Nancy Wynne Talks About Pretty Clothes Seen at Cape May—Young George C. Thomas Lands Big Tuna Fish Out in California

SUNDAY and Labor Day were extremely popular days down at Cape May, when quite the largest crowd of the season was seen on the beach. Mrs. Bobby Large, who has been there nearly all summer, looked perfectly stunning on Sunday in a gray beaded georgette frock and a black duvetyne coat, with a collar of gray squirrel. Her hat was a pretty gray straw, adorned with a gray feather.

Mrs. Jack Mason, who was Agnes Brockie, was wearing a one-piece Alice blue dress made of homespun material. It was perfectly sweet. Her hat was a darker shade of blue felt. Another pretty dress, worn by Margaretta Harrison, was an apricot voile, and her hat, which matched, was chip straw. One of the most attractive bathing suits was worn by Mrs. Frederic Wheeler. It was a black taffeta affair and was certainly pretty. Her cap was lined with bright green, and with it she wore a lavender and white checked bandana.

A number of others who were down there over the week-end included Mr. and Mrs. Hutchie Scott, Philler and Alden Lea, Eddy Crossman, Ernestine Coleman, Betsy Davis, Virginia Heckscher and Augusta Harrison.

I WAS interested to hear of an exciting experience of George C. Thomas, 3d, who has been living out at Beverly Hills, in California, for about two years, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Thomas, Jr. Lately while on a fishing trip to Catalina Island he landed a tuna fish weighing 101½ pounds. You know, George is only about sixteen years old, and that was surely doing very well, I think.

The Thomases are coming on to Philadelphia some time in October to visit Mr. Thomas' mother, Mrs. George C. Thomas, of Greystock, Chestnut Hill. She, by the way, will leave next week for Spring Lake, where she expects to spend a couple of weeks. Mrs. Walter Schuyler, another daughter of Mrs. Thomas, has been spending the summer at her home in Coronado, Calif., and is expected to arrive home early in November. She will spend the winter with her mother.

MARIE LOUISE BAIRD is an attractive girl. I saw her one day lately out on the Main Line and thought she looked so pretty. She has dark brown hair and lovely dark brown eyes and is rather tall. She will probably come out the year after next. Marie Louise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Baird, Jr., who live at Ardmore, you know.

When I saw her she was wearing a polo coat over a white skirt, and she certainly looked stylish. During the summer she was the guest of Frances Brazier, at York Harbor, and also stayed at Watch Hill with Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Watts, of Morristown. She also visited Mrs. William Buel Franklin at York Harbor and, I believe, several other places. Marie Louise has a great many friends.

I HEAR that Marion Watts and her brother, Henry Miller Watts, Jr., who are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller Watts, of York House, Ogontz, accompanied by Mary G. Frazier, the daughter of Dr. Charles H. Frazier, of 1724 Spruce street, have been the guests of Miss Watts and Mr. Watts' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick von Hiller, at Mexico City, and have also been spending several days at Mr. von Hiller's [illegible] at Tardo, Mexico. They are expected to return home either today or tomorrow.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By Lee Pape

THE WIND

Wind is air going some place. It is one of the principle parts of the weather.

Wen air is standing still people jest breeth it without even thinking about it, but as soon as it moves erround a little everybody starts to notice it. Proving if you stay in one place people forget you are there.

A little air is a breeze, a good eel is a gale and the most there is is a sy-clone. People who take their hat off in a breeze and think theyre grate are the ferst ones to get mad wen a syclone takes it off. This proves its hard to please the same people all the time.

Wind going in one window and out another makes a draft and is one of the best things to catch a cold in. The ferst thing you do wen you sneeze is look erround for a draft and if you dont see one you injoy your next sneeze match more. The ferst part of a cold is a sneeze but that dont say the last part of a sneeze has to be a cold, on account of there being more sneezes than colds.

In summer wen the wind blows in peeples houses they brag about it, but in winter wen it blows in they are ashamed of it. This proves there is a time for everything.

One of the funniest things the wind does is to blow off other peeples hats and one of the werst things it does is blow off yours. Proving we dont realize we are allways somebody elts to others.

The wind is a grate help to a balloon if its going the same way but on the contrary if its not.

The 4 cheef winds are north, east, south and west, and this prevents eny from blowing either strate down or strate up.

Presbyterians Pay Interchurch Debt

New York, Sept. 7.—Final payment of the Presbyterian Church's share of the Interchurch World Movement debt, amounting to $583,365.77, was announced officially yesterday by Dr. George B. Stewart, acting stated clerk of the Presbyterian Church. The money was paid in cash here.

DOUBT "SCHOOL" WILL END MOTHER-IN-LAW "MENACE"

Plan of Chicago Clergyman to Prevent Many Marital Shipwrecks Receives "Show-Me" Reception Here

A finishing school for mother-in-law and prospective mothers-in-law might prove a good thing, in the opinion of Dr. Louis Robinson, head of the probation department of the Domestic Relations Court, if, as Dr. Robinson says, "it were known how to get them into it and what to teach them when they were got in."

The finishing-school idea—it is not known if "finishing" is used with double meaning—belongs to the Rev. Charles B. Stevens, of the Third Presbyterian Church of Chicago.

"Seventy-five per cent of all matrimonial disasters," he said in a sermon recently, "are precipitated by the interference of mothers-in-law."

The mother-in-law, he went on to say, has ceased to be a joke and has become a menace. Something should be done with her. She needs education, he decided.

As to how largely mothers-in-law are responsible for marital disorders, officials of the court here are not of one mind. Robert Brown, chief of the domestic relations section, while admitting they are frequently active and almost always potentional trouble-makers, would not like to say just what percentage of fallings-out are due them. Thomas Sherman, clerk of the court, is a little more definite and, while agreeing in the main with the Chicago clergyman, says that his figures are a little too high.

"I'd say 50 per cent," said Mr. Sherman. That is a pretty safe figure.

"It happens this way, as a rule. The couple have a tiff—not to amount to anything usually—but the wife runs to her mother with her side of the case. 'Don't you live with that brute any longer,' the mother says, and she persuades her daughter to live with her. Soon the husband is being sued over here for non-support. Yes, I've seen it happen that way lots of times."

But Dr. Robinson, to whom the matter was at last referred, because he had figures at hand, produced a report of the court officers published in 1917, which showed that one in a little less than 8 per cent of the cases which came before the court during the year was family interference, even alleged.

"It frequently happens," said Dr. Robinson, "that a man who has been living with his wife's relatives, decides that he would be better off in his own home. In some cases his mother-in-law conceives his reason to be that he wants to be somewhere where she can't keep an eye on him, whereas it may be that he only wants to be where he won't have to listen to her.

"But how by 'education' or anything else this viewpoint can be made plain to her, I don't see. If this Chicago clergyman has any suggestions on that score I should be interested to hear them."
