SECOND SHIP TO CARRY RELIEF

and the Rev. A. R. Steck, of the First Lutheran Church.

CONGREGATION CONTRIBUTES.

Members of the Church of the Atonement, at 47th street and Kingsessing avenue, sent a check for $14.

The boys who belong to Battery A, of the 103 Regiment of Palmyra, N. J., and whose ages range between 8 and 10, notified the relief headquarters that they had begun a preliminary canvas in South Jersey. They stated that they intended to visit the homes of farmers. Their first contribution amounted to $1.

"We will have more contributions when the second mercy ship sails," the letter read.

An admirer of dogs sent 50 cents, requesting that this amount be used in purchasing food for the starving dogs of Belgium. Employes of the shipping department of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway sent a check for $34 to be added to the fund. Shortly afterward a check for $132.70 came from the employes of the store of David Lupton.

A letter signed "Baby Bob" and containing $1 arrived in today's mail. Another dollar came in a letter which was signed "from a twins at 2316 East Dauphin street." A check for $100 came from Anna Fitler Howe, 1522 Walnut street, shortly before the contributions had passed the $100,000 mark.

The McKinley Presbyterian Mission Sunday school sent $10. At 1 o'clock this afternoon word reached the relief headquarters that Captain B. H. Smith of the convict ship Success would turn over tomorrow's receipts for the Belgium relief expedition. The receipts it is expected will reach $1000.

Mrs. F. K. Ruth, a feeble, white-haired woman, won the sympathy of those at the receiving station when she left a contribution of $5 and wept as she handed her money to a clerk.

A contribution of $295 came this morning from the Emergency Aid Committee of which Mrs. J. G. Cassatt is chairman. Of this sum $250 had been given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Lee.

The majority of the contributors are not the rich people; they are the people who have use for each and every penny which they possess.

But they are the people of large imaginations. They can see the Belgians in all their distress. They can visualize the devastated crops, the fields laid bare, the home riddled with shot and shell, the cities burned, razed to the ground, the women and children desperate—frantic for some place to set up a temporary home.

They can see the wild-eyed mother with her hungry children clutching at her skirts demanding bread, when there is no bread to be had, and seeing all this they cannot conceive of any need of their own which is as great as that of these helpless war victims.

These are the people responsible for the successful and prompt sailing of the Thelma. These are the people crowding the relief station this morning anxious to give over their donation before the fund closes tonight.

One touching contribution was sent in yesterday by the children in the free ward of the Women's Hospital, 2137 North College avenue. The little invalids heard their nurse discussing the Belgian relief fund and decided to part with their savings, in order to send them to the Lincoln Building.

A collection was started by a little cripple boy. Going from bed to bed he gathered in the pennies, and the result was that a total donation of 27 cents, or enough to provide more than five meals, was sent by the diminutive sufferers.

Philadelphia golfers are also to be given the opportunity to contribute toward the fund. On Thursday a tournament will be held on the links of the Old York Road Country Club. It will be a handicap affair, a mixed foursome of 18 holes, medal play, and it is expected that a large number of enthusiasts will attend. An entrance fee of $1 will be charged, and the proceeds will be turned over to the Belgian fund.
