Gaffney Handles Parade Tickets

General Harry Hale, who succeeds have been invited to attend the testimonial dinner to General Muir, at the Bellevue-Stratford, on the night preceding the parade and also to places on the main reviewing stand.

So have Brigadier General Edward D. Anderson, chief of the debarkation service, at Washington, and Colonel Joseph R. McAnderson, his assistant. Colonel Graham Parker, head of the debarkation service here, also has been invited to both functions.

Captain Ralph Knowles, of the 103d Trench Mortar Mattery, the old First City Troop, has received a letter from W. E. Tyson, of Tyrone, Pa., telling him that sixteen former members of the battery from that place will be here for the parade.

Information Booths

The general committee is preparing to take care of the hundreds of thousands of spectators expected to gather along the route of the parade by providing box lunches to be sold at a nominal price. The boxes will contain ample nourishment to ward off the pangs of hunger during the wait for the procession, and the time it will take to pass.

Information booths, to aid relatives and friends of soldiers from outside of Philadelphia, will be established at the ferry houses and railroad stations and prominent street corners.

Pennsylvania nurses who went overseas to care for sick and wounded soldiers will be honored during the parade and celebration.

The nurses will have a place in the line of march and will receive the same honors as are tendered the veterans who did the actual fighting.

A special committee of women of the Philadelphia welcome home committee is working on plans for the entertainment of the nurses. The property at 1512 Spruce street has been secured and will be used as a headquarters for the out-of-town nurses who went abroad with Philadelphia hospitals.

Mrs. J. Willis Martin, of the women's committee, said today that a personal invitation will be sent to every local nurse and out-of-town nurse who went abroad with a local unit who has returned to this country.

Baker and Roosevelt Invited

The parade will have two periods of sensation, one when the soldiers file past Independence Hall, where the Liberty Bell will be on view on the step or the pavement, and the other when the veterans pass the stands in which their nearest of kin are seated.

The grand review, on Chestnut street east of Independence Hall, is expected to be somewhat of an anticlimax after the sensations inspired by the bell that proclaimed in 1776 the principles for which they went abroad to fight in 1918.

Secretary of War Baker and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt have been invited to view the parade as guests of the city. If they accept they will be accommodated in the grandstand in which Mayor Smith and Governor Sproul will review the procession.

Reviewed on Parkway

Major General Charles H. Muir will review his trops from a box along the Parkway. The showing of the division should be much more impressive along the Parkway because there will be ample space for the men to walk, sixteen abreast, and thus permit a better showing than on Chestnut street, where only eight will be able to march abreast.

Members of Councils and of the State Legislature will occupy seats in the grandstand with the Mayor and Governor. The friends of the legislators will be accommodated in a grandstand seating 3000 persons along the Parkway.

The First City Troop may be reserved an as escort of honor for the Governor. It has been suggested that a sufficient number of its members to form an honorary guard has returned from the war.

The War Department classifies nurses in alphabetical order and according to the unit to which they were attached in returning to this country, Mrs. Martin said, but the committee is preparing to send a representative to the debarkation center at Hoboken to go through the files of the names of 6000 returned nurses and secure those wanted.

In the meantime, nurses eligible to attend the celebration are requested to register at the Philadelphia welcome home committee headquarters in the Liberty Building, Chestnut street east of Broad.

The entertainment to be provided for the nurses will compare favorably in every way with that of the men of the Iron Division. The headquarters on Spruce street will be maintained as an "open house" all during the week, and nurses will find many conveniences there they will not find in their hotels.

The project of a great testimonial dinner to be tendered the nurses after they take part in the parade is now being considered.

The number of Iron Division men who will parade on the 15th was made known for the first time last night. At least 18,000 veterans of Pennsylvania's converted National Guard are expected to be in line, with additions from the ranks of the 111th and 112th Infantry Regiments and the 109th Machine-Gun Battalion and casuals.

Thirty members of the Knights of Columbus of Augusta, Ga., near where the division trained before going to France, have left the South to come here for the big celebration. The delegation is in charge of Patrick H. Rice, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus.

"The rumor that city officials have obtained large blocks of the tickets is without foundation and is wholly ridiculous," Mr. Guenther said today. "Not a seat has been given members of the City Councils, except those entitled to them under the requirements established by the welcome home committee, which demands that the holder of a ticket must be next of kin to one of the returned soldiers. True enough, we have had applications for tickets from numerous municipal officials, but we have invariably pointed out the requirements and abided by them.

"Contrary to certain reports there has been no refusal to women organizations engaged in patriotic work to erect grandstands. On the contrary, the municipal authorities have given them every encouragement, I understand, and it is possible that the various associations of women in Philadelphia may have stands with a seating capacity of 10,000."

lery regiments were transferred from the old First Cavalry.

The units of the Iron Division aboard the Mongolia and the camps to which the men are to be distributed for demobilization follow:

Headquarters Fifty-third Artillery Brigade, ten officers and fifty-five men, divided as follows: Camp Dix, eight officers, fifty-three men; scattered, two officers, two men.

Divided in Camps

The 107th Field Artillery, field and staff; headquarters First Battalion, headquarters Second Battalion, headquarters, sanitary and veterinary detachments, supply headquarters companies, ordnance detachment, Batteries A, B, C, D, E and F, thirty-three officers and 1511 men. Of these Camp Upton will get four officers and thirty-one men, and Camp Dix twenty-four officers and 1206 men.

Small detachments will be sent to Camps Gordon, Sherman, Taylor, Grant and Dodge.

The 109th Field Artillery, field and staff; headquarters First and Second Battalions, sanitary and ordnance detachments, veterinary units 7 and 8, supply headquarters companies, Batteries A to F, inclusive, thirty-eight officers and 1568 men. Of these thirty-five officers and 1240 men will go to Camp Dix.

One hundred and third Sanitary Train, headquarters section, medical sanitary train, ambulance companies 109 to 112, inclusive; headquarters field hospital section, field hospitals 109 to 112, inclusive; seventeen officers and 855 men. Camp Dix will get thirteen officers and 768 men of the above, with others scattering.

Austrian Navy Wiped Out Under Treaty Provisions

Paris, May 9.—(By A. P.)—The naval terms of the treaty to be presented Austria, as they have been completed, entirely wipe out the Austrian navy. All the ships of that navy, large and small, are to be surrendered. Their disposition among the Allies is to be adjusted later.

China Orders Envoys to Reject Treaty satisfaction with the disposition of Schleswig-Holstein, but express surprise that the boundaries of territories which will be called upon to decide their own destiny were fixed, according to a summary of the treaty, considered further south than either the Danish Government's parliamentary delegates or the delegates of the Schleswig Danes had proposed at the Peace Conference. Doctor Benes, the Czecho-Slovak foreign minister, also voices his satisfaction with the arrangements which have been made, with some minor reservations.

Expect Austrians May 12

The Austrian peace delegation, numbering from forty to fifty persons, is expected to arrive at St. Germain on May 12. Information received from French sources is that the delegation has not as yet left Vienna, owing to difficulties encountered in selecting its members because of differences of opinion regarding the proposed incorporation of German-Austria in Germany.

Dispatches received here indicate that while Franz Klein, president of the delegation, favors annexation, Professor Lamasch, another influential member, opposes it, and that sentiment against the proposal is growing. The rest of the delegation is said to be divided on the question.

BRITISH LABORITES CRITICIZE TREATY

Say It Opposes Wilson's Peace Principles

London, May 9.—After meeting to consider the terms of peace imposed upon Germany by the allied and associated nations, the national executive committee of the British Labor party last night issued a manifesto declaring the treaty in some essential particulars "opposed to the declarations of President Wilson, of the interallied labor conference and the Berne conference, and very defective from the standpoint of world peace."

"It bears evidence of a compromise by capitalism and imperialism, which still dominate European states," the manifesto declared. "Any permanent denial of Germany of an opportunity to become a mandatory under the league of nations must cause jealousy and unrest leading to further international disputes."

Other points criticized were the failure to give Germany representation on the reparations commission and the omission of provisions for a progressive limitation of armaments by the other signatories to the treaty. The manifesto protested against the permanent separation of the Saar Basin from Germany and advocated a plebiscite in Malmedy and other contested territories between Belgium and Germany.

Paris Sees German Feeler in Threats

it is expected here that verbal discussions of some phases of the treaty may take place and rooms at the Trianon Palace Hotel are being held in readiness for a possible session of inter-allied and German commissions.

Eight new members of the German delegation have arrived at Versailles, but as yet they have not communicated with their colleagues, who arrived prior to the presentation of the peace treaty. Colonel Henry, who was the only link between the Germans and the Allies up to the time of the presentation of the treaty, has ended his activities. The Germans have generally relaxed their rigid routine of the past few days and walked in the park this morning.

Among the arrivals was Count Alfred von Oberndorff, a member of the German armistice commission. He brought credentials as minister plenipotentiary at the congress and is expected to take an important part in the negotiations.

GERMANY'S PRESS RANTS AT TERMS

One Paper Sees Nation's "End as Great Power"

Berlin, May 9.—(By A. P.)—The National Zeitung yesterday published what it terms the official standpoint the government expects to take regarding the peace terms.

The government, according to the newspaper will refuse to sign any part of the treaty which provides for "oppression of Germany"; for instance, the Entente's standpoint regarding Danzig and the Saar Valley will not be accepted. The German delegates, however, will make every effort to institute negotiations on these and other unacceptable demands, says the National Zeitung.

Wireless communication between Nauen and the Eiffel Tower in Paris has been resumed, so that the German peace delegation can keep in close touch with Berlin. The foreign office here is connected with Nauen by direct wire and the peace delegation has a direct wire from Versailles to the Eiffel Tower.

When the peace terms were learned a lengthy session of the cabinet was held, at which the action Germany is to take was discussed. It was considered in some quarters that Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau would refuse to sign the treaty and resign, but the general opinion is that Germany must accept, since she is helpless.

The resignation of the foreign minister would only delay a settlement of the question, for if his cabinet left office with him, the independents, it is believed, would surely take up their positions and their first act would be to accept the terms.

A translation of the text of the treaty is expected to reach Weimar Friday. Meanwhile press and public are discussing the forecast of the terms received from London by way of Amsterdam (obviously the London Times forecast).

Papers Condemn Terms

Dr. Theodor Wolff, in the Tageblatt, says: "Although we were prepared for a good deal, even for everything, we can only say that the treaty surpasses our worst expectations. It does not show a trace of statesmanship or of President Wilson's principles, but is a brutal, thoughtless product of thoughtless, intoxicated brutality."

Doctor Wolff says that the occupation of the left bank of the Rhine for fifteen years "will, within a few years, create imperialism and a call for revenge in Germany."

He also condemns the eastern settlement and says there can be only one answer—"no."

The Bourse Courier says: "The territory concessions are more extensive and unbearable than we expected."

The Lokal Anzeiger publishes a summary of the treaty under the heading, "Crushing Conditions."

More Press Complaints

The Tages Zeitung says: "One thing is certain: there can be no question of this being a peace of justice. What a peace of justice after the Entente pattern and in accordance with French desires looks like is shown by the conditions which leave nothing of Germany but a torn and tattered territory."

The Freiheit says that, compared with the policy Germany pursued at Brest-Litevsk, the Entente peace "must be termed quite moderate," but is argued that the terms are in sharp contradiction with President Wilson's "fourteen points," and that if peace is to be built on this compromise it assuredly can have no firm and lasting foundation.

"A peace of annihilation" is the caption used by Vorwaerts, which says there is a "ruthless desire to lay Germany permanently low by force. If we sign this peace it is because we are bound by force, but in our hearts we resolutely reject it. Such a peace is an attempt to exterminate a nation, not by force of arms, but by a means more brutal, economic slavery.

The Frankford Gazette says: "We are at the graveside of right. The only doubt is whether it also means the graveside of the German nation. Never has murder been committed in more courteous form or with more cynical equanimity. The German reply will have to consider that the draft deviates from Mr. Wilson's 'fourteen points' as far as the East is from the West."

Premier Hirsch, of Prussia, speaking in the Prussian National Assembly, characterized the peace terms as representing a purely "Mailed fist" peace, which "would mean slavery for the fatherland and fresh bloodshed for Europe."

"The government appeals to you," he continued, "to close your ranks, preserve your calm and avoid indiscretion in case of dissensions. We are faced by the question of to be or not to be."

Line of March for Iron Division Boys

The route of the Iron Division parade will be as follows:

From a point on South Broad street below Wharton street to Chestnut, to Third, to Market, to North Broad, to Arch, to the Parkway, to Spring Garden street, to North Broad street to Broad and Huntingdon streets.

The official reviewing stand will be situated on Chestnut street in front of Independence Hall and the relatives of the men will witness the parade from grandstands along the Parkway northwest from Logan Square.

Major General Charles H. Muir, commander of the Twenty-eighth Division, will review his men from a point on the Parkway.

The parade will start promptly at 10 o'clock.
