THOMPSON IN GOOD FORM AND LOCALS ARE SHUT OUT

Southpaws Again Opposing Pitchers, but Lee Proves Easy for Leafs.

HEADY PLAYS INTEREST FANS

Distell and Hartsell Outgeneral Toronto Players—Richmond's Errors This Time Are Not Costly—Montreal Club Arrives for Series.

Southpaw Tom Thompson, the hurler who was knocked off the hillock Monday afternoon by Richmond's Smithless team, essayed a come-back yesterday afternoon with such excellent results that the local club was shut out with four widely scattered bingles, while Larry Lajoie and his Toronto hirelings were celebrating their farewell appearance here by banging Wyatt Lee's offerings to the four corners of the lot for a total of thirteen hits and seven runs.

Richmond was defeated cleanly yesterday for the first time this season. That is, they were outbatted and their opponents deserved the decision, although several errors again proved of assistance. They did not cause the loss of the game, however, as has been the case in so many other contests, the inability of the Richmond players to land on Thompson's benders being responsible for that.

Although they were beaten and had no right to expect a decision as a result of their offensive work, the local players yesterday afternoon brought to light evidences of considerable knowledge of the game, and for one of the few times thus far put that knowledge into execution. The result was that Toronto men several times were placed at a decided disadvantage and made to appear rather foolish after quickly thought-out plans for outgeneraling them had been put into execution.

The two most evident incidents of the game along this line occurred in the same frame, the fourth. Blackburn opened the round with a clout through third base, and Trout, who played right field yesterday, was up. Trout knocked a long fly to Distell, who got under the ball in good shape, and Blackburn stuck close upon first. The wind either twisted the ball from Distell or he dropped it purposely and Blackburn was forced to tear for second. Distell, unlimbering that dandy arm of his, lined the ball to Hartsell, and the runner was retired easily.

The next play again brought a stunt which the local team aided itself. With Trout safe on first, Kelly pounded out a long fly to Hanford. Hartsell ran toward second, making as if to field a ground ball, and Trout deserted his sack and hiked as fast as his legs could carry him to the keystone cushion. Hanford caught the fly and lined it back to first, Trout in the meantime having detected the deception and turned back. The ball beat him to the bag by a step, but the wind evidently whirled a bit of dust into Hart's eye and he called the runner safe.

Such Plays Interest Fans.

It is play of that caliber that wins ball games in the International League, and they are of the greatest interest to spectators. No matter how excellent may be the fielding or the batting, both in a measure are automatic; but the plays described are the result of quick thought and quicker action, and are of the variety that American audiences like especially.

Toronto played a corking good game throughout the battle yesterday, and gave Thompson dandy support. Lajoie making the only miscue charged against them. In the second, Distell fanned, and a quick peg to Blackburn from Kelly caught Bill Reynolds between second and third, where he was run down in short order. A play similar to this occurred in the initial frame when Hanford struck out, just as McDermott was in the act of starting a steal, and he also was retired.

Richmond had but one fairly good chance for scoring, and that occurred in the third session. Hartsell opened the round with a corking double to left field, making second by hard running. Lee then pounded one toward McConnell. Hartsell lingered on the base lines until the ball almost struck him, dodged it dexterously, and continued to third. McConnell had not been able to see the ball until Hartsell passed on, and it struck him in the chest before he could get his hands on it, Lee making first on the play.

After that it was mostly a matter of striking out or popping up the easiest kind of flies so far as the Richmond batters were concerned. They absolutely were unable to connect solidly with Thompson's benders, all of which were breaking quickly and appeared to be under perfect control. Thompson is a cold-weather hurler, and this fact is credited with responsibility for his showing yesterday as compared with that made during the heat of the Monday battle.

Toronto Takes Early Lead.

Toronto started their first offensive in the second. Lajoie opened the frame with a double to center field, and Graham scored him with a drive double to left. Blackburn drew a walk and Trout hit to right. Distell's quick return of the ball preventing any of the runners advancing more than one base. Kelly drove one at Mooers, who fielded it perfectly and threw out Graham at the plate. However, Bill Reynolds, in making an effort to double Kelly going to first, hit the runner with the ball and Blackburn tallied.

Although Lee was in trouble in both the third and the fourth, as a result of two hits in each frame, he was not scored upon again until the sixth. Graham opened the session with a hit to left, was sacrificed and counted when Trout singled into left. A hit and errors by Hartsell and McDermott filled the bases in the seventh, but Lee threw out McConnell at the plate and Blackburn ended the session with a fly to center.

After Toronto had scored a quartet of tallies in the eighth, Lee was yanked and Miller was sent to the mound. He was able to retire the side without further scoring. Trout singled through short, as an opener in this frame, and Kelly sacrificed him to second, the runner pilfering third almost immediately. Thompson then singled through short and Trout counted. Jacobson drew a pass, but McConnell tripled into right and scored both men, tallying himself a moment later when Whiteman pounded a sacrifice fly to Distell. Miller then being the pitcher.

There was much of interest in the play yesterday in spite of the fact that Richmond lost. No alibies are in order, as the local players simply found it impossible to connect with Thompson while the visitors had little difficulty in swatting whatever Lee happened to throw across the plate.

Dan Howley and his Montreal Royals arrived in here last night for a four-game series with the locals during the remainder of the week. Judged from comparative records, Richmond is about evenly matched with Montreal and should be able to get away with the larger end of the series. The rearranged and strengthened infield and the steady improvement being manifested by pitchers and outfielders gives basis for the belief that the club shortly will be able to strike its stride and that the climb up the percentage column should begin before the team starts on the first road trip.

McConnell Obtained, Two Men Are Released

Mac McConnell, who has been playing in the short field here for Toronto, was secured by Billy Smith last night and will make his first appearance in a Richmond uniform in the game this afternoon. The player was owned by Baltimore, but was loaned to Lajoie while his infield was in somewhat of a crippled condition. No announcement of the consideration given for the player was made last night. He will be used at second for the time being and Mooers kept at short.

Manager Billy Smith announced last night also that he had given Harry Hartsell and Graham Bruce their unconditional releases. Bruce fell off considerably in his hitting, once the regular season opened, and has not shown the speed or judgment in the outer garden that has been manifested by Distell. Hartsell, one of the fastest men on the club, has made many fielding errors and his hitting has not been of the character wished by Billy Smith.

VIRGINIA WINS GOLF TITLE

Captures First Southern Intercollegiate Tourney—Association Organizes and Elects Officers.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., April 24.—The first Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament, held on the links of the Greensboro (N. C.) Country Club, was won by the University of Virginia golf team, consisting of Henry Taylor Compton, of Roland Park, Md., and George Swearengen, of Louisville, Ky. After a sharp contest, Compton defeated Strange, of North Carolina, on the nineteenth hole. The match was followed by the largest gallery in the history of golf in Greensboro. Both men played tight golf. In the semi-finals in the forenoon Compton won from Clark, of Davidson, 3 and 1.

The consolation match was won by Wright, of the University of Georgia, defeating Swearengen, of Virginia, four up and three.

Following the tournament, the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Association was organized, with the following officers: Woodrow Clark, of Davidson College, president; George Swearengen, of the University of Virginia, vice-president; E. C. Grandin, of the University of North Carolina, secretary. Dr. H. B. Arbuckle, of Davidson, who conceived the idea of such an association, was elected chairman of the executive committee.

Next year's tournament will be held on the Greensboro Golf Club links two days before the annual Virginia-Carolina baseball game, the finals to be played on the morning of the game.

CAROLINA IS WALLOPED

Georgia Outclasses Tarheels and Easily Wins Heavy-Hitting Contest—Many Errors—Score, 10 to 1.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 24.—In one of the sloppiest games staged on the local diamond this year, Georgia defeated Carolina here to-day, 10 to 1. The game was full of errors, and was one-sided from the start, the visitors having everything their own way for nine innings. The game was interesting because of the heavy hitting and fast fielding of the Cracker team, four double plays being pulled off.

Coleman was hit freely and had poor support. The only run obtained by Carolina was in the sixth, when Younce was safe on an error and scored on Powell's grounder to Spurlock. Stewart was put out at the plate in the same inning. Barnes made a pretty catch in the fourth with a man on third.

FORK UNION NINE BLANKS JEFFERSON SCHOOL, 13 to 0

FORK UNION, VA., April 24.—In a well-played game here to-day, Fork Union Military Academy defeated Jefferson School, of Charlottesville, by the decisive score of 13 to 0. The Cadets found the visiting pitchers easy, and pounded their offerings for fourteen hits. Hobson Snead, for the locals, was in fine form, allowing the Jefferson boys only six scattered hits. The catching of Hughes was a feature, the lanky catcher throwing out five men who had a desire to steal on him. The Cadets fielded sharply all through the contest, and the hitting of Harlow, Percival and Hoover featured.

CAROLINA'S LAST GAMES

Season Closes This Week With Guilford and V. P. I. Contest—Team Showing Offensive Power.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 24.—With three more games to be played, North Carolina's baseball season comes to an end this week. Guilford College comes for a game Wednesday and V. P. I. closes the season Thursday. Each of these games are important. Guilford has been winning right along so far, and Carolina will have a hard contest. It is expected that V. P. I. will put up their usual aggressive game.

The baseball team came back into form in the Saturday game with the University of South Carolina. With four home runs and twenty-one hits they made a season record in batting. Jennette, Folger, Bennett and Barnes are hitting the ball especially hard, and there has been a noticeable improvement in the batting of all the men. Lewellyn, Powell, Coleman and Kinlaw have rounded into a very good pitching staff, thanks to the efforts of Coach Bunn Hearn. Herty has been playing exceptionally well recently at shortstop, and the entire infield is showing good teamwork.

McGraw held the Royals to five scattered hits, while Newark hit Springman safely nine times. Major, the Montreal shortstop, fielded poorly, making four glaring errors which aided Newark materially in scoring. The score:

FACULTY BENCHES WOODFIN BEFORE INDIAN GAME TO-DAY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ASHLAND, April 24.—With Woodfin once more removed from the team, as a result of a faculty ruling, Randolph-Macon will leave this morning for Williamsburg to play William and Mary in a championship contest during the afternoon. Davis is expected to do the mound work for the Jackets, although Walton and Robinson are being taken with the squad. The team is in good condition and expects little trouble in annexing the game.

RED SOX PLAYERS RETIRED WITHOUT A SINGLE BINGLE

Frequent Errors Account for the Only Run—Aragon's Double Figures in Yankee Victory.

BOSTON, April 24.—Mogridge turned the world champion Red Sox back without a hit to-day, and New York won, 2 to 1. Both teams erred frequently. The visitors scored in the sixth when, with two out, Aragon doubled and scored on Magee's single, which Lewis juggled.
