone. Savings-bank, Western Union, and other calls, buying at 4 and selling at 4½ per cent. Sterling—bankers' bills—ready, 482@483; sight exchange on New York, 4875@ 1/8 discount. The week ended with a decided improvement in the money market. Gold was quiet, but firm, ranging from 100 to 100½, closing at 100¼@100½. The Gold Exchange Bank reported a decrease of $1,000,000 in its specie, and a decrease of $1,000,000 in its loans. The Bank of England lost £100,000 in gold, and the Bank of France £40,000 in specie.
