"FUTURES."

Opening of the Call Board at the Memphis Cotton Exchange, Which Means Death to

The Bucket-Shops—Two Hundred Bales Sold at the Second and Third Boards—Mr. Hotter.

The opening of the "Future" or Call Board of the Memphis Cotton Exchange yesterday morning attracted to the Exchange rooms nearly the entire membership. It being the first time option transactions, under the auspices of the Exchange, were dealt in, the event has been looked forward to with much interest. The "Call Board" was inaugurated several months ago, the Exchange being converted into a stock concern for that purpose. The movement met with considerable opposition at first, but those favoring it argued that persons disposed to deal in cotton futures would do so at other places, and since the exchanges in other cities kept up a "call" department, there was no good reason why the Memphis Exchange should not do so.

THE BROKERAGE ASSOCIATIONS, or "bucket-shops"—of which there have been two in successful operation nearly all of the past season—were well patronized, from which it was fair to presume a "Call Board" in the Exchange would find enough to do to keep it going. The first impetus was to open the "Call Board" at the beginning of the season, but owing to the lateness of the crop, business had not fairly begun on that date (September 1st), so the event was postponed until a month later.

THE FIRST CALL

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the Exchange rooms were crowded with the membership, and the few who were unfamiliar with the modus operandi of conducting the business were kept busy explaining to the uninitiated "how the old thing worked," or, as a verdant recruit to a Confederate battery asked when he saw the first piece of artillery, "where to catch hold of it to make it holler." It took about forty minutes for Secretary Henry Hotter to "call the meetin' to order." When this was accomplished he managed the auctioneer's stand, accompanied by his assistant, Mr. La Hache—the latter to keep the record of bids and sales—Mr. Hotter began calling the months, beginning with October—

"WHO BIDS FOR OCTOBER?"

"I will give 10.50 for October," is responded from the "bull ring." No response coming indicated that no one would sell at that figure, the record was made, "October, 10.50 bid," and the auctioneer proceeds with the next month—"Who bids for November?"

A voice from the ring—"I will take 10.70 for November." No one offers to buy at that price, and it is recorded, "November, 10.70 asked." The next month is called—"Who bids for December?"

A voice from the ring—"I will take 10.70 for December." No buyers accepted the bid, and it went down on the books: "December, 10.70 asked." The auctioneer offered January, which received no response. In fact there was but there was an apparent timidity among the crowd, indicating a disposition to become more familiar with the mode of dealing before venturing too far. The remainder of the calendar was spent at no bids, and the first call for "futures" was closed, the auctioneer announcing that the next call would be made at noon. The crowd then spent an hour in the rooms studying the call boards and exchanging opinions as to the "new process." Gradually the audience withdrew, a few taking positions in the "spot" rooms, watching the reports from other markets, perhaps to draw inspiration for a tussle at the next call either as a "bull" or a "bear."

THE SECOND CALL.

At noon the crowd was not so large, yet there was a good audience present. Mr. Hotter took the stand again and with several sharp raps with his gavel announced the second call open, and bids were in order. "Who bids for October?"

"I will take 10.50 for October," came from Mr. Wm. Frolich, of Wm. Frolich & Co., to which the response came from Mr. M. Katzenberger, of Katzenberger's Sons, "I will take 100 bales of October at 10.25," and thus of the "Call Board" of the Memphis Cotton Exchange was made. The offer was evidently made in order to start the business, as the price is fairly to below the present value of middling spots. No below the present value of middling spots. No bids were asked for November, resulting in the record, "November, 10.25 bid." The December call secured a 10.65 bid, January, 10.75 asked; February, 10.75 asked; March, 10.80 asked; April, 11.00 asked. The next five months, ending with September, got no bidders, and the second call was closed, the announcement being made that the next and last call of the day would trample at 2 o'clock.

THE LAST CALL.

At 2 o'clock there was a small attendance, though there was some bidding—October getting a bid of 10.45, with 10.60 asked. The remaining months were not responded to, and the call was closed. Immediately afterward a transaction in October was announced, in which Mr. H. C. Hamp sold to Mr. J. J. Jacobs 100 bales, at 10.55—a sort of compromise between the bid and offer on that month.

THE BLACKBOARD RECORDS

showed the following statements of the first day's transactions:

Judging from the favorable comments on the manner in which the business is conducted, the "Call Board" of the Exchange will be visited by many when the public becomes more familiar with the proceeding. The social character and commercial standing of the members of the Exchange and the business integrity of the securities, Messrs. Hotter and LaHache, are guarantees of the fairness of transactions. A word about Mr. Hotter's efficiency as auctioneer will not be out of place. He went at the business like an old hand, and acquitted himself with much credit. He will make a stunner when the dealers take enough interest in it to cause him to excel himself, when he will have to call up all his genius.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

—Sale of seats for Nick Roberts's Humpty-Dumpty begins this morning.

—The matrimonial associations are dwindling out. One by one the roses fade.

—Ex Gov. Marks spoke at Bolivar yesterday, and will speak at Jackson to-day.

—Delegates are to be elected to-day for the Convention which meets to-morrow.

—The stone that was dumped on the levee near Beale street is being broken up for the streets.

—Mr. Bob Looney and Mr. Josiah Patterson spoke at Alamo yesterday to an immense crowd of Bate Democrats.

—The Democrats of Shelby county should select and elect a safe legislative ticket, composed of the best men of the party.

Every Democrat should attend the primaries and vote for good candidates for the Convention, which meets to-morrow.

—Mondy Graham and others, on trial for the murder of Albert Thomas, were yesterday acquitted in the Criminal Court.

—John Settler yesterday filed a bill for divorce against his wife Emma Settler, alleging desertion and adultery as the cause.

—Some interesting communications have been crowded out by the pressure on our columns. They will appear to-morrow.

—If Second street could be paved this year with stone like it is now on Beale street, it would greatly promote the commerce of the city.

—The circus was crowded yesterday and last night. It is estimated that something like 15,000 people attended the two performances.

—If the pavement on Madison street at the junction of Second was overhauled now, it would save a great deal of cutlay in the future.

—One-half of the family circle has been set aside for the colored people for the Calender engagement. Room for all the colored people.

—Senator Harris will speak at the Greenlaw Opershouse on Thursday night. All the distinguished men of Memphis are to be present.

—If the police authorities of Memphis had acted as promptly as those of Little Rock the matrimonial swindlers would have all been dead weeks ago.

—A great many country people were in town yesterday. They were shopping and visiting the circus. It was a busy day with the dry goods houses.

—The Hon. J. D. C. Atkins spoke at Purdy, McNairy county, yesterday, and will speak at Henderson to-day. He has had large audiences everywhere.

—Col. George Gantt and Col. Harry Hill spoke at Troy yesterday to one of the largest gatherings of the people that has been brought together during this canvass.

—The public schools opened yesterday The superintendent's house, at the office in Odd-Fellows' Hall, are from 8 to 9 o'clock a.m., and from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock p.m.

—If the property-owners on Union street will only try they can have that street macadamized like Adams, which is now one of the most desirable streets in the city.

—William R. Moore will more than likely be renominated to-day by the Republicans. He would and he wouldn't and he will. He declined, but is now one of the anxious seat.

—President Hadden deserves a great deal of credit for his devotion to the business of the city, and especially for the way in which he is pushing the work of paving the streets.

—We are in receipt of an invitation to the Shelby County Fair Association; also to the Kerrville Fair; also to the fair of the Mississippi Exposition Association at Aberdeen.

—Politics are getting white hot hereabouts. They have been redhot for some time. But this does not interfere with business, which grows in volume and profits every day.

—Three marriage licenses were issued by the County Court clerk yesterday—Lemond Jones and Mrs. Dilcia Young, Rabia Fleshman and Lucy Collins and L. W. Mason and Miss Callie Jackson.

—The workingmen of Memphis cannot be controlled in the interest of the Republican party. A majority of them are Democrats, and they know that through that party they can secure all the reforms they want.

—The Rev. J. L. Dye, presiding elder of the Memphis District, will preach to-night at Vance street Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Vance and Lauderdale streets. A general invitation is given. Seats are all free.

—The Secretary of War has telegraphed his indorsement of the recommendation of the Board of Engineers and their award of contracts to rebuild the broken levees of the Mississippi river, and the contractors have now only to give bond and begin the work at once.

—The Republicans of Shelby county will meet in Convention shortly to nominate a legislative ticket. The Federal ring have made their combination to carry everything before them and sweep the deck. They say the "niggers" as they call the colored voters, don't stand the ghost of a chance.

—An accident occurred to the west-bound passenger train on the Memphis and Charleston railroad last Sunday night. Owing to a broken rail near Indian Creek a coach, and [illegible] jumped the track and rolled Mr. Sam Tate was considerably hurt, Mr. Clarence Hunt was badly cut on the hand, Mr. J. O. McClintock received a cut on the head and some bruises. It was a remarkable escape from fatal injuries on the part of the passengers.

—Memphis will be headquarters for the expenditure of $1,143,824, ordered by the Levee Board to be laid out for the rebuilding of the levees between this city and Vicksburg and on the west bank of the river from the mouth of the Arkansas to a point below the mouth of Red river. Memphis is on the ascending scale.

—There has been considerable talk of lynching the negro thief who fatally shot Frank Russell, many people thinking there is no necessity for a trial in such a case. A crowd assembled near the jail on Sunday night, but nobody seemed disposed to take the lead, and what was intended for a very serious enterprise proved a farce.

—A thirteen year-old darky was arrested yesterday for attempting to steal a horse belonging to J. M. Rogers, a guard at the workhouse. He entered the stable of the superintendent of the workhouse, saddled the horse, and was about to ride away when he was discovered and turned over to the authorities.

—The Trades Assembly met on Sunday night, and while no one was indorsed for Congress, a committee was appointed to wait on Judge Harrigan and Mr. Zach. Taylor, to ascertain what their views were on the labor question. It is not believed that the workingmen, as a body, will be led by the nose into the Republican ranks by a few unscrupulous would-be leaders.

—A tough young citizen named Shane, who had a difficulty with the inmates of a house of bad repute on Winchester street, Friday night, while drunk, and was arrested and fined $25, went back to the place Sunday night, threatening to kill the women who swore against him. A negro man, who heard his threat and attempted to stop him, was thrashed for his trouble. His case will come up before President Hadden this morning.

—The body of an old darky, called Uncle Pete, was discovered in a creek below the French Garden, about three miles south of the city. Attention was directed to the spot by buzzards circling over it, and upon examination the putrid corpse was discovered with the flesh half gone, the buzzards having feasted upon it for some days. Old Pete was shot in the stomach by Peter Coulliens some three weeks ago, while the scamp was stealing sweet potatoes. Thirty-two buckshot were poured into him, a fate he and all such richly deserve.

PERSONALS.

MR. A. L. RICHARDS, press agent of Cole's great show, was in the city yesterday.

MISS TILLIE SMITH returned last night from a visit to the Cincinnati Exposition.

MISS SARAH GREENWALD left yesterday for New Orleans via Mississippi and Tennessee railroad, to spend the winter.

VISITORS on Change yesterday: Capt. Knight, U. S. A.; C. C. Parlee, Ripley, Tenn.; R. G. Thomas, J. L. McGehee, Como, Miss.; J. D. Hanson, Sardis, Miss.; J. Lowenhaupt, Covington, Tenn.; R. F. Lipscomb, Henning, Tenn.

THE ladies of the Telephone Exchange tender their special thanks to Oliver & Finnie, Lytle & Shields, and others for their repeated kindness in sending up fruit, bonbons, etc., bright samples of their boundless warehouses, and still brighter index to their generous hearts.

AMONG those who have been with Cole's show for many years is Mr. Cooke, father of Harry Welby and John Henry Cooke, two famous equestrians, the former of whom died on September 28th, in England. Harry Welby Cooke was the one who made the "bounding jockey" set popular in this country.
