THIRD POWER CANAL

Estimates Preliminary to Contracts Now Being Made.

CLERGUE SYNDICATE ENTERPRISE

Great Metallurgical Plant for Treatment of Ores Electrically Is Projected.

Special to The Journal.
Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 26.—Another water-power canal is to be dug by the Clergue syndicate here. It will be the third to use the water of Lake Superior for the Consolidated Lake Superior company, and will increase the company's power to about 110,000 horsepower. All the contracts for this canal will be let this summer, and heavy concerns are now making estimates. The canal will require the removal of 400,000 cubic yards of earth and 600,000 yards of stone, and will be several years in building.

This canal will provide power for a great metallurgical plant to treat ores of copper, zinc, silver and gold electrically. The ores for treatment are expected to come from western Canada and from the region to the north of the Sault, where extensive developments are now in progress. Paper mills are also to be erected under this new power, and contracts for the first of these, a very large plant to make news print, are already closed, it is stated.

Contracts for immense grading operations on the Manitoulin & North Shore railway, a Clergue enterprise, are to be made at once. These will be for the extension of the road in the nickel and copper country near Sudbury. This road is designed ultimately to form a link in the new transcontinental line of the Canadian Northern road.

The steel rail mill of the Algoma Steel company, another Clergue industry, has been given orders from the Canadian government amounting to 125,000 tons, and has commenced rolling to fill the contract. The mill will get $32.50 a ton on the first 10,000 tons, and going prices for the rest.

The Canadian Rolling Stock company has just been formed by Mr. Clergue and associates, with a capital of $2,000,000, to manufacture rolling stock and locomotives. The company is already making flat cars and small engines.

HARD AFTER SPENCE

Cummins Men Will "Get Him" if They Carry the Fourth.

CHAIRMAN OF STATE COMMITTEE

Clayton May Come Back From Washington and Try for the Place Himself.

Special to The Journal.
Des Moines, Iowa, May 26.—The outcome of the fourth district congressional contest is likely to have a good deal of bearing on the organization of the republican state central committee this year. If the Cummins men get as completely into the saddle in that district as they hope to, they will be able to elect a Cummins man for district committeeman to succeed W. L. Turner, of New Hampton. Such an accomplishment will mean the defeat of R. H. Spence for re-election as chairman of the committee, providing the Cummins men suffer no losses in other districts.

Spence, who is from Mt. Ayr, in the eighth district, is a recognized subordinate of J. W. Blythe and Congressman Hepburn and while he is claiming a re-election, the Cummins forces will accept his leadership for another year only under constraint.

Even if the old machine forces keep control of the committee, the talk is that R. W. Clayton of the sixth district, who is now in Washington holding a position in Secretary Shaw's department, will try for the chairmanship again to succeed Spence. Eli Dotson, of Colfax, Jasper county, one of the Cummins leaders in the district, is being put forward as the man for the succession, should Clayton's resignation be brought about.

Anderson and Patrick Fitzpatrick appeared on behalf of the estate, arguing the unconstitutionality of the law, while Thomas Simpson appeared in behalf of the state. Judge Vance holds that the inheritance tax law of 1901 is unconstitutional and void, and orders distribution of the estate without the payment of any inheritance tax. DUNSMUIR COMES DOWN

B. C. Premier Modifies His Bonuses for Railroads.

Special to The Journal.
Vancouver, B. C., May 26.—The Dunsmuir government, finding it impossible to carry its railway bills and their monster subsidies in cash and land, has now greatly modified its proposals and brought in new measures, which, though certain to be opposed keenly, have some chance of passing the legislature. Under the new proposal the former intended land grants of about 9,000,000 acres, conveying also coal rights, are wholly eliminated, this concession to opposition views probably lessening the value of the province's proposed subsidies by $20,000,000. Even at $1 an acre an absolutely minimum land value, the proposed concession now abandoned would have meant a grant of provincial value equal to $9,000,000.

SAVES ONE-FOURTH

Co-operative Housekeeping as Tried at Sioux City a Success.

SERVANT GIRL PROBLEM SOLVED

Food Bought in Quantities Affords a Saving—Other Union Kitchens to Be Started.

Special to The Journal.
Sioux City, Iowa, May 26.—Twenty-one residents of the fashionable suburb of Morningside have lived now twenty weeks in defiance of the servant girl, and have discovered that by co-operative housekeeping the head of the family will save one-fourth of the cost of satisfying appetites. The Parkside Co-operative Housekeeping association, organized in December, has cost each of the members an average of $2.35 a week, and saved 81 cents a week. This amounts to a saving of $16.20 for each in the twenty weeks; so the association has found its plan will mean an annual economy to a family of four members of $178.48.

This unique union kitchen was the first of its kind in the United States. But so successful has it been that another association has been organized in the Reinhardt flats, and two more will be formed in Morningside, to begin next September. Following the example of the Sioux City plan, fifteen families of Marion, Ind., living on Spencer avenue, the most fashionable in the city, have formed a co-operative association, and have begun recently taking their meals in a specially constructed building.

The co-operative housekeeping plan successfully solves the servant girl problem, relieves the housewife of all the worry and labor of superintending the preparation of three meals a day and saves the head of the family a fourth of the cost. All of the members of this association live within a block of the home of Charles Senift, and there they meet to take their meals at two large tables. Three rooms are rented from Mrs. Senift for $10 a month, including light and fuel for all the rooms, except the kitchen. The housekeeper is paid $7 a week and board, and two assistants are paid $1 a week and board. The five women of the club form a committee that makes out the bill of fare each week, and a buyer is chosen for two weeks, having as assistant his wife, or, if single, some other man's wife. The congeniality of the members is secured by requiring a unanimous vote before a new member is admitted.

The association buys its food from retailers, but the purchases are in large quantities, so the association is given practically wholesale rates, amounting to a saving of 15 per cent. The fuel costs no more practically than in one family, meaning a weekly economy of $1.50. There is but one cook for the association, and, while she is paid $7 a week, it may be assumed the five families would spend at least $3 a week each for a servant, together paying $15; adding the $1 received by each of the assistants to the salary of the cook, the families save $6 a week by pooling. The association gives the cook and assistants board—two less than would be boarded if the same members were eating on the old plan—so $4.60 weekly is saved in this way. The 15 per cent cut in the prices of food amounts to 24 cents weekly for each member, or $5.04 a week for all.

The items of economy for the twenty-one people weekly then are as follows:

	Amount Saved
Fuel	$1.50
Servant wages	6.00
Servant board	4.60
Food	5.40
Total	$17.14

TWO MILLS SHUT DOWN

LABOR TROUBLE AT S. STILLWATER

Men Want a Shorter Day and No Cut in Wages—A Conference to Be Held.

Special to The Journal.
Stillwater, Minn., May 26.—The sawmills of David Tozer and Tozer & Nolan at South Stillwater are shut down as a result of the men's demands for a 10-hour day and the the same wages paid when they worked eleven hours. The Eclipse Lumber company is working a half crew. The mill owners do not object to a 10-hour day, but they want wages cut to correspond. An effort has been made to get the men in mills at Stillwater, Oak Park, Houlton and Hudson to join the movement, but it has met with no success. Employers and men will have a conference late this afternoon and it is hoped the matter will be fixed up.

Judge Williston reconvened district court this morning and is trying the case of Steindorpf vs. the Interurban Railway company for $20,000 damages. It will take two days or more to finish the evidence.
