RAILROADS SUBMIT PLAN TO SOLVE CAR SITUATION

Would Have Committee of Representatives With Plenary Powers to Sit in Washington.

COMPOSED OF FIVE MEMBERS

American Railway Association Offers This Proposal, Which Will Be Laid Before Interstate Commerce Commission at Once.

(By Associated Press.)

LOUISVILLE, KY., November 17.—Plans for relieving the country-wide shortage of freight cars through the agency of a committee of railroad representatives sitting in Washington with power to impose penalties upon roads for failure to return equipment in accordance with rules to be promulgated, was presented here to-day to Interstate Commerce Commissioner C. C. McChord, who has been conducting a public inquiry into the car shortage on behalf of the commission. Commissioner McChord tentatively approved the plan, which will be laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission at once.

It was explained to Commissioner McChord that the committee has been given practically plenary powers by the American Railway Association to enforce or to enlarge and modify existing car service rules. The body will sit in Washington, it was said, as long as the Interstate Commerce Commission feels that its presence there is necessary, and it is expected to bring about a speedy solution of the car service problem.

The committee is made up of five members, representing the railroads of New England, the South, the East, the West and the Pacific Coast. The members are E. J. Pearson, vice-president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford; C. M. Sheaffer, general superintendent of transportation of the Pennsylvania; E. H. Coapman, vice-president of the Southern; W. L. Park, vice-president of the Illinois Central; W. A. Worthington, vice-president of the Southern Pacific, and George Hodges, chairman and secretary of the car service commission of the American Railway Association.

One member of the Interstate Commerce Commission will, it is understood, act with this committee and will pass upon all the measures that may be proposed for providing relief for any particular sections where an acute shortage of any class of equipment develops.

Commissioner McChord expects to adjourn his hearing here on Tuesday and will return to Washington to act with the commission on the committee's proposal.

AMUSEMENTS

HOWE'S TRAVEL FESTIVAL MORE NOTABLE THAN USUAL

Remarkable as Lyman H. Howe's pictures always are, the current half-year's series seems even more remarkable than usual. Indeed, there is so much that is genuinely worth seeing that there is no room left for many of the cartoons which are also worth seeing. That is a comfort, perhaps, to the serious, it a disappointment to the frivolous, who, however, are consoled by one whole reel of a baby ously engaged in the idiotic pursuits beloved of puppies and kittens—and babies. This one doesn't have an opportunity to wallow in a nice black puddle, such as was given that three-blessed brat of a season or two ago, but he is provided with a big plate of something sweet, sticky and white, so that his cup of happiness, too, runs over.

Apart from the studies of fish and fowls and the slowly run films showing the movements of athletes eight times slower than normal, and a few amusing cartoon comedies, the only pictures not strictly connected with the travel-festival feature are what Mr. Howe calls dissolving portraits. These are ingenious arrangements in which the features of distinguished men are slowly formed—apparently by sand—and then slowly dissolved. The effect is peculiarly grotesque.

Many views of Norway are shown, the most interesting of which display the use of reindeer by the natives, culminating in a very noteworthy series of pictures in which hundreds—perhaps thousands—of reindeer are seen swimming across a fjord. Then, by way of varying the temperature, the journey proceeds to Hawaii, where scenes of rare beauty are depicted, and that thrilling sport, surf-riding, is recreated for the benefit of the stay-at-homes. Altogether startling are many close-ups of seething, boiling lava in the active volcano of Kilauea.

Quieter and gratefully restful after those volcano views are some minutes in Spain, and then back to this country and West Point, where the cadet corps is shown in many of its activities. All the time, of course, those amazing noise-makers behind the screen are making every sound known to this earth and the water beside it, and the one-man orchestra and ukelele-piano player is providing a running accompaniment, which not only runs, but jumps—from Wagner to Irving Berlin—and always fits the mood of the immediate picture. And to close the whole thing, there is an instant of thundering, blaring, blazing, hair-raising and blinding climax that will make many a man wish he had his whole quart concealed about his person to prepare him for it.

Anna Case in Concert Next Week.

Under the local management of Hubert Betts, Anna Case, the distinguished Metropolitan Opera soprano, will appear in concert at the City Auditorium next Wednesday night, with Rudolph Ganz, the noted pianist. Of one of Miss Case's recitals, the New York Evening Sun said: "Anna Case earned the first big ovation of the season from a great audience in Carnegie Hall last night. Walter Damrosch and Joseph Stransky were among the standees. At the first note of Monteverdi's lament from 'Arlana,' the singer established her conquest of a public that loves beauty in a woman's voice. Her 'Angels Ever Bright and Fair,' from Handel's 'Theodora,' was one of the most perfect bits of soprano singing heard in recent years. . . . . Quite the most surprising were Soderman's somber 'Prinsessan' of the two octave jumps and a gay Swedish folk dance that had to be sung again."

Another Musical Show at the Bijou.

After two more performances to-day, the engagement of "The Little Girl God Forgot," at the Bijou, will come to a close. Next week the management offers a Gus Hill musical show, called "Mutt and Jeff's Wedding." The "Mutt and Jeff" shows are always of a standard of their own, and no matter what the title of the moment happens to be, they draw the same audiences.

REV. ASBURY CHRISTIAN TO RAISE ENDOWMENT

of Rev. R. B. Blankenship by Rev. A. C. Berryman, and that of Rev. J. H. Amiss by Rev. George E. Booker, D. D. The militant spirit of the Virginia Conference was emphasized by the fact that Dr. Reed, who presided, and three of the five dead preachers to whom tribute was paid had been Confederate soldiers.

The memoirs will be incorporated in the printed volume of minutes of the one hundred and thirty-fourth session of the conference. On motion of Rev. B. F. Lipscomb, D. D., the conference voted to send the sketches to the book editor of the church at Nashville, Tenn., to be included in the general minutes of the church.

SPEAKS ON WORK OF AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

Rev. C. A. Tucker, D. D., of Brazil, addressed the conference yesterday morning on the work of the American Bible Society and on missions in South America. The speaker pleaded for more liberal financial support for the American Bible Society, and told of the need for the Scriptures in foreign lands and at home. American soldiers along the Mexican border, he said, were poorly supplied with copies of the Bible, and there were no funds to remedy the evil.

Dr. Tucker presented to the conference an old book containing the records of a Young Men's Aid Society of the Virginia Conference. The book had been found in the library of the late Bishop John C. Granberry, the father-in-law of the speaker.

Rev. S. S. McKenney, special agent for the church being erected in Washington, D. C., by the united efforts of the Southern Methodist Church, reported that the contract for construction had been let, and that the work of building would soon be under way. Funds available for the purpose, Mr. McKenney reported, amounted to $312,500.

COMMITTEES REPORT ON EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES

The business session yesterday morning was devoted principally to hearing the reports of committees which had examined the four different classes of young preachers taking the course of study prescribed for admission to the conference. Men who had passed the fourth year course were elected elders, and those who had passed the second year were elected deacons. The ordination of deacons will take place to-morrow morning in the Broad Street Church, and that of elders to-morrow evening in the Park Place church.

Bishop Kilgo will receive into full connection with the conference at 11 o'clock this morning those preachers who have been admitted on trial, and have completed two years' active ministry. At that time the bishop will deliver an address advising the young men as to the work of the preacher.

Procedure in receiving preachers to the conference was delayed somewhat yesterday morning by the failure of the committee on admission to report at the expected time. Rev. J. Sidney Peters, State Commissioner of Prohibition, the chairman of the committee, appeared on the floor near the end of the session, and explained that the delay was caused by unavoidable circumstances.

"You don't owe us any apology or any explanation, Brother Peters," said Bishop Kilgo. "You ought to go to the mourners' bench." The State Commissioner of Prohibition retired during the laugh which followed.

CONFERENCE EXPRESSES SYMPATHY FOR MINISTER

To convey the sympathy and goodwill of the conference, a telegram was sent to Rev. W. B. Crowder, a superannuated member of the body, who was kept away from the meeting by sickness.

An invitation was extended the members of the conference yesterday to inspect the Virginia Conference Orphanage this afternoon. Automobiles will be waiting at Robinson and Broad Streets to carry visitors to the home.

To make room for the special memorial service in honor of Bishop Francis Asbury at 12 o'clock Monday morning, it was voted to change the time for hearing of the Epworth League from 12 to 11:30 o'clock Monday. The time for hearing the report of the committee on temperance was set for 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

TO AMERICANIZE STYLES

Plans Will Be Discussed by Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, November 17.—Americanization of spring styles and fabrics for women is the plan up for discussion before the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association, which opened its annual convention here to-day. A private style show for the benefit of members will be held to-morrow.

"To obtain the confidence of the American woman is the thing we are striving for in this conference," declared J. P. Haviland, one of the Chicago members of the association. "It seems the lines for the coming season will be long and straight, with skirts not as short as hitherto, and coats fitted easily about the waist. Stitching will be much used in heavy loose threads, and the shades will be the most flowerlike and delicate imaginable."

TO RAISE GIGANTIC LOAN FOR JEWS IN WAR ZONE

Plan for Rehabilitation of Stricken People Announced by New York Rabbi.

TO BE NONINTEREST BEARING

Every Member of Race in America Will Be Asked to Contribute to This Greatest Work That Ever Confronted a People.

NEW YORK, November 17.—A plan to raise a loan, "if necessary the largest in the history of the world," for the rehabilitation of the Jews in Europe, was announced to-night by Judah L. Magnes.

The loan is to be noninterest bearing. When and how it will be repaid are to be left, as Dr. Magnes put it, "to the honor of the Jewish race, never yet dishonored."

Every member of the Jewish race in America is to be asked to contribute. The campaign for the raising of the loan is to be conducted on a scale that can only be described as colossal. Supporting the rabbi in his efforts are some of the best-known Jews in America.

At first the project seemed to be too stupendous to be practicable. But, after a conference with several leaders of the race, it was declared to be quite feasible. The movement will be launched at a meeting in Carnegie Hall on December 21.

Discussing his plan, Dr. Magnes said: "There are hundreds of thousands of Jews in Europe to whom the ties of birthplace are as strong as to those born in America and to whom, no matter how far their fortunes might be reflected by migrating elsewhere, their leaving would be repugnant.

"It is for such as these we hope to secure the loan.

"The Jews of America, blessed with peace, with plenty and health, cannot do less than to establish a great fund with which to rehabilitate, or, as it may be, to habilitate their brethren across the seas, from whence a quarter of us have come and to which we are vitally attached despite our transplanting.

"A new Europe, a new Palestine, a new Galicia, a new Poland and a new Lithuania can be builded with America's help, and a new promise can be extended to the Jewish race.

"We must relieve the suffering of the moment, but we must look to the larger necessities of the future, and I feel sure the Jews of America will arise to the opportunity and to the responsibility, and that the largest loan in the history of the world, without interest, and hence unselfish, will be raised to do the greatest work that has ever confronted a race of people in the world's history."

The details of the plan that he has conceived for the great loan have yet to be worked out. What organization will have to be formed, and just what method devised for repaying the loans are matters that have rarely been touched upon in the preliminary meetings.

The movement is to be entirely distinct from those allied with the effort to raise $10,000,000 for the immediate relief of war sufferers among the Jews of Europe.

Got Your Cook Book?

The Times-Dispatch Information Bureau has distributed thousands of copies of its book on the use of canned foods among the households of Richmond. This booklet is proving one of the most popular offerings made by the Bureau to date.

It deals with the preparation of canned foods for the table. It discards the obsolete idea that canned foods are ready to serve just because they are cooked; it is based on the up-to-date view—and the one always held by fastidious women—that most canned foods are only a basis from which the skilled cook prepares delicious dishes.

The book which The Times-Dispatch offers you is the result of months of work by skilled chefs and scientists in a special laboratory. The cooking of canned foods is largely a new development in cookery, and the work of these experts was the first of its kind ever undertaken.

Contains 153 Recipes

The book contains 153 recipes—for preparing appetizers, soups, entrees, vegetables, salads and desserts—as well as for the pastes, sauces and dressings that give each dish its distinctive character.

The new booklet has just been published. It opens new possibilities for the kitchen. You can depend upon it for absolute reliability. Every woman who supervises the meals of her family should have a copy.

Free to Readers of The Times-Dispatch

The booklet, Recipes for Using Canned Foods, is free to all readers of The Times-Dispatch. If you have not already secured your copy, tear out the attached coupon, fill in your name and address plainly, and mail with a 2-cent stamp, for return postage.
