FINANCIAL.

A quiet day was reported at the banks yesterday, but with a satisfactory counter business going. The local market had nothing to report. Some Memphis gas company's bonds were offering, and April coupons, at 92. Very general attention is turned to the opening of next week, when the four per cent settlements have to be made. So far the surface of things shows quietude; great confidence exists that the secretary of the treasury, with his usual skill, will prevent any obstruction to the even flow of financial affairs and the quiet consummation of the resumption policy. There is naturally a little ease in the money market, and money in the West will bring a better interest. The St. Louis Republican says: "The call loans made to carry the very large speculative ventures made during the last months and a half of bull movement, which has just halted, were called very extensively last week, actual payments being required to a very large extent, so that there has been a great deal of lively running around to rearrange loans, and of necessity sales of bonds and stocks held on margin were forced in many instances. This brought a reaction in prices during the week, and it is so plain that a general move downward would start a panic in the market it is only natural that the daily progress of events should be watched with some little nervousness." The New Orleans failures exercise no influence on the markets, they were a mere local catastrophe. The New York Post says: "This crisis originated in smaller causes than is common, did not involve the usual great expansion of bank credits and circulation, and has had a narrow and local scope of activity." In our local market exchange quoted: New York, ¼ discount; New Orleans, ¼ discount, sold at par; Louisville, ¼ discount, sold at par; Mobile, ¼ discount, sold at par. Money 8@10 per cent. Shelby county scrip quoted 90 buying, 80@88 selling. Last sales were: Memphis gas stock, 82½; Tennessee, new issue, 40@41; Mississippi and Tennessee railway first-mortgage bonds, 116½; second mortgage, 90; Memphis gas bonds, 91, ex-coupon; Memphis insurance stock, 117; Bluff City insurance, 71 50.

COTTON.

The telegrams yesterday were again of a sensational kind against the late advance. New York remained dull as on the day before, but maintained the spot quotation; New Orleans bent to the prevailing influence and declined 5s. In our market there was a very moderate business doing, for, as on the day before, the views of buyers and sellers were apart. Factors continued very firm in their demands but at the close a softer feeling was perceptible, probably owing to the New Orleans decline. The New York Bulletin, of Saturday, reports: "At the points, the need, to continue to meet the available supply here is limited, and generally the statistical situation retains all the strong points claimed by the bulls, with a fine grain, while the time shows a fair improvement at Liverpool of quite a decided character, which was well supported up to the close. The demand was of a legitimate character, both as to the source from whence it came and the options inquired after; and while a great many 'longs' have undoubtedly taken their profit at the improvement, there has also been considerable fresh buying for investment, as well as covering by those operators on the 'short' side whose margins were rapidly disappearing."

GENERAL TRADE.

There was a quiet tone in the market yesterday, caused by the limited offerings in most departments of the landing trade. Corn well sustained prices; little else was doing in feed. Cornmeal was steady at unchanged prices. Potatoes are daily becoming quieter, as the demand for seed decreases. Apples were weak, with a plentiful supply. Eggs were easier, buyers hold off looking toward approaching lower prices. Poultry was unchanged, with perhaps a little more activity in chickens; duck and geese are very dull, and turkeys rarely make their appearance.

Quotations below are for round lots at the landing and the railroad depots, and include neither drayage, storage, nor other expenses outside of the base freight and charges up to arrival. Jobbing and store sales are at higher rates, as they include drayage, storage and profit of the dealer.
