FINANCIAL.

A fair but not active business was done by the banks yesterday, without any change in rates or tone of market. We see that St. Louis correspondents, has a dearth of financial news; the Republican of Wednesday says the ex-Governor of Illinois, who is to preside at a meeting of creditors of Ohio, has abandoned, the market being "dull and life less." Exchange at most of the banks was coming in tolerably free. The local market, as usual, was quiet; there were sales of 1000 first mortgage Mississippi and Tenn. railroad bonds at 115, ¼ cent advance, and 5000 second mortgage at 90, with a good demand for more. Exchange quoted: New York, ¼ discount; all points in New England, with grace, ⅜ discount; New Orleans, ¼ discount, and sell on all points at par. Money, 8@10 per cent. In our local market Shelby county scrip quoted 82@83 buying, 88 selling. Last sales were: Memphis gas stock, 10; Tennessee, new issue, 37; Memphis and Little Rock railroad grading bonds, 115; second mortgage, 90; Memphis gas bonds, 90, Hernando insurance stock, 117; Bluff city insurance, 71 50.

COTTON.

There was some reaction in cotton yesterday, from the rapid opening of the rivers and a partial thrying up of the roads has given an impetus to receipts which was sure to come, and which, as usual, provoked the doubt—may the not be, after all, a larger crop than we have of late accustomed to hear? The telegrams generally reported a weak market in New York and New Orleans there were decines. In our market the holding has been for some days above the quotations, but yesterday the quotations and the market combined, sales were 1½ cents below previous prices. The factors entertain a confidence in the future of cotton that cannot readily be subdued. Closed at unchanged quotations. The New York Bulletin, of to-day, reports: "Contracts have had a slightly excited and higher market, with the bulls retaining a very fair advantage throughout. Liverpool opened firmer, and this gave the first impetus, followed temporarily by a slight reaction; but the bidding afterward improved again, and realized a value for the highest points of the day. The receipts at the ports were full, in excess both of last week and last year, but all the principal southern markets were advised as firm, the orders to sell did not continue, and the bears were quite anxious to take hold with a show of considerable vigor. The demand during the early portion of the day was underlaid to be largely from the 'short' for investment, and later included a great many classes to cover by shorts, alarmed at the course of the market. Indeed, just at the close the business was quite liberal, and the final tone very firm at an advance."
