PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

THERE are twelve standard and sixteen narrow-gauge roads building in Mexico. The former aggregate a mile-age of 1,266, and the latter 820.

THE bill to incorporate the International Railroad and Steamship Company passed the Florida Legislature, and was signed by the governor last week. Gen. Gordon, of Georgia, is at the head of the movement, which is to build a trunk railroad down the peninsula to Key West. The company has a large land grant.

THE North Carolina Legislature has followed the example of Nebraska and Arkansas in defeating a bill which proposed to harass railway companies and forcibly control their rates. It will be strangely short-sighted if similar action is not taken in all other States and Territories which need railways for their development.

THE street car motor of the future, in the opinion of an enthusiastic inventor, is to be, not steam, nor electricity, nor compressed air, nor endless cables, but springs, wound up at the end of the route by a gas engine. A car with this motor is being built at New York which, it is claimed, will be able to travel 6 miles with one winding, at a cost of less than $100 per year, compared with $1747, the estimated expense of running a car by horse power for the same period.
