Otto Jennings Will Lead Virginia Football Team

Otto D. Jennings has been elected manager of the University of Virginia football team for the season of 1920, according to information received from Charlottesville.

Jennings is a Richmond boy, and one of the best athletes turned out from this city. His specialty is basketball, and he is playing one of the guard positions on the Orange and Blue quint this year. Jennings received his initial basketball training while a member of the Richmond Y. M. C. A. and later became a stellar performer on the John Marshall High School quint.

Since entering the University of Virginia he has taken an active part in affairs at that institution and last year captained the basketball team. He was assistant manager of the 1919 football team. In addition to his athletic connections, Jennings is business manager of "College Topics," official organ of the University of Virginia students.

E. C. Hathaway and F. B. Fite, Jr., will assist Jennings in managing the Orange and Blue grid team next fall.

QUINT CLASH DEFERRED

Richmond College and Church Hill Athletic Club to Play Tomorrow Night.

Another postponement of the proposed Richmond College-Church Hill A. A. basketball game, which was to have been played on Monday night, has been decided upon. The new date for staging the contest is tomorrow night, and it will be played in the Spiders' temporary gymnasium, at Westhampton, beginning at 8 o'clock. "Billy" Gooch will referee.

Unexpected and necessary functions on the week's program at Richmond College has been at the root of the uncertainty of the playing date. Last night an intercollegiate debate took place and tonight a member of Great Britain's peace delegation will address the students and public.

Putting off of the fray until tomorrow night has allowed the Spiders to rest from their strenuous card of last week and has given Coach Dobson additional time to correct some faults and further season his men for the scrappy East Enders. The Spider coach has sent his two squads at full tilt every afternoon this week, and an improvement has been noted in the play of members of the squads.

Yesterday afternoon first and second quints battled for the allotted time in a see-saw conflict with first one and then the other side securing a slight advantage. Three members of Dobson's Varsity were not in the play, however, Captain Motley, Street and Thompson being out, due to minor injuries. These men, with the possible exception of Street, will be fit for tomorrow's engagement.

BAKER TO LEAVE GAME

Third Baseman Tells Huggins He Is Through With Baseball—Yank Leader to Use Pewsater.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Americans, announced today that J. Frankin Baker, the hard hitting third baseman of the Yankees, has probably played his last big league ball. Huggins returned here today from a visit to Baker's farm at Trappe, Md., where he tried to induce Baker to play one more year with the club.

"Baker gave me little hopes that he would again put on a big league uniform," said Huggins. "The player is even more insistent than he was last winter that he is through. He said his business interests in Maryland require him to stay there. He only promised to decide exact from Baker that if later he should decide to return to the game he would take it up personally with me.

"Though Baker will be very welcome if he should change his mind I shall make plans for the coming season without considering him for third base. I shall play Wilson Fewster at third base, and hope to get another man for the outfield."

Things understood and known in the trade are often misunderstood by the public.

"All-wool," as we use it, means exactly what it should—not a fraction of cotton.

"Commercially all-wool" often means exactly what it shouldn't. And many of these part-cotton fabrics readily pass for the real thing unless the buyer tests them as Rogers-Peet do—by boiling in a strong solution of potassium hydrate.

Filling Your Oculist's Prescription

Means more than merely grinding lenses to a given formula and placing them in a frame.

Our idea of this is to accurately grind the lenses, triple check them to avoid the possibility of error, carefully measure the face for the size of the lenses and frames, adjust the finished glasses so that they are comfortable and becoming, and keep them that way as long as you wear them.

Ask your oculist. Both you and he will be satisfied if we fill the prescripton.

TRACK PLANS BEING MADE

JOHN MARSHALL ATHLETES WILL BEGIN WORK SOON

Cinder Path Artists of High School Expect Successful Season.

Basketball is the center of attraction at John Marshall High School, but the athletic authorities are not idle and are going ahead with plans, which they hope will result in a successful season on the track for the Marshallites. Floyd Tyson, manager of the track team, is optimistic at this time over prospects for a successful season, and is expected to issue a call for candidates in a few days. Advance information is to the effect that the squad will be larger than the average, and several new candidates are expected to report.

Manager Tyson will have as the nucleus for his team George Todd, captain of last year's squad; Ashbrook, Creighton, Stark, Roden, Ewing and Selvage. In addition to these veterans the following new men are expected to report for practice: R. Todd, Carroll, Ryder and Hicks.

Several Meets Planned.

Efforts are being made at this time to stage a meet between the Marshallites and a Y. M. C. A. team. This event is expected to be held the latter part of February. Manager Tyson has written athletic authorities of the University of Virginia with a view of entering the Marshallites cinder path artists in the high school meet to be held in the spring on Lambeth Field. The Richmond team also plans to meet Maury High School, of Norfolk, on the track in the closing event of the season.

Saturday night the John Marshall basketball team will meet the Raleigh High School five in the Y. W. C. A., and the Richmond boys are practicing hard for this event.

This affair will be the initial interstate prep school game basketball ever played here, and is attracting unusual interest.

Church Hill Athletic Club and one of the bank teams will meet in the preliminary contest of the evening, and the game between these quints is expected to be considerable attraction. Jazz music also will enliven the entertainments. The Marshallites will be present in full force and plan to render such cheering as never before has been witnessed here.

Initial Trip for Basketeers.

Following the game with Raleigh the John Marshall quint will take its initial trip of the season. The team plans to play a return game with Raleigh in the North Carolina Capital, and a contest with the quints of Danville Military School and Chatham Training School.
