JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Talks of Out-of-Doors Affairs—Horse Show to Open in Devon on Wednesday—Invitations to Whelen-Bell Wedding Are Out

ISN'T it remarkable how we rush in this world of ours? I was thinking of this on Thursday at the Flower Market and yesterday at the May Market, when I saw some of the same women who seemed to have worked for weeks for the first affair busily working at the second with as much enthusiasm as if this had been the only one they had thought of and planned.

I really don't see where we get our energy. I, for one, haven't got it, and the very sight of it almost makes me ache. But I admire it beyond words and the spirit back of it. Why, it's wonderful the way these women work and what they accomplish! Witness the hospitals, day nurseries, visiting nurse societies and all the other humberless good things that are being carried on and upheld by them. It's simply wonderful, and we have indeed cause to be proud!

Didn't Ruth Coxe Stokes look lovely the other day? She was wearing a blue-and-white checked gingham frock and a big hat of the same material tied with a big white bow. It was awfully becoming to her. She has the sweetest expression! Have you seen any of her children? They are most awfully cunning and have the cutest manners. The oldest is about four now.

NOW there's another energetic work going on, and it's been undertaken by the members of the Philomusian Club. They are disposing of the red poppies which the American Legion is asking every one to wear on Memorial Day in memory of the boys who lie in Flanders Fields. You knew the French Government, too, has set May 30 aside as a legal day in memory of the dead, and all over our country and all over France the people will wear the brilliant poppy, which, as you probably know, grows wild in the fields of France.

The poppies that are being distributed by the Philomusian Club have been made by the man over there mostly, and I understand 85 per cent of the proceeds of the sale is to go to the French orphans. So it has a double end, a memorial to the dead and an aid to the living.

AND do you realize that with the last week in May in view, for next week is practically the last week in May, we are almost upon the Devon Horse Show which will open next Wednesday and keep up till Saturday. And there will be the Country Village, which is to be all paved, and the little stores and shops all have their fresh coats of paint and their pretty vines and window boxes. And the dancing pavilion has the most wonderful floor, and the Home Brew orchestra is to play, and it's altogether going to be simply marvelous.

PAULINA BELL'S invitations are out for the 14th of June. She and Jack Whelen are to be married at 4 o'clock. The ceremony will be attended by the families and a few friends only and then there will be a large reception at 4:30 o'clock. That's quite the latest thing now, not to ask many to the ceremony, even if it is a church affair, and Paulina's is not to be. She expects to be married at home.

Paulina is a daughter of the Samuel Bells, who live in twon at 272 South Sixteenth street, and have a summer house on Panmure road, in Haverford, which they have rented for several summers in succession. Mrs. Samuel Bell, Sr., Mr. Bell's mother, lives at 270 South Sixteenth street, but is at present at Haverford Court with her daughter, Miss Florence Bell. Mrs. Bell is one of the most charming old ladies of our time. She is more than eighty-five years—I cannot say old. I should say young, for she is as ready for adventure and going about as many younger persons, and except for a little deafness has every faculty unimpaired. She is as interested in everything and everybody as she ever was, and is one of the most delightful persons you would ever want to meet. Mrs. Sam Bell, the younger, mother of Paulina, the future bride, was Miss Gertrude Tiers, a sister of William Twells Tiers and of Mrs. Evans Roberts. Paulina made her debut year before last, and has been very popular. She is pretty, with gold brown hair, rather dark eyes and a very good figure. I hope all these little June brides, for there are to be many of them, will have long and happy days.

NANCY WYNNE.
