FIRE DESTROYS PLANT OF VIRGINIA LUMBER CO.

Blaze Spreads Rapidly, Endangering Lives of Employees and Doing $50,000 Damage.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

PETERSBURG, VA., June 17.—Fire of unknown origin late this afternoon completely destroyed the plant of the Virginia Lumber and Box Company, in the western apex of the city. The damage is estimated at about $50,000, fully covered by insurance.

The first started in a women's workroom, and so rapidly did it spread that many employees barely escaped injury, and most of them lost personal belongings in the blaze.

The firemen were handicapped in fighting the fire on account of the great distance from water connections and the low water pressure. The plant of the Pocahontas Cotton Mills also caught, but the blaze there was quickly extinguished.
